

NATION WIDE HONOR TO BE PAID SALMON

From Coast to Coast King of Fish Will Be Piece de Resistance Friday.

RECIPES ARE IN DEMAND

Transportation Clubs and Railroads Take Lead in Advertising One of Principal Industries of Northwest.

Eat salmon next Friday. This is the order figuratively given by the salmon packers of the Northwest to the people of the United States and responses already received indicate that the order will be generally obeyed.

Next Friday will be the second annual occurrence of the National salmon day and in every city in the country, from New York to Portland, "the king of foods and the food of kings" will be served in its various delicious forms.

As Portland is the center of the salmon packing industry in the country the celebration here will give full recognition to that fact.

Every business man in Portland will join in the demonstration at the Multnomah Hotel at noon Friday. The general arrangements are in charge of the Portland Transportation Club, which engineered the salmon day celebration last year. W. A. Robbins, president of the club, will preside at the luncheon and will designate various persons to speak. Judge Munly, who has been associated with the salmon industry here for many years, will be the principal speaker.

Souvenirs to Be Given. Salmon will be served in each of the several courses. There will be salmon soup, salmon salad, baked salmon, canned salmon, salmon cocktail and salmon pie.

Each person attending the luncheon will be given a can of Royal Chinook salmon as a souvenir of the occasion.

A similar demonstration will take place at Seattle, which city also does a considerable business in salmon from Alaska each year. A big salmon banquet has been arranged to take place at the Washington Hotel on Friday evening. Governor Lister and other prominent residents of Washington will be present. J. M. Norton, general agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad at Seattle, who originated the salmon day idea, was in Portland yesterday and discussed with members of the Transportation Club plans for the forthcoming celebration. He reports that virtually every transportation body in the country and every big railroad is preparing to participate.

The purpose of salmon day is to stimulate the use of canned salmon as a food and to advertise the salmon industry of the Northwest.

Many Celebrations Planned. In addition to the celebrations in Portland and Seattle similar functions have been arranged under auspices of traffic or transportation clubs at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Buffalo, Boston and Jacksonville, and all the big railroads will serve salmon as a special item on their menus.

Requests have come from big department stores in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities asking for salmon recipes. It is their intention to exploit the salmon industry—not only for salmon day but for every day in the year.

The department stores in Portland also have arranged to serve salmon next Friday and to advertise salmon extensively.

J. Alexis Shriver, of the United States Department of Commerce, who has just returned from a two years' trip around the world in the interest of foreign commerce, will be here to investigate the salmon business and to lend his official encouragement to the plans for promoting the industry.

SECURITY LODGE IS HOST

Musical selections between the acts will be rendered by Henry Parsons, violinist, and Miss Gertrude Hoerber, vocalist.

Boxes will be provided for the officers. The officers of Security Council are: R. L. Voelker, president; Dee T. Dewey, first vice-president; William Peterson, second vice-president; E. R. Bates, secretary; Mrs. R. L. Voelker, financier; and Mrs. Helen G. McAllister, prelate.

ALUMNAE HAVE LUNCHEON

Several Addresses Made at Annual Gathering at University Club.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae gave its annual luncheon at the University Club at 1:45 yesterday. Mrs. Alvah Carr, president of the Collegiate Alumnae, of Seattle, was a guest. She made a short address on the activities and problems of the association and brought greetings from the Seattle branch. Professor and Mrs. Norman Coleman, of Reed College, were also guests. Professor Coleman talked briefly on "Keeping Young." Miss Harriett Wood, president of the local organization, presided.

There were 58 present. The table and room were prettily decorated with white tulips, red carnations and daffodils mixed with Oregon grape.

Chehalis Club Elects on Tuesday.

CHEHALIS, Wash., March 7.—(Special.)—The Citizens' Club of Chehalis will hold Tuesday evening its annual election of three trustees for the next three years. A. E. Judd, W. S. Short and Dan W. Bush have no opposition for the places, being candidates to succeed themselves. A smoker is to be staged that night by the entertainment committee and the occasion will mark the close of a membership contest of two teams headed by C. O. Glogrich and A. F. Scherer, the losing team to banquet the winners.

CRITICS PLACE KREISLER AT HEAD OF VIOLINISTS

Redfern Mason of San Francisco Says of Artist Who Comes to Portland Thursday Night, He Is Better Than Any Other Living.

FRITZ KREISLER, VIOLINIST, WHO WILL PLAY AT HELIG MARCH 12.

THE most extraordinary manifestation of genius ever witnessed in San Francisco on the part of a violinist, according to the critics has been recorded there during the visit of Fritz Kreisler the last week. And there is every reason to believe that Portland music-lovers will get the same impression when the distinguished Austrian violinist appears at the Helig next Thursday evening, March 12, under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman. The San Francisco papers placed Kreisler at the head of all living violinists. His three appearances in that city were to crowded houses and the enthusiasm was exhilarating, to put it mildly. Of his third and last appearance there Redfern Mason, in the Examiner, pronounced it "a flood of music such as the world has seldom heard." He said: "Whenever Kreisler chooses to visit us again the whole city will turn out to greet him. They were all there last night and their enthusiasm was something good to see. Imagine Scottish Rite Hall with more people in it than it will possibly hold, and then picture them in the seventh heaven of bliss because the Almighty seems to have made Fritz Kreisler a better violinist than any living specimen of the kind. "It did my heart good to watch that audience. They were jubilant and they gave of appreciation in such generous measure that the artist was jubilant too. The most notable thing about this splendid artist is his perfect mental poise. Emerson says somewhere of Plato that he is never calmer than when his lightning are flashing in the air. These words hold good for Kreisler. "It matters not whether he is playing the inspired counterpoint of Bach, the devout rapture of Handel, or the sculptured lineaments of Pugnani, he always seems to have determined exactly what mental attitude he should adopt and to follow it with a composure that never phlegmatic logic to the end. "It would be easy to prattle indefinitely about Kreisler. He is a great man, and it is a privilege to know him."

CANADA TAKES NOTE

Interest in April Waterways Convention Here Grows.

ENVOYS PLAN TO ATTEND

J. P. Forde, District Engineer of Dominion, and F. A. Starkey, of Associated Boards of Trade, Will Join in Proceedings.

Interest in the coming convention of the Columbia and Snake River Waterways Association, which is to be held in Portland April 13-14, extends far beyond the Inland Empire and the Northwest states of the United States. Canadian organizations are showing an equal desire to be represented at the convention and to participate in its work.

J. P. Forde, of Revelstoke, B. C., district engineer of the department of public work of Canada, recently informed W. R. Struble, secretary of the association, that in his opinion the coming meeting offers the opportunity that has long been desired by students of the waterways of the Columbia basin of Canada for securing information concerning the full improvement and use of the river on both sides of the international boundary.

Mr. Forde says that he intends to be present at the convention and probably will discuss this subject at one of the meetings. F. A. Starkey, of Nelson, B. C., president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, will also be invited to attend and take part in the sessions. E. C. Giltner, W. D. B. Dodson and Mr. Struble, sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce, in charge of arrangements, have completed the following tentative programme of topics which will be considered at the convention:

"Deepening the mouth of the Columbia River to accommodate the largest ocean liners.

"Improvement of the Columbia and its tributaries to serve modern barge navigation.

"Establishment of regular independent boat service on the Columbia waterway from the head of navigation to ocean terminals.

"Plans for water transportation of perishable products of the Columbia basin to world markets.

"Hydro-electric development of the Columbia and its tributaries.

"The relation of the railways to our fully improved rivers and harbors.

"Good roads from the river and rail terminals to the interior.

"Water terminals and docks.

"The completed Cello Canal.

Reduced passenger rates of one and one-third fare for the round trip, on the certificate plan, have been granted by all railway systems from points in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Western Montana and Southern British Columbia, selling dates applying from April 9 to 13 inclusive. Tickets good for return leaving Portland April 13 to 16 inclusive.

FIREMEN WILL EXHIBIT

REDFIRE AND SMOKE TO ASSIST IN DEMONSTRATION.

Mimic Blaze at Pacific Coast Blauit Company and Lifesaving Stunts to Precede Ball March 17.

With red fire, smoke and a number of unique electrical devices, the fire department will create a mimic fire at the plant of the Pacific Coast Blauit Company, Eleventh and Davis streets, March 17, and will then give a series of exhibitions of life saving and fire fighting. The affair is the first of a series of exhibitions to be held to show people how the fire department operates. The exhibition will be given as a forerunner to the firemen's annual ball, which will be held in the Armory the same night.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock a general alarm will be sent in to all the fire stations, where automobile apparatus is kept and immediately the machines will turn out and concentrate about the building. While the machines are on the way red fire will be started.

Arriving at the scene the firemen will lay lines of hose and run them to the top of a building and will operate some streams on part of the building. The water will be pumped by a steam engine and by an automobile pump working side by side, so as to show the comparative force of the two kinds of machines.

Exhibitions of wall scaling, rope climbing, rescuing persons from fire nets and administering first aid to the injured will be given, where everyone can see it. About 150 firemen and practically all the automobile fire apparatus will participate in the exhibition. The fire fighters will keep in touch with the alarm headquarters by means of a telephone, so as to be ready to respond to an alarm in case of real fires.

After the exhibition the firemen's ball will be started. Arrangements are being made for an exceptional ball. A feature will be the decorations which will consist for the principal part of green lights. There will be an enormous firemen's badge, outlined in green incandescent lamps.
