

CANAL BOLL HELD EMBARGO ON COAST

Shipper Tells Senators Pacific Coast Would Lose to Mills of South.

HEARINGS ARE NEAR END

Gallinger Urges Adoption of Resolution to Bar From Canal Vessels Whose Governments Grant Subsidies.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A charge that tolls on American coastwise vessels passing through the Panama Canal would be an embargo on Pacific Coast lumber in Eastern markets in the interest of Southern lumber was made today before the Senate inter-oceanic canal committee by D. E. Skinner, a lumberman of Seattle, Wash. He asserted the situation should not be viewed from the standpoint that exemption from tolls was a subsidy to shipowners, but that imposition of tolls was an embargo on coastwise shipping through the canal.

Senator Simmons introduced, after Mr. Skinner's testimony, a letter from Robert Brookings, a Pacific Coast lumberman, who said the imposition of tolls would have little or no effect on the Pacific Coast lumber trade. Mr. Skinner, in reply, said Brookings' mills were situated on harbors that could be used by vessels passing through the canal.

The committee will conclude its hearings on the bill on Monday, according to the present agreement.

"It will be a cruel discrimination against American coastwise ships to require them to pay tolls when the ships of other nations will have their tolls paid from the public treasury," said Senator Gallinger today in a speech opposing the repeal.

Senator Gallinger urged adoption of his resolution, which would bar from the canal the free toll provisions which several Senators held in the Senate rules.

He settled in Beaver Creek when land was worth about $20 an acre and when that section was a wilderness.

TRAIN DELAYS DECREASING

Commission's Report Shows Record This Year Better Than Last.

SALEM, Or., April 25.—(Special.)—Announcement was made by the State Railroad Commission today that comparative tables of delays of passenger trains on the steam railroads of the state for February and March this year and the same months last year show a big improvement. The commission began the investigation in February last year, and only comparison for the first part of the two years is possible now. The figures show an aggregate delay of 61,975 minutes on the various railroads in February, 1913, and of 43,588 in February, 1914. The March showing is still better, 67,572 minutes in March of last year being reduced to 25,314 last month. This makes a saving of 290 hours, or 12 days, for February, and of 240 hours, or 10 days, for March.

VANCOUVER, April 25.—(Special.)—An ordinance to keep peddlers and transient merchants from doing business in the city without first paying a license, is asked in a petition signed by most of the business men of the city and filed with the City Clerk today. The merchants want to stop persons from coming to Vancouver and advertising "fire" sales, or selling inferior goods at from 10 to 30 cents on the dollar.

T. H. Adams, president of the Vancouver National Bank, would also include in the ordinance, newsboys and men who come to Vancouver with outside papers.

Widest Possible Variety Desired for Display to Be Made in Basement of Meier & Frank Store to Open This Week.

An exhibit of "Made-in-Oregon" goods has been arranged for by the Manufacturers' Association of Oregon, to be given in the basement of the old part of the Meier & Frank store, beginning on Thursday of this week and lasting until the night of May 15. This decision was reached Friday after it had been learned that the County Commissioners had granted the request of the Land Products Show for $4000 with which to put on the Land Show this fall, as it was hoped to hold a combined show in some large place. This exhibit will serve as a "preliminary heat" to the larger show in the fall.

The entire basement space on the Morrison-street side of the old building will be devoted to the exhibit. In arranging for the exhibits the widest possible variety has been sought, so that the many different industries of the state might be represented. In one corner a large booth will be devoted to bubbling fountain which opposite it will be shown the newly-patented loggers' shirts, warranted to shed water.

One of the largest exhibits will be the making of mattresses, and across the aisle one of the knitting mills will have a force of girls turning out sweaters.

The various furniture factories will show their latest patterns, emphasizing Portland's position as the Grand Rapids of the Pacific Coast.

The display will be formally opened on Thursday morning under the auspices of the Manufacturers' Association, Colonel David M. Dunne, president of the association, being in charge of the exercises at that time.

PETER RILEY MOURNED

HUNDREDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE AT FUNERAL SERVICES.

Wealth of Floral Offerings Attest to High Esteem in Which Albany Resident Was Held.

ALBANY, Or., April 25.—(Special.)—Hundreds of people attended the funeral in this city yesterday of Peter Riley, for many years a prominent resident of Albany, who died at his home here last Wednesday. Probably no man in Albany had more friends than Peter Riley, and the large crowd at the funeral and the wealth of floral offerings attested this friendship.

The funeral services were held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and were conducted by Rev. Father Lantz, rector of the church. The members of the Elks, Knights of Columbus and Knights of the Maccabees assisted in the burial services.

Peter Riley was born April 15, 1846, in County Kildare, Ireland, and came to America with his father in 1852. He attended school in Jamaica, Long Island, and in 1861 took up his first work as a tow-boy on the Lehigh canal. In 1865 he went to California by way of the isthmus of Panama. Four years later he crossed the mountains into Oregon as an employee of a construction company that had charge of the building of that section of the Southern Pacific Railroad extending from Salem to Roseburg. Later he became foreman of the teams on the construction of the Northern Pacific line from Kalama, Wash., to Tacoma.

Upon the completion of that road Mr. Riley purchased 200 acres of land two miles north of Albany.

Mr. Riley on October 28, 1873, married Miss Mary Hunt, a daughter of Thomas Hunt, a pioneer resident of Marion County. Five children were born to this union. His widow and the following four children survive him: Thomas Edward Riley, James Valentine Riley, Nellie M. Scott and William Riley, all of Albany.

VETERAN, 78, WANTS TO ENLIST AND GO TO WAR

"I Can Shoot Head Off a Chipmunk," Says W. H. Hardy, Who Fought in Perry's 1853 Japan Expedition.

"I CAN shoot the head off a chipmunk, can go aloft with the best of them, and only want a chance to crack a few Mexicans" was the way W. H. Hardy, veteran of Commodore Perry's Japan expedition in 1853 and of the Civil War naval engagements, as well as a sailor of fortune, introduced himself to Lieutenant R. E. Smith, U. S. N., yesterday. His earnestness and appearance belied his reluctant admission that he was 78 years of age.

"I would like to enlist at the Marine Corps recruiting station yesterday, when a Chinaman sought to enlist. A corporal of marines informed the celestial that the rules of the service barred his admission.

"You sabe, me no likum fight, but cook like h—," explained the applicant, who even as a "cookie" he could not make the corps.

Several men arrived last night from Spokane and Puget Sound that were accepted in the Marine Corps and, with those enlisted here, will be ordered to San Francisco.

That the authorities appreciate the fact that the more marines will be in demand probably is shown from the fact Lieutenant Udell received a telegram from Colonel Lane, at San Francisco, in charge of the Western district, to the effect that men discharged from the Marine Corps with good character could be re-enlisted without special instructions as to minor physical defects, though usually waivers are required from Washington in such cases.

Portland Physician Leaves for Front. Dr. Percy P. McMurdo, of 111 East Seventy-second street, Southeast, a member of the Medical Reserve Corps, who served in the Navy as acting assistant surgeon from 1902 to 1908, received a telegram from the Surgeon-General yesterday inquiring if he was ready to go to duty. He replied in the affirmative and received orders later to proceed to the Bremerton Navy yard, on Puget Sound, and report to Admiral Doyle for duty with the Pacific reserve fleet. He left last night.

One applicant for enlistment at the Marine Corps station was passed and said he would take the oath as soon as he could dispose of his motorcycle. Several men having seen service with the Marine Corps called to ascertain how they stood for another enlistment. A continuation of threatening situation in Mexico is expected to draw large numbers who have taken up occupations ashore.

PORTLAND MAN RELEASED OF RHEUMATISM AND BAD STOMACH

Miss Anna Ingals Warmly Praises New California Mineral Remedy.

After suffering two years with severe stomach and rheumatism, Miss Anna Ingals, of 103 1/2 East Water street, Portland, has at last found relief in Akos, the remarkable California medicinal mineral that is now being introduced at the Owl Drugstore.

"I tried a great many other remedies without any good results," said she in speaking of her recovery. "I read of Akos, and after using it a short time I am greatly relieved and expect to keep on with the remedy until I am entirely cured, and I don't think will be a great while by the results I have already had. I would like to have others suffering such as I have been know of this. I am sure it will do for them what it has done for me."

This case is but one in hundreds throughout the Northwest that has responded with pleasing promptness to the Akos remedies. Stomach trouble, rheumatism, eczema, kidney, liver and bladder trouble, catarrh, piles and other ailments yield readily when Akos is used. Akos is a natural mineral mined in California, and is not a combination of drugs.

SALEM BOYS PLAY WAR

"GUERRILLA BAND" FRIGHTENS UNWARY PEDESTRIANS.

WAVE OF PATRIOTISM SWEEPS CITY AND YOUNGSTERS ORGANIZE BROOMSTICK CAVALRY AND GET TOY WEAPONS.

SALEM, Or., April 24.—(Special.)—Stirred by the general martial spirit, numerous small boys of Salem are having lots of fun "playing war." Calling themselves a guerrilla band, about a dozen youngsters took up a position behind brush in a pasture in the outskirts of the city and frightened pedestrians. Screaming and brandishing weapons of their own handiwork and toy ones left over from Christmas, the lads bounded out upon several unwary passers-by, much to the discomfort of the victims of the joke.

"Down with the Mexicans; kill 'em; eat 'em!" was the battle cry of the youngsters. The leader of the brave band wielded a sword which was a relic of Revolutionary war days. He explained that he and his "men" intended to intercept a party of "greasers" northward bound.

Several lads, living near the State Blind School, placed an American flag on a mound of earth, which they called a fort, and dared a number of their friends to remove it. None touched it, for the other lads had the same respect for the emblem as its "defenders" northward bound.

The broomstick cavalry is being rapidly recruited in Oregon's capital and there is hardly a youngster who has not expressed a desire to be a soldier. No longer is the little boy soldier red with rust, for Salem Little Boy Blues are using them as their mannikins in their little war games.
