LOS ANGELES TEAM CARD FOR TUESDAY

"Pop" Dillon's Aggregation to Make 1914 Portland Debut in 3:30 o'Clock.

SERIES IN NATURE OF TEST

Macmen's Inability to Handle Tigers
One of Obstacles in Way of Making
Climb, Is View of Fawcett in Coast Survey.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT.
"Pop" Dillon will bring his Los Angeles Seraphs to Portland at the witching hour of about 3:30 Tuesday afternoon for a resumption of Pacific Coast League activities in Portland. It will be the Angels' first appearance of the year in the North. The opening game likely will be 20 minutes late in starting owing to train connections.
Following the Dillonites will come the Sacramento Wolves, also on their initial trip North of Shasta, and then Oakland for a second visit.
Seven games will be played in the Angel series and six apiece in the other two, making 19 in all. By that time perhaps we'll be able to tell more clearly whether the Beavers are predestined to pull another back-stretch finish or whether they intend lagging along at the narrow edge of the first division.

Los Angeles trimmed us the week of May 9-10 four games in seven, but Dillon caught the Mackmen just when they were going the poorest. Walter McCredie's much-needed reinforcements appear to have strengthened Portland since then, and there ought to be another story ere this week is out.

Venice Is Obstacle.
The entire three series at home, in fact, should prove beneficial tonics to the local athletes. Portland has already demonstrated its superiority over Sacramento and Oakland. So, if the boys perform up to snuff, the middle of June should find them anchored somewhere in the first division.

Just now Venice is making a run-away so far as Portland is concerned. As long as the Justly esteemed Tigers are able to win about three-quarters of the games from Portland the Mackmen have no idyllic, rose-colored chance of finishing out in front.
Venice took three in five from Portland on the visit here in April, and added insult a week ago by wrenching five victories in the seven-game series down South. The margin Portland must obtain over the other clubs is too heavy. If each has done, but the Coast League is so equally balanced this year that the task is well nigh impossible.

Portland must rally and check the Tigers when they meet again in Portland the first week in July. Otherwise the Mackmen might just as well kiss their first place chances goodbye.

Race Head to Head.
So far as May conditions are concerned the race is indeed most hectic, with Venice easily the most consistent team in the circuit. But a week's winning streak by any of the clubs, coupled with a losing streak by the Tigers, can change the entire complexion.

Unmistakably some race, and one impossible to dope.
For instance, Sacramento took six out of seven from San Francisco, and, without pausing for lung expansion, dropped six in seven to Los Angeles. This would seem to indicate that the Angels are a better ball club than the Seals, but the Seals are even engaged in walloping the Dillon clan with considerable gusto, not to say zeal.

Remarkable pitching, too, has featured this Seal-Angel setto in the Cafeteria metropolis, with Kid Ehmke, of the Angels, the target for the prying eyes.

This kid chalked up his sixth consecutive win for Los Angeles in his mid-week 1-0 clash with Fanning. He looks like a sure enough big leaguer, and Portland fans are evincing an unusual interest in his progress.

Mother First Thought.
Ehmke, it appears, is a New Yorker and was tried out with the New York Giants last year. McGraw thought so well of the 19-year-old giant that he tendered him a contract for this year, but the boy didn't sign because his mother's health demanded a change in residence to California.

Ehmke entered Glendale High, near Los Angeles, and early in the year hit Hap Hogan for a job. It is well known that Hogan would rather monkey with old coalburners than kids, and he turned his tin ear on the kid.

Hen Berry later signed him to an Angel contract, and now Hen stands in line for another big league sale. Ehmke is over 6 feet tall and weighs about 190 pounds. He has five brothers, all over the 200-pound mark. When he has finished breaking his shirt buttons he ought to be quite some boy.

TINKER OFF TO WASHINGTON

Report Is Buns' Head Will Try to Sign Walter Johnson.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Manager Joe Tinker, of the Chicago Federals, expects to interview Walter Johnson, Washington's star pitcher, tomorrow with a view to having him sign a contract with the local team, according to a special dispatch from Baltimore today. Tinker said he was authorized to see Johnson in Washington and offer him tempting inducements to join the new league.

BALTIMORE, May 23.—Manager Tinker, of the Chicago Federals, would neither confirm nor deny a report that he would interview Walter Johnson, Washington's star pitcher, at the National capital tomorrow with the view of having him sign with the Chicago club.
"You may say for me," he said, "that I am going to Washington tomorrow, but for what purpose I dare not commit myself."

"Gunboat" Smith Seils.

NEW YORK, May 23.—"Gunboat" Smith, the California heavyweight who is matched to fight George Carpentier, of France, in London six weeks hence, sailed today for England on the steamer Oceanic. The big fellow was in fine condition.
