

WOMAN'S PRESS CLUB HAS GUESTS OF NOTE

Reception Given in Honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Towne and Mrs. Florence Martin Eastland at Home of Mrs. E. H. Ingham.

Mrs. S. R. Norton, Kindergarten Teacher.

Mrs. Dagmar Inez Kelly, Soloist at Congress of Mothers Day, July 14.

ONE of the social events in clubdom during the past week was the reception tendered by the State Women's Press Club at the home of Mrs. E. H. Ingham in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Towne, of "new-thought" fame, and Mrs. Florence Martin Eastland, of the Writers' Club, Seattle. Mrs. Towne, formerly a Portland woman, is well known to many members of the club, and her work as editor of the Nautilus is familiar to readers and thinkers everywhere. It is not so generally known, however, that Nautilus was born and nurtured in Portland, and grew to quite a lusty child before its journey across the continent to Holyoke, Mass. Mrs. Towne gave an interesting sketch of the history of the publication, touching briefly upon more recent experiences. She pleaded for self-expression and "hot-hearted" appealing articles.

At the meeting of the Oregon Child Welfare Commission, June 24, at the First Presbyterian Church, a number of helpful things in connection with defective and delinquent children were explained by Mrs. Robert H. Tate, president of the Commission. She outlined the purpose of the Commission as follows: First, to find conditions affecting childhood. Second, to find remedies for existing evils. Third, to safeguard them in the future through education and legislation.

Mrs. Eastland gave an entertaining and enlightening talk relative to her work and pointed out the several pitfalls that are most sure to prove "delays to success" including such impediments as "irregularity of work, lack of preparation, inability to judge one's own work, loss of faith in one's self, remoteness from markets and competitors of some kind."

At 8:30 P. M. Judge Earl C. Bronough and Miss Emma Butler will speak on Juvenile Court problems at the kindergarten pavilion. The following women will be in charge of the headquarters, taking their turn daily.

Members of the Bay View Study Club of Wasco, Sherman County, gave a banquet to their husbands and a few invited guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Atwood, Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. D. W. Wade, the retiring president, gave an interesting talk on the work and object of the club, and introduced subjects on Germany, which was the club theme for the past winter. The following members responded with interesting papers on musical subjects: Mrs. W. N. Eckert, Jennie McPherson, Mrs. J. T. Johnson, Mrs. F. L. Lamborne, Mrs. E. D. McKee, Mrs. C. M. Huddleston, Miss Dunlap and Miss E. A. Bates.

Samuel Hill, the Oregon farmer and roadbuilder, will give an illustrated lecture at P. M. At 8:30 P. M. Judge Earl C. Bronough and Miss Emma Butler will speak on Juvenile Court problems at the kindergarten pavilion.

son, Mrs. Samuel Connell, Mrs. E. E. Coover and Mrs. Martin Wagner. Every afternoon at 2 o'clock the following programme will take place at the Congress of Mothers headquarters: July 7, Mrs. L. M. Walker in charge; July 8, "Child Welfare Legislation," Mrs. Millie Trumbull; July 9, "Ethics in the State Fair Work," G. M. Hyland; July 10, "Widows' Pensions," Judge Gatens; July 11, education department, Dr. George Rebeck; Mrs. W. J. Hawkins, Miss Ruth Johns, soloist; July 12, supervised play demonstrated, L. H. Weir; July 13, lecture and demonstration for mothers, Mrs. A. King Wilson in charge; July 16, parent-teacher extension, Professor T. J. Gary; July 17, supervised play demonstrated, L. H. Weir; July 18, reception under direction of Mrs. Martin Wagner.

A special meeting of the Portland Shakespeare Study Club has been called for Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edward T. Freble, 815 East Twenty-ninth street, North. All members are earnestly requested to be present. End of the Broadway carline.

At the meeting of the Oregon Child Welfare Commission, June 24, at the First Presbyterian Church, a number of helpful things in connection with defective and delinquent children were explained by Mrs. Robert H. Tate, president of the Commission. She outlined the purpose of the Commission as follows: First, to find conditions affecting childhood. Second, to find remedies for existing evils. Third, to safeguard them in the future through education and legislation.

Mrs. John M. Scott, retiring chairman of the literature department of the Portland Women's Club, submitted the following report for the years 1913-14, at the club meeting on Friday, June 19. Literature department of the Portland Women's Club 1913-14, 13 lectures on the Modern Drama, and one on Pedagogical Anthropology was delivered by Dr. C. H. Chapman before this department. The course embracing such writers as Ibsen, Yeats, Shaw, Breuils, Jones, Mackaye, Auliches and H. Fielding, although we may not have always enjoyed the authors selected, nor yet at all times wholly accepted the interpretation of the lecturer, yet were, throughout the entire course, provided with abundant food for thought, and had the added satisfaction of hearing the literary productions. At the business meeting held on May 1 Mrs. J. D. Spencer was elected chairman and Mrs. Paul Trullinger, secretary for the coming year. Mrs. Robina Louise Scott, chairman of the literature department for three years, has retired. Her place is being filled by Mrs. Spencer.
