Preacher Charges Murder. "We are not a cult or class, but a people gathered together in common cause by the shadow of death," said Rev. J. M. Jackson. "The names of Ludlow's dead and families who lost these dead were born, we don't know where, but they died at Ludlow April 21, 1914."

Names of Dead Are Read. Rev. Mr. Jackson said men, women and babes were shot down or cremated in their tent colony. In the name of motherhood and childhood, he said, "in the name of innocence and the right to live, and in the name of common humanity, we say this infamous business must not go on."

CITY DEPOSITS BEGGING CALIFORNIA BANKS ARE NOT TEMPTED BY 2 PER CENT.

Five Million Offered by San Francisco With Few Takers and Those for Only Small Amounts.

The City Treasurer has $5,000,000 to lend to the banks in addition to the $4,823,340 of city funds which they now hold on deposit. The city treasurer says largely of tunnel assessment payments and sums set aside for city hall and municipal railway contracts, as well as appropriations from various funds.

zizing that sum of money. The business manager admitted taking the money from the business, but said he gave it to Mr. Barnes. "Mr. Taber has not now and never has had any money invested in the Capital Journal," declared Mr. Barnes yesterday. "Charles Miller gave me an interest in the paper and when my money and $10,000 raised on a note was the only money in it, Mr. Taber had $1000. He told me that he was returning the money and finally he agreed to pay me in amounts as he could. He paid me about $500 since Mr. Fisher entered the business. If one cent of the $1100 he drew was paid me it was on the old account, and I knew nothing of where he got the money."

HOOTER MAN IS SHOT; SUICIDE FOLLOWED

After Being Reproved for Disorderly Conduct Louie Lavrov Shoots C. Berthold.

Assailant, Said to Have Been Drinking Heavily, Locks Himself in Room and Shot Rings Out as Door Is Broken In.

Charles Berthold, 36 years old, proprietor of the Edgerton Hotel, 117 1/2 Knott street, was shot through the neck at 7:45 last night by Louie Lavrov, a patron with whom he had quarreled a few moments before the assault. Lavrov fought with W. A. Carney, another roomer, and after two shots were fired, Lavrov broke away, ran into his own room and shot himself through the head. He died instantly. Berthold has slight chance of recovery.

Lavrov, who has been out of employment for several months, and who is said to have been drinking heavily, was causing a disturbance around the hotel by loud talking and swearing. Berthold remonstrated with the man and told him to be quiet, ordering him to his room. Lavrov went to his room but returned a moment later with a revolver. Berthold was sitting in a chair in the office when Lavrov held the gun to his head and fired. The bullet entered Berthold's head below the ear and passing through his neck and going out below the right ear.

Carney, who was sitting nearby, jumped to Berthold's assistance and grappled with Lavrov. In the struggle two bullets were fired by Lavrov, both of which became imbedded in the wall of the office. Lavrov managed to break away and ran to his room. Patrolman Elliot heard the shots as he was passing the hotel and ran up stairs to investigate. He reached Lavrov's room just as the man slammed and locked the door. He called to him to open.

"I am going," Lavrov called in answer, as he fired the shot that ended his life. He was dead when the policeman forced an entrance to the room. Berthold was given first aid by Dr. Curtis Holcomb. He was then rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital, where immediate operation was performed. Mrs. Berthold, who was in an adjoining room, is in a precarious condition from shock.

OREGON PLAY GIVEN

"The Soph and the Prof" Produced by "U" Seniors.

AUDIENCE GETS SURPRISE

Lyrics and Book by Dean Collins and Music by Frank Harwood, of Portland, Enjoyed—32 Men and Women in Cast.

EUGENE, Or., May 9.—(Special.)—With a strictly made-up Oregon musical play, "The Soph and the Prof" scored a decided triumph and today every one is whistling or humming the tripping lyrics and swinging choruses which mark "The Prof and the Soph" as one of the cleverest and most beneficial productions that has ever been produced at the local stage.

The lyrics and book of "The Prof and the Soph" were written by Dean Collins, now a member of the reportorial staff of The Oregonian, as his graduation thesis in the class of 1916. The libretto was written by Frank Harwood, a young composer, who is conductor of the orchestra of the Empress Theater at Portland. Mr. Harwood witnessed the production, but Mr. Collins was detained in Portland by illness.

The play sparkles with clever dialogue and the audience was delighted to behold a well-mouled plot, in the action of which there were no yawning gaps, requiring imaginative acrobatics on the part of the people out in front.

The production was the most ambitious senior class play ever attempted at the University of Oregon and surprise swept over the house at the ease with which the 32 young college men and women carried off. The atmosphere of the play irresistibly suggests "Old Oregon" and it was with delight that the students and the many Oregon alumni who came in to witness it recognized the familiar allusions to the life of the local campus and classrooms.

The prettiest musical number was undoubtedly "The Shell," sung by Virginia, "the soph," played with charming grace and naivete by Miss Eibel Toose. Her other song, "The Game of Love," was also warmly applauded.

The other songs are, "It Pays to Have a Loving Dada," "The Light in Her Eyes," "The Ladder of Dreams," which is bewitching both for its poetry and music, "Heart of My Heart," a winning little waltz tune, and "Dad, He's Wise," which brought appreciative laughter from parents and students alike.

The first scene, briefly introducing the characters to follow, told the story of a senior wrongly accused of stealing a set of examination questions.

Love Plot Sufficient. Norton Cowden, as Fred Grey, the accused, in love with Marion, who was Hazel Rader, was delightful. So was his companion, the friend of Virginia, the Soph, who was trying to get a

CHAMBERLAIN VOTES NO

OREGON SENATOR OPPOSES ALL GRAIN INSPECTION.

Western Members Favor Bill to Rigid Examination of Products.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 9.—Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, was the only Senator from a large wheat-producing state, other than Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, to vote against the passage of the Federal grain inspection bill. The bill was defeated by a vote of 37 yeas to 20 nays. Senator Lane, of Oregon, Senators Jones and Poindester, of Washington, and Borah and Brady, of Idaho, all voted in favor of the passage of the bill.

Proponents of this bill made a strong showing in its support and demonstrated that in the absence of Federal grain inspection of grain entering into interstate commerce, extensive frauds are perpetrated. The charge was made repeatedly that state inspection, in many states at least, is a complete failure.

On the one hand, the present system enables grain elevator men to run down the grade of farmers' wheat, and thus force down the price they pay, and on the other hand, the elevator men purchase low grades of grain, and sell it as high-grade, thereby doubling their profits.

An effort will be made to get the Senate to reconsider its vote on the grain inspection bill.

ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY

Eliminates Plates and Bridges. The Cut Rate Dentist.

There are two kinds of dentists—those who desire to give, and those who wish to get. When 81 per cent of all dentists desire to give, Utopia will be here. When you are offered dentistry at cut-rate prices "beWARE." Dentistry, like doctoring, if worth having, commands a price. The top notchers do not have bargain days. They depend upon that class who know that if you get anything good you've got to pay for it.

THE ALVEOLAR METHOD of restoring missing teeth calls for expert service from beginning to end. Alveolar Teeth, Where Bridgework Is Impossible.

If only your front teeth are left, say three or four or more, we can replace all of those that have been lost on both sides clear back with perfect Alveolar teeth, whilst bridgework would be impossible even if you had eight or ten front teeth to lean to. If you have only two back teeth on each side, say molars, we can supply all the front teeth that are missing with beautiful, serviceable, like-like Alveolar teeth. This could not possibly be done by the bridge route. And, where bridgework is possible, there is no comparison to be made between a very large percentage of our work is taking out bridgework put in by supposedly high-class dentists, and replacing it with the Alveolar and artistic Alveolar teeth. And, unlike bridgework in another respect, it is practical and painless. No cutting into the gums, nothing to be dreaded. Now then, prices being equal, what would you prefer?

Curing Pyorrhea (loose teeth), a disease given up by most dentists as incurable, is another of our specialties. It's a bonafide statement that we can do anything that is possible in dentistry. Your teeth are loose, cutting into the gums, nothing to be dreaded. Now then, prices being equal, what would you prefer?

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers. We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with urea acids, says a well-known authority, who would be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging about your ankles, or the urine is full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking it. It is occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.
