of another large gathering, where the grave of every American soldier and sailor was decorated with a small flag, and the monument to the heroes of the war was draped with the colors.

The services were opened by T. H. Stevens, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for the day at Lone Fir. Rev. Arthur H. Nichols acted as chaplain.

Adjutant J. W. Ogilvie read the orders for the day. Mrs. Hannah B. Mahen, speaking for the Women's Relief Corps, delivered an address, and Past-Commander D. D. Neer did the same for the Grand Army of the Republic.

A. J. Smith, Post-Commander of the Republic, and Blackmar Circle of the Women's Relief Corps, with children from Sellwood School, held appropriate exercises at the monument to the unknown dead in Milwaukie Cemetery.

Members of Reuben Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Shiloh Circle, Women's Relief Corps, together with Spanish War veterans, at a luncheon held at the Oddfellows Hall, where the exercises were held.

McKinley Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Women's Relief Corps observed the day with services in Brainerd Cemetery. The celebration began with a parade from the Oddfellows hall to the cemetery. H. F. Marple and Comrade William Jones, with a drum corps of 50 boys, headed the line of march.

The column formed at the Courthouse at 2 o'clock, with a platoon of police under the command of Captain J. T. Moore in the lead.

The Oregon Naval Militia, commanded by Lieutenant-Commander George F. Blair, held the next place in line, with the Elks' band following.

The members of the Grand Army of the Republic marched at the head of the parade. The division of Spanish War veterans, under the leadership of Comrade J. W. Curran, followed the survivors of Gettysburg.

As it passed between the crowded curbs traffic was halted, and cheer after cheer greeted the various divisions. The progress of the Grand Army men was especially marked by enthusiasm.

The Sons of Spanish War Veterans' drum corps, composed of little boys in service uniforms, was also a favorite with the spectators.

Prominent members of the Grand Army sat on the stage at the Lincoln High School. A picture of Lincoln hung at the rear of the stage, and the only decorations were flags.

A feature of the programme that was much appreciated was the singing of the veterans' quartet, composed of N. Morse, Dr. J. E. Hall, Professor Z. N. Parvin and A. W. Mills.

Addresses were delivered by Mrs. Millie Berwick, for the Women's Relief Corps, and by Rev. J. J. Walters, department chaplain, for the Grand Army.

Rev. W. T. Kerr acted as chaplain of the day. Memorial day orders were read by Adjutant W. M. Henderson.

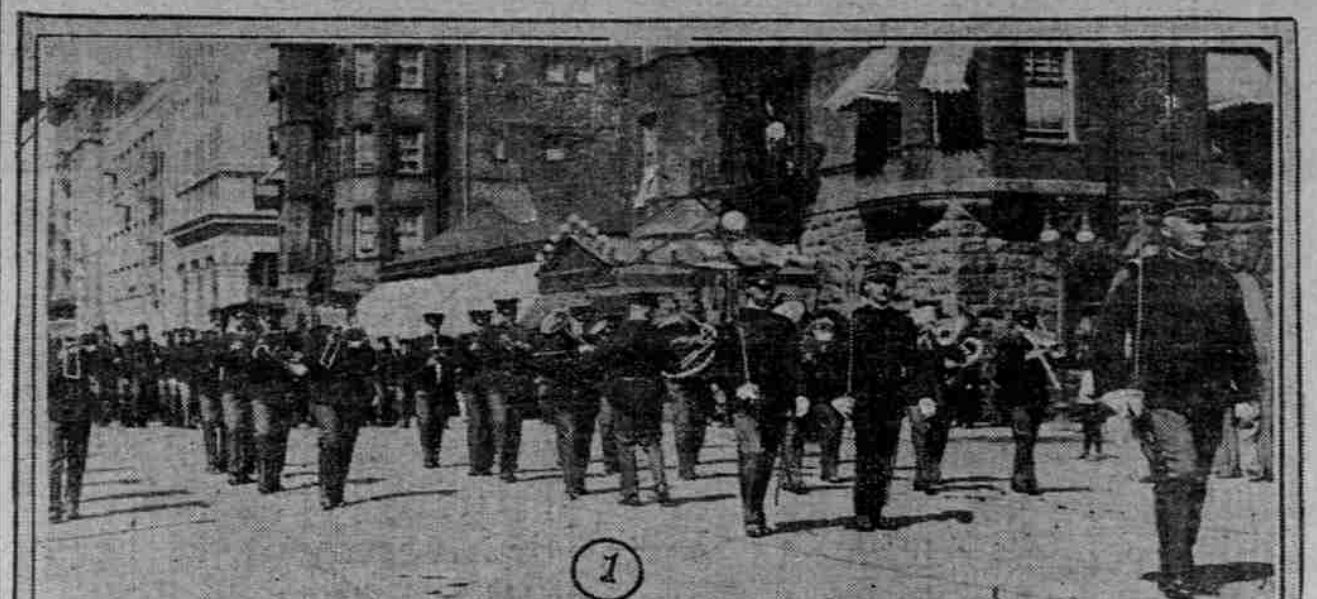

The Gettysburg address was read by Elmer Lundberg. The programme closed with the singing of "America" by the audience, which filled the big auditorium, the benediction by the chaplain and "Taps" by the Lincoln High School orchestra.

DAY OBSERVED IN LA GRANDE Civil War Veterans Decorate Graves of Departed Comrades.

LA GRANDE, Or., May 30.—(Special.)—With appropriate ceremonies the remaining veterans of the Civil War today decorated the graves of their departed comrades and retold in a spirit of brotherly love the hardships of a great fratricidal conflict, which ended with the saving of the Union.

Age has made it impossible for most of the members to make the trip to the cemetery on foot. At noon they

PORTLAND ARRESTS 18,919 IN 10 MONTHS

Mayor Albee Declares Chief of Department Deserves Credit for Excellent Showing.

GOODS RECOVERED $14,410

Mr. Clark Says He Feels Proud of Proportion of Important Captures Made and of Criminal Mysteries Cleared.

TABLE SHOWING ACTIVITIES OF POLICE DEPARTMENT FROM JULY 1, 1913, TO MAY 1, 1914. Total arrests 18,919. Goods recovered $14,410.

Results achieved in the capture of criminals, recovery of stolen goods, clearing up of murder cases, arrest of holdups and swindlers and breaking up of organized gangs of crooks in Portland is shown in a report submitted yesterday by Chief of Police Clark to Mayor Albee outlining in detail the work of the police department for the period from July 1, 1913, to May 1, 1914.

Mayor Albee attributes the showing of the police and detective departments to the work of Chief Clark, who has been in charge of the police service since July 1, last year. In addition to having made actual arrests and cleared up mysteries, the Mayor says the Chief personally, and his men have broken up many organized bands of crooks, have driven hundreds of crooks out of the city and have done a great deal of work in keeping order during strikes and festivities.

In his report Chief Clark says the detective branch of the service is the equal of any in the country for a city of the same size, and the superior of many. "The most modern methods are used in the work," says Chief Clark in his report, "and the officers are equipped with the latest devices and systems."

The members of the detective bureau are all men of wide experience in criminal investigation and under the most capable and intelligent supervision have cleared up an unusually large percentage of the most serious crimes and broken up many of the worst gangs of organized crooks on the Pacific Coast.

The Bureau for the Protection of Women, with Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin in charge, is a valuable asset to the department. The work of this division primarily is protective and preventive, and an important factor in the handling of first offenders in the Municipal Court.

The department comprises 261 persons, of which 22 are serving in the capacity of elevatormen, engineers, janitors and strike positions having no real connection with police work. The average payroll of the department is $29,500 a month. The budget appropriation for the department for 1914 includes salaries in $486,692.

Chief Clark says he has been particularly pleased with the showing made in the handling of murder cases. "Since July 1, 1913," he says, "there have been 13 murder cases, 12 of which have been cleared up successfully, several convictions being obtained ranging from a few years' imprisonment to hanging, and a few cases the defendants, after trial, have been discharged, through mitigating circumstances attending the crime. As a result is one of the most serious crimes we have to contend with, we take great pride in the above showing, as it is indeed a good one."

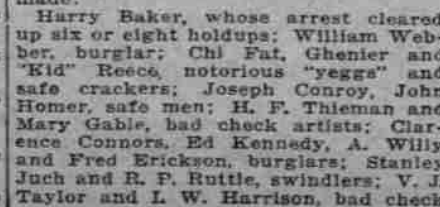

Notorious Criminals Arrested.

Chief Clark gives the following as some of the more important arrests made: Harry Baker, whose arrest cleared up six or eight holdups; William Webber, burglar; Chi Pat, Ghentier and "Kid" Reeco, notorious "yeggs" and safe crackers; Joseph Conroy, John Homer, safe men; H. P. Thiemann and Mary Gable, had check artists; Clarence Connors, Ed Kennedy, A. Willy and Fred Erickson, burglars; Stanley Jack and E. P. Ruttle, swindlers; V. J. Taylor and I. W. Harrison, had check
