

PRINCIPLE SIMPLE THING, SAYS WILSON

of particulars of 1776—and if we are to revitalize it we are to fill it with a bill of particulars of 1914.

"The task to which we have to address ourselves is a proof that we are worthy of the men who drew this great Declaration by showing we know what they would have done in our circumstances."

Patriotism is Practical Thing. "Patriotism is a very practical thing; practical in that they belong to every-day life; in that they belong to no extreme or distinction, but to those things which are associated with our every-day, commonplace duty. There are some gentlemen in Washington, for example, who are showing themselves to be patriotic in a way that does not attract very much attention. The members of the House and Senate, who stay in hot Washington to maintain a quorum of the House and transact business, are performing an act of patriotism. I honor them for it and I am mighty glad to stay there and attack by them until it is over. It is patriotic also to know what the facts are and to face them with candor. I have heard a great many facts uttered about the present business conditions in this country, for example; a great many allegations of facts, at a rate, and it is strange that these facts as stated do not tally with each other.

"Now the truth always matches the truth and when I find men insisting that everything is going in hot Washington, it is demonstrative that most things are going right. I wonder what they are trying to do. Are they trying to serve the country or are they trying to serve something smaller than the country? Are they trying to put hope into the hearts of men who work and toil every day or rather are they trying to secure agreement and despair into these hearts?"

Recent Experiences Refreshing. "If they love America and anything is wrong, it is their duty to put their hands to the task of setting it right. And when the facts are known and acknowledged, the duty of all men is to accept them in candor, and address themselves to the task of setting it right in harmony and universal concert.

"I have had some experiences in the last 14 months which have not been entirely refreshing. It is universally admitted that the banking system of this country needed reorganization. We set the best minds to work on the task of reorganizing the system. We met with hardly anything but criticism from the bankers of this country, or at least from the majority of those who are banking. And yet, as soon as that act was passed, on the very next day there was an universal chorus of applause from the bankers of the United States. Now, if that was wrong the day before it was passed, why was it right the day after it was passed? Where had been the candor of criticism by the bankers of this country, which makes a great nation successful? It is not patriotic to conceal measures against one another; it is not patriotic to conceal measures from one another."

Dollar Diplomacy Has Limit. "The Department of State of the country is constantly called upon to back commercial enterprises against industrial enterprises in the United States in foreign countries; and at one time went so far in that direction that all its diplomacy was designated as 'dollar diplomacy.' It was for supporting every man who wanted to earn anything anywhere if he was an American. Now there is a limit to that. There is no man more interested than I am in carrying the enterprises of the country all over the world. I was interested in it long before I was suspected of being a politician. I have been preaching it year upon year as the great thing which lay in the future of the United States to show the world enterprise and influence in every country of the world.

"But there is a limit to that which has laid upon us more than any other nation. We do not name any differences between one race and another; we did not set up any barriers against any particular race or people, but said all men who wish to be free come to us and they will be welcome. We said this independence is not merely for us—a selfish thing for our own private use—but for everybody to whom we can find the means of extending it.

"I am willing to get anything for an American that money can buy, except the rights of other men. I will not help any man buy a new flag to show off over his fellow-being. You know what a big question there is in Mexico. Eighty-five per cent of the Mexican people have never been allowed to have a look-in in regard to their government and the rights which have been exercised by the other 15 per cent. Do you suppose the circumstance is not sometimes in my thought? I know the American people have a heart that will beat just as strong for those millions in Mexico as it will beat for any other millions anywhere else in the world, and when they once know what is at stake in Mexico they will know what ought to be done in Mexico.

Struggle of People Remembered. "You hear a great deal stated about the property loss in Mexico, and I deplore it with all my heart. Upon the conclusion of the present condition in Mexico undoubtedly those who have lost property ought to be compensated. "Man's individual rights have met with many deplorable circumstances, but back of it all is the struggle of the people, and while that struggle is in the foreground, let us not forget the other in the background.

"The world is becoming more complicated every day. Therefore, no man ought to be foolish enough to think he understands it; and that is the reason why I am so glad to know there are some simple things in the world. One of these simple things is principle.

"Honesty is a perfectly simple thing. It is hard for me to believe that when a man is dishonest, he does not know it. It is hard for me to believe, under most circumstances, when a man has to choose between two ways, he does not know which is the right way and which is the wrong way. And no man who has chosen the wrong way

AMERICAN MINISTER TO GREECE AND MONTENEGRO, ALBANIAN RULER AND HIS WIFE.

CRITIC IS RECALLED

President Tells George Fred Williams to Resign.

TERM HAS BEEN BRIEF

Administration, Deeply Concerned by Attacks on Prince William of Wied, Quickly Moves to Correct Bad Impression.

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—President Wilson has requested the resignation of George Fred Williams, American Minister to Greece and Montenegro, as a result of his public statements regarding the situation in Albania. This became known following the President's arrival here today.

Williams' own reports on his statements were taken up at the Cabinet meeting yesterday, and afterward President Wilson decided their effect was such that it would be improper for Williams to longer represent the United States in the Balkans.

Resignation Already Forwarded. It has been understood Williams of his own accord has forwarded his resignation, but so far as it has been learned here it has not been received by the President.

Report Coming by Mail. State Department officials then said the Minister had no authority to do so, but had been given permission to visit the British Foreign Office and the Secretary Bryan called for a report on the incident, and Williams replied he was sending one by mail. It is believed in official circles that the Minister's resignation is accompanying that report.

The concern of Administration officials was increased recently by publication of a further attack on the Albanian situation, on the part of the European powers, and the rule of Prince William, attributed to the Minister. So far as is known, the powers have made no representations to Washington over the Minister's activities, but officials would not have been surprised if they had.

BRITISH DIPLOMATS AMUSED. English Newspapers in Headlines Call Action "Amazing."

LONDON, July 4.—English newspapers have printed the announcement of George Fred Williams, American Minister to Greece and Montenegro, on the subject of Albania without comment except in the headlines. There they have received such labels as "amazing action by American Minister" and "American Minister's strange statement." The Times yesterday headed Mr. Williams' second statement with the line "American Minister's further indiscretions." In the British Foreign Office and the London diplomatic set the affair has caused great amusement.

CLARK EYES PRESIDENCY. Speaker Is Making Most of Anti-Wilson Sentiment in Party.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, July 4.—Speaker Clark, head of the Democratic party in the House of Representatives, is steering a course politically which will enhance his popularity with that growing element in the Democratic party that is antagonistic to President Wilson and his Administration.

While the Speaker is building up support for himself among the anti-Wilson Democrats, he is refusing to engage in any quarrel with the President. There was a break between the Speaker and the President on Panama Canal tolls, but the Speaker made it plain

HUNGARY ASKS AID

Country Comes With Appeal to Compatriots in America.

AUSTRIAN HEEL OPPRESSES

Leader of Independent Party Says Countrymen Leave Because They Cannot Exist at Home.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the Independent party in the Hungarian Parliament, arrived today on the steamer Vaterland, to resume in earnest his labor of bringing to the attention of the American people a sense of the plight of their countrymen at home.

The Count's first word as he was met on board the Vaterland was in reference to the assassination of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand. His attitude was not one of conventional condolence.

"I am sorer than I can say," said Count Karolyi. "It is a great loss to our party, for the late Archduke would have been much more liberal than the present regime."

Universal Franchise Desired. "We have of course been resigned to this, for although the present Emperor is not out of sympathy with our democracy, he has been so influenced by the ill advice of his counselors that it has been impossible to reach him. As for the present heir apparent—"

The Count finished the sentence with a shrug of the shoulders. "My errand to this country can be explained in a word, and that is to complete what I started when I was here before. I want to win the moral support of the Hungarians in this country for our cause—that of universal franchise for their countrymen at home. Linked with this is our campaign for social and agrarian reform and the economic separation of Hungary from Austria. Hungary is crushed beneath the heel of Austria."

Hungarians Cannot Live at Home. Count Karolyi calls himself a National Democrat. He had not fully arranged his campaign in this country, but said he expected to be here five weeks and to visit the principal Southern and Western cities.

"I don't want to have it thought that I have come to meddle in American politics," said the Count. "Every year 100,000 Hungarians come to this country, but they cannot exist in their own country, politically or economically. It is with them I am principally concerned. I want them to tell their countrymen in Hungary what real democracy is."

DUKE STILL CHAMPION. KAHANAMOKU ESTABLISHES NEW COAST SWIM RECORD.

Perry McGilivray Is Beaten by Nose in 220-Yard Contest in San Francisco Aquatic Meet.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Duke Kahanamoku, world's champion Hawaiian swimmer, carried off the honors in today's championship swimmer matches here, establishing a new Pacific Coast record of 2 minutes, 26 4/5 seconds in the 220-yard dash and retaining his title as world's champion in the 100-yard distance. The champion was handily defeated by a nose in both events, winning literally by a nose from Perry McGilivray, of the Illinois Athletic Club in the 220-yard race.

Kahanamoku was pressed to the limit, too, in his first race, the 100-yard dash, by A. C. Rathel, of the Illinois Club, who finished less than 12 inches behind the Hawaiian. The champion's remarkable fish-like turn on the laps gave him both races apparently, though he finished strong each time. His time in the century was one-fifth of a second slower than his world's record of 54 4/5 seconds. His time today was 54 4/5. Rathel, McGilivray and the champion all used the Australian crawl stroke.

Deploying wonderful speed, Miss Dorothy Becker won handily the 50-yard women's dash in 32 2/5 seconds, with Miss Marguerite Brack second, and Helen Meyer, third.

With a finish and a nicety in form astonishing to his Pacific Coast spectators,

LA GRANDE, Or., July 4.—(Special.)—Ng Poon Chew, noted Chinese lecturer, opened the 10 days' session of the Grand Ronde Chautauqua Association, his address on the "New Chinese Republic" attracting a record-breaking first-night crowd, in spite of a drizzle which has threatened all evening to become a downpour.

'ARMY' USES STRATEGY

GENERAL KELLEY'S MEN SLIP SECRETLY INTO WASHINGTON.

Colonel Middy Admonished by Capt. Police and Released on Promise He Will Go Away.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—General Kelley's "army" of unemployed, which made its way from the Pacific Coast by foot and rail and which has been encamped on the Virginia side of the Potomac River for the last week, today stole quietly into Washington.

It marched up Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol and on the steps of the main entrance held sway for 15 minutes before being discovered by the police. Permission to speak from the steps of the Capitol had been refused by Vice-President Marshall, but with Congress not in session, and few people about, "Colonel" Charles McLennan, commanding officer, thought it a good time to steal a march on Congress.

"Colonel" McLennan was taken into custody, but was not locked up. His assurances that the "army" would retreat from the Capitol grounds, gained the offices of the Capitol police after being mildly admonished, his bugler blew a blast on a bent and much twisted bugle, and with the "colonel" at the head, the army marched away.

"Colonel" McLennan said tonight he would leave soon for California. How long he would stay here, or what would become of the "army" he did not indicate. He admitted they were penniless.

Holy Cross Church Celebrates. An all-day celebration of Independence day was held at Columbia University under the auspices of the people of the Holy Cross Church yesterday. Father Murphy, pastor of the church, and his assistants had charge of the event. In the afternoon following a picnic dinner, games and sports were enjoyed, and in the evening the campus was illuminated with Japanese lanterns and a display of fireworks was given. Nearly 2000 persons attended the picnic.

The winner's time for the course of 467 1/2 miles was 7 hours, 1 minute, 14 1/5 seconds.
