THOUSANDS SEE PASADENA'S GREAT ANNUAL TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

World-Famous Ben Hur Race Enacted as Chariots Rumble About Forum With Romanesque Touch Added by Hippodrome Riders Astride of Three Horses—Chief Sebastian, Reappointed, Announces Platform.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Pasadena's 54th annual tournament of roses—the classic of the southland—came and went in a carnival of color January 1, while more than 100,000 people, scattered over the five-mile course of the pageant, looked on in mingled admiration and amazement.

Defiant of leaden heavens, Pasadena triumphed without the sun, as in the past it has won the crown of midsummer while the riot of roses was in progress. The threatening skies may have kept some at home, but in the great mass that flocked to the Crown City the sponsors for the tournament welcomed more people than were really expected.

Turning out of Orange Grove avenue into Colorado street to the plaudits of thousands, the parade passed through the downtown streets and wound here and there until it again picked up its easterly march, passed on up over the hill and finally turned south to Tournament Park.

The festival was continued at Tournament Park after the great army of spectators had been given a chance to recover from the wonders of the first spectacles. The afternoon was taken up with a programme of races, athletic sports and music that entertained a record throng.

The world-famous race of Ben Hur was re-enacted as chariots rumbled about the forum and the Romanesque touch was added by the hippodrome riders astride of three horses, while the youth and vigor of the southland was expending its human energy in competing in the tests of speed and strength and athletic skill.

The first three floats represented the Pasadena City Commission, the Pasadena Board of Trade and the Pasadena High School as a junior board of trade. From leasur across the Pacific, Hawaii sent its representatives to the tournament. The "Gem of the Pacific" was suggested in the song and instrumental music of a band of native singers.

The passage of the King and Queen, represented by Fitch C. E. Mattison and Miss Mabel Seibert, was a continuous ovation, the float being one of the handsomest in the line. Royalty was reclining on a golden throne attended by pages and ladies-in-waiting. The royal harpist was Miss Myrtle Cuellet. A canopy of bronze-tinted brocade gave lustre to the royal place.

While feeding chickens in the yard of his home shortly after 5 o'clock Friday morning Theodore N. Mersch, ex-United States Marshal for the district of Southern California and a pioneer resident of Los Angeles, dropped dead.

His body was found by relatives five hours later. Mr. Mersch had enjoyed the best of health and his sudden death came as a great shock to the members of his family and his many friends.

All doubt concerning who will be chief of police of Los Angeles during the term of Mayor Rose was removed Saturday when Chief Sebastian was reappointed for a period of one year by the organization worked hard to raise for its own use $37,500, which with an equal amount subscribed by the projected building will cost approximately $110,000 and will be thoroughly modern in every respect.
