ARCHES ARE WANTED

Fourth-Street Property Owners Plan Attractions.

ARTERY DEVELOPMENT AIM

Beside Artistic Permanent Adornments, Improvement Association Would Make Extension at South Part of City.

Overhead arches, stretching from curb to curb, artistic and symmetrical by day and brilliant with electricity by night, will be erected on Fourth street, between Burnside street and Jefferson street, according to plans now under consideration by Fourth-street property owners. With the inauguration of electric service on the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railway and the completion of many improvements to both the street and buildings, the Fourth-street property owners will prepare to make it one of the principal avenues of trade in the city. At any rate they want to make it the most attractive and the best lighted. In addition to making it a high-class business street they want to make it the principal artery to the suburban district now being developed immediately south of the city limits. Fourth street now ends somewhat abruptly at Sheridan street.

Extension is Proposed.

It is proposed by the newly-formed organization to extend it through to the city limits, giving it connection with Boones Ferry and Taylors Ferry roads. This it is pointed out, will provide access, over a scenic hill drive, to Burlington, Fulton Park, Capitol Hill, Carson Heights and other additions, as well as the cemeteries.

Such an extension, it is pointed out, will form a direct route from Boones Ferry, Taylors Ferry, Slavia road, Marquam road and Patton road into the center of Portland.

This road would be designed for heavy commercial traffic, yet it would have its scenic advantages. Eugene & Terwilliger boulevard, which recently was completed, still would retain its attractions as a scenic drive and would continue to be used as a favorite avenue for pleasure vehicles.

Cluster Lights Less Popular. The system of erecting posts supporting cluster lights, so popular in other parts of the city, will be abandoned, if practicable. The plan of overhead arches is popular. It has been proved successful on Fillmore street in San Francisco. At the same time it is planned to beautify and illuminate the approaches to the bridges with a similar lighting arrangement. Overhead arches would be erected on Madison street, Morrison street and Burnside street from

Notes From St. Johns

Fourth street to the west end of each respective bridge. It is pointed out that approaches to the bridges are somewhat dark and dangerous and that this lighting scheme would encourage travel—especially at night.

Notes From St. Johns

S. T. JOHNS, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—A mass meeting of the citizens of St. Johns has been called for Monday night at the City Hall to consider the park situation. Three tracts for parks have been recommended in the First and Second Wards at a total of $28,000. The Caples, the Caldwell and Cook. The following questions will be considered at this meeting: First—Shall these three park sites be voted for at a total cost of $28,000? Second—Shall the action of the two ward meetings be ratified or rejected? On the decision of this meeting the fate of the park proposition hangs. The Caples tract contains a little less than three acres and is held at $10,000; the Cook tract contains about the same area and is held at $6,000; the Caldwell tract, comprising two pieces, is held at $12,000. The Caldwell site has been endorsed at ward meetings. If the mass meeting favors them they will be placed on the ballot next February when the city primaries will be held. No special election will be held.

OLD RESIDENT OF KELLY BUTTE DISTRICT PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Mathilda Larson, who was born in Sweden, February 13, 1844, died at her home near Portland, December 18, after an illness of several months. She was married February 1, 1865, to William Larson, who survives her. They came to the United States from Sweden in 1870, and in 1876, settled on the home on the Section Line road, near Kelly Butte, where they have since resided. She was the mother of 10 children: Gustaf, of McMinnville; John R., Henry W. and Charles, E. of Bull Run, and Mrs. George Pickard, Theodore and Emma M. Larson, of Portland. There are six grand-children.

HOSPITALS MAKE PLANS

CHRISTMAS CHEER TO BE SPREAD ABOUT, EVEN FOR SICKEST.

Good Samaritan Arranges Special Time for Children at St. Vincent's to Feed Needy Ones, Too.

A Christmas programme is planned for the patients at the Good Samaritan Hospital. There will be a Christmas tree for the children Christmas eve in the children's ward, and there will be presents for all. The fun will begin at 2 o'clock. Then, on Christmas day, there will be the usual turkey dinner, with plum pudding, mince pie and all sorts of good things to eat. Altogether the season will be made as pleasant as possible for the patients. Christmas decorations of the hospital will be begun tomorrow. One of the children, Viola Gordon, who is being treated for curvature of the spine and is the special pet of the hospital, has asked that Santa Claus bring her a string of beads, and Superintendent Lovinger has promised to see that Santa makes good. At St. Vincent's there will be early morning service and singing of Christmas carols during the forenoon. Open house will be kept all day, so that anyone who wishes to visit any of the

ASTORIA MAN IS HONORED

L. O. Belland Will Represent Oregon at Norway Centennial.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—L. O. Belland, of this city, received a commission today from Governor West appointing him as official representative of the State of Oregon at the Centennial celebration to be held during the coming year. The celebration opens on May 17, and will continue for about six months. Among the unique features of the occasion will be that on July 4 the State of North Dakota is to present Norway with a statue of Lincolin, the Governor of that state and his entire staff will be present. Mr. Belland will attend the celebration, and plans while there to make known some of the advantages and natural resources of Oregon with a view of directing desirable immigration this way.

TAXATION VALUES BOOM

Astoria Has $2,000,000 More Property Than Last Year.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—The segregation of the valuations of the holdings of the public service corporations as fixed by the State Tax Board shows that $411,841 of the total amount is taxable within the limits of the City of Astoria. This makes the total of the assessable property in the city $5,538,288, or about $2,000,000 more than it was on last year's roll.

VACATION ON AT REED

STUDENTS NOW MAY "WORK FREE FROM INTERRUPTIONS."

Many Dormitory Members Go Home But Those Staying Determine on Lively Christmaside. The long looked for Christmas vacation began yesterday at Reed College. There will be no more classes until January 5. The name "vacation," however, is somewhat of a misnomer for most of the time will be spent in writing semester theses in economics, psychology, sociology or in any two or three other subjects that the student may be taking. If any time is left after writing these theses may amuse himself by cramming for the semester examinations that will come three weeks after the return to college. President Foster defines a vacation as a time when a student may work free from interruptions due to the necessity of reporting for class recitations. Many out-of-town students have gone home for the holidays but enough have remained to insure a pleasant crowd at the dormitory. The dormitory students who have gone home are: Arthur Luck, Live Oak, Cal.; Delbert French, Grass Valley; Ellie Jones, Brooks; Donald Lancelotti, Amity; Everett Trousdale, Ontario; Miss Marjorie Silverthorne, La Grande; Frances Kennicot, Chehalis, Wash.; Harry Wembridge, North Yakima, Wash.; Charles Larrabee, Bellingham, Wash.; Malcolm Gilbert, Salem; Oscar Koenig, Pomeroy, Wash.; Clark Thompson, Cascade Locks; Charles Rogers, Milldale; Fred Brainerd, Vancouver, Wash.; Claude Mewlin, Newberg; Alexander Lackey, Aberdeen, Wash.; Josephine Saunders, Ashland; Dorothy Coffin, North Yakima, Wash.; Priscilla Gellin, Chehalis, Wash.; Dorothy Elliott, Walla Walla, Wash.; and Alvin Shagen, Nacotta, Wash.
