Speculators Who Have Held Onto Fruit Have Lost as Much as $500 a Car on Some of Their Apples, Says New York Buyer.

NEW YORK, June 20 .- (Special.)-With reports of bumper apple crops from nearly air sections of the country, fruit factors and representatives of the Northwestern co-operative associations are doubling their efforts to extend markets abroad and into all sections of this country and America. "Forewarned is forearmed," says Arthur Rule, general manager of the North American Fruit Exchange. "When people expect a year of bad prices, frequently their expectations are not realized. The apple eron of the Northwest will get wider distribution throughout this country and the world than ever

R. F. Kelly, member of the firm of Steinhart & Kelly, who are the largest buyers, f. o. b., of Northwestern fruit in New York, says: "The speculators who have hung onto their fruit have lost as much as $590 a car on some of their apples. Damage Done in East. Coming East, I found confirmation of the very serious damage done to the growing peach crop in Connecticut. New York, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas. They were frozen out. The weather was warm in December and January, ODE and became bitterly cold in February, zero to 30 degrees below, in some sec-tions. Many of the trees were badiy hurt. Michigan will have 50 to 60 per cent of a full crop, most of which is always marketed in the Middle West."

A small panic has selled the holders of apples along Washington streets. Winesaps and Newtons from the Pacific Northwest are much in evidence and are selling at the lowest price of the season, from $2 to $2.75 a box. The explanation that is given for apples being at present a glut on the market is that prices have been held too high The result has been that people have refused to buy, and the speculators, with the arrival of apricots, cherries and plums from Florida and California, awakened to the realization that they must unload at any sacrifice.

In the accompany-ing photograph the moon does not show nearly so clearly as in the agate itself, for the reason that the camera magnified a slight line across the stone and also made other lines in front of the moon appear dark, which do not so appear in the agate itself. Mrs. Moore found the agate on Agate Beach, a short distance south of Little Creek.

The bill, if passed by the House in the form in which it passed the Senate, would make it imperative to place the battleship Oregon in line behind the steam launch Louise.
