Several routes have been suggested for this extension and all are being investigated. It was agreed by the club that they would abide by the decision of the City Engineer and Commissioner Dieck as to the best route. MORE PAYROLLS URGED

W. T. BUCHANAN CITES BIG SUM SENT EAST EACH YEAR.

Part of $100,000,000 Should Be Kept to Develop Factories, Commercial Club Members Are Told.

That Portland sends in exchange to New York banks $100,000,000 a year, while its total factory payroll only amounts to $12,000,000, was the statement made by W. T. Buchanan, publicity agent of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, in an address before the Commercial Club luncheon for business men Saturday afternoon. Mr. Buchanan had for his theme the opportunities for growth in manufacturing in Portland. He pointed out that he did not pretend to say that all the New York exchange was for the purchase of goods or that it represented Portland money other than it was being handled as a matter of exchange.

"The output of the factories of Portland," said Mr. Buchanan, "ranges close in value to $80,000,000 each year, and the payroll is fully $12,000,000. This is the largest payroll in Portland, and is, after all, the backbone of much of the city's prosperity. We have 15,000 wage-earners and clerks in these factories. Taking the usual ratio of five that would mean that 75,000 of Portland's population are dependent for a livelihood upon the prosperity of the manufacturing industry. That's nearly one-third of the population. Is there any other industry which can make as good a showing?"

"The point to be emphasized is that Portland could well afford to send less money to the East and devote a portion of it to developing a payroll. If we expect to grow as a manufacturing center, independent of our natural obstacles—sparse population and long distances between points, creating heavy carrying charges—we must buy more of our own goods."

Mr. Buchanan was introduced by George L. Baker, manager of the Rose Festival.

Two Diamonds

of equal weight are often of widely different values

Quality, Cutting and Color are what determine the true worth of a diamond. A perfectly cut stone is worth 25 to 50 per cent more than one of ill shape. There is even more difference as to quality, and a diamond that is pure in color is often worth ten times as much as its mate that is yellow.

It's worth something to you to know that we handle no diamonds of questionable character. For that reason it's as safe for a child to buy at our store as if an expert examined the stone. Our prices are the same to everyone and no partiality shown.

SCOTCH BALLADS WIN

"ROBIN ADAIR" ONE OF SONGS THAT MELBA LOVED.

"Mary of Argyle" Another Favorite and Both Are Printed in Collection of "Heart Songs."

The more one studies the biography of eminent musicians, whether composers or artists, the more the universality of the divine art is emphasized. No one country or clime seems ever to have been able to have a monopoly of music. In far-off Melbourne, Australia, Nellie Mitchell Melba was born. Her musical career was determined early in life and she gave the family name of Mitchell when she made her debut after studying with Marchesi in Paris. Her debut in Brussels in "Higuetto" was the occasion when the name "Melba" suggestive of Melbourne, her native city, was first used. In European musical centers her voice captivated her hearers, whether cultivated or uncultivated in music. Her American tours were successive triumphs, and when the enthusiasm of the audience was at its height there was a swelling of hearts when her beautiful tones rendered "Robin Adair" or "Mary of Argyle." Her favorite songs or encores seemed to be the Scotch ballads—ballads that were especially popular among her home people in early childhood.

"Robin Adair" and "Mary of Argyle" are both in the fourth volume of "Heart Songs," the famous song book now being offered by this paper at what might be called the price of printing. We cannot emphasize enough the wonderful opportunity to obtain a song collection that will give pleasure for years, for practically the publisher's cost.—Adv.

CORVALLIS SETS PACE

SCHOOLS IN RACE IN INDUSTRIAL WORK FOR PUPILS.

No Advantage Accrues by Location of Agricultural College, Says State Superintendent Churchill.

SALEM, Or., March 7.—(Special.)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill said today that the city schools of Corvallis had set a pace in industrial work which other city schools would do well to follow. He said that the city schools of Corvallis had an advantage of those in other cities because the State Agricultural College is located there.

"The facts are," said Mr. Churchill, "the college does no more for the schools of Corvallis and Benton County than it does for those of any other town or county. The institution is supported by the state and the Federal Government, and because of the desire not to give the residents of the home county better service than others, it has been alleged that the county suffers, but no complaint has been made."

Mr. W. W. Martin has returned from Corvallis, where, with City Superintendent Kirk and County Superintendent Cannon, he organized five industrial clubs in the grade schools of the city.

The total membership of the five clubs is more than 400 and is virtually all the membership of eligible age in the schools. Mr. Martin said that the Parent-Teacher Circle had been organized and that it would co-operate in industrial work. He said that County Superintendent Cannon had organized clubs in a majority of the rural schools.

E. C. RAUH HEADS CLUB

Protest Against Rerouting Alberta Cars Made at Meeting.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Irvington Park Club, held at the clubrooms Friday night, the following officers were elected to serve six-month terms: E. C. Rau, president; Maud R. Bushnell, vice-president; Joseph R. Gerber, secretary, and E. S. Adams, director of publicity. An executive committee also was elected, consisting of the officers, C. E. Cowdin and William A. Marshall.

Several new members were reported by the membership committee. The building committee asked for more time on its report on a site for the proposed clubhouse.

The secretary was ordered to communicate to the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company the club's disapproval of the plan of the East Burnside street merchants to have the Alberta streetcars rerouted over the Burnside bridge, the club's attitude being that the people of this district are entitled to better car service, even if it does conflict with the views of the Burnside-street business men.

TELEPHONE ORDER IS DUE

Demand for Readjustment of Rates by City Council May Result.

If City Commissioner Daly follows the advice of City Attorney LaRoche contained in an opinion written by Mr. LaRoche yesterday, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company will be required to re-establish the two-wire, five-party telephone service abolished by the company. Under the franchise held by the company provision is made for such service at a cost to the patron of $1.25 a month.

Commissioner Daly said yesterday that he will demand of the company that the service be granted and that probably will bring a request from the company for a permit to discontinue the service. When this request is made, Mr. Daly says, the City Council will be in position to demand a readjustment of some of the other rates of the company.
