COMMERCIAL BODIES ACT

All Organizations Throughout Columbia Basin Enlisted to Aid in Having Government Accede This Request.

All commercial bodies throughout the Columbia basin and all organizations which are friendly to this territory will be enlisted by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Port of Columbia Committee in a movement to secure from the Government a great new dredge to be used on the Columbia bar. They will be asked to use their influence with all Pacific Coast delegations in Congress with a view to se-curing such a dredge, and it is be-lieved that if this can be done it will be able to serve not only on the Co-lumbia, but will be available for such work in other parts of the Northwest. Recently the Chamber of Commerce started a diligent study, to determine what size and type of a dredge would be most effective for Columbia River channel work. This was done to de-termine what might properly and safely be attempted in improving the New Dredge Favored.

The consensus of opinion gained in these inquiries has been in favor of a great new dredge, as large as or larger than the Leviathan, employed on the Mersey bar at Liverpool.

Correspondence hearing on this subject has been sent to General Kingman and the Oregon Senators and will be sent to heads of rallways interested in development of this territory, to ship owners and others. It is in part as follows:

of Thanksgivings long gone, when you stood before the blazing hickory logs and gazed out upon a cold, gray sky-upon flurries of snow, fleeing before the east wind-upon creek and rivulet sheeted in icy cascades-upon the heaps of glowing pumpkins, peering through their tents of tasseled corn? Would you?

Such will be the Thanksgiving dinner this year at The Portland-a dinner breathing the very spirit of Thanksgiving and preserving its every tradition from the serving of the savory soup to the juicy bits of light and dark meat, the succulent vegetables, the cooling sherbets, the rich puddings and golden coffee.
