ATHLETIC TITLES WON BY AMERICANS

Championships in High Jump and Half-Mile Race Are Wrested From Britons.

NEW YORKERS TAKE BOTH

Yale Man Barely Loses in 120-Yard Hurdles at Stamford Bridge. English Holder Retains Honors in 100-Yard Contest.

LONDON, July 4.—W. M. Oler, Jr., and Homer Baker carried the colors of the New York Athletic Club to victory today in the high jump and the half-mile flat race...

W. F. Potter, of Yale University, also made a splendid bid for the 120 yards hurdles title...

Oler, with a magnificent effort in his last try, took the high jump title from R. H. Baker, of Liverpool...

Both cleared 8 feet 3 inches. Then the Englishman failed thrice at 6 feet 2 3/4 inches...

W. R. Appleghar, of the Polytechnic Harriers, in addition to retaining the title for the 100 yards...

Such "gum shoe" tactics placed all the regulars out of the running...

It was not the fault of the handicapping committee, either, for the majority of the scores were so mixed up that there was no way of compromising or explaining it...

ARTISTRY OF PROFANITY URGED BY JAMES MONTGOMERY FLAGG.

President's "Tut, Tut" Disappointing From Man With His Fine Vocabulary and Great Opportunity.

In the July American Magazine James Montgomery Flagg, the celebrated wit and artist, does an amusing piece about golf...

"What incentive would it be for the tiresome business man to skip out to the links in the morning if he couldn't feel that at least there was one spot where he could unload some outdoor language that he had stored up...

"Restraint and artistry should always be used. In other words, make the Cuss in the Shot. The truly great golfer does not just waste language to use for each shot or mishap...

"Swing over the ball in presence of witnesses. Sliding when you have advanced your right foot to correct the tendency..."

"Topping your drive for the third time. Lifting ball out of sand pit over bunker into another sand pit..."

"Hitting elm tree and having to go back 200 yards for ball. Driving ball into pond and head of club coming off..."

"Opponent holding his watch on you when you have lost your ball O Scoundrel! Thoudth Bawentinn Friedenz 1 1 1."

"When you start out with a joyous private hunch that you are on your game and you foolishly every shot in 18 holes O Brown the Plugetial Bolo-feathered Smorcken to Eternal Gadunkensloam..."

"See when I mean? Prudent Wilson could have done much better than 'Tut, tut!' a man of his education and advantage! He probably didn't realize that it was a snobbish thing to do when everybody had a right to expect so much more of a man of his exalted position..."

"Badminton" is Portland's Latest Fad in Sport. Rockeup Man Has Honor of Laying Out First Court of Game, for Outfit for Which E. T. Allen Had to Send to Victoria.

BY MAY KELLY. OF COURSE you've heard of it—all well-informed individuals have—but it's a safe wager that you can't tell right off the bat whether "Badminton" is a German watering place, some new kind of crockery ware, or one of those intricate puzzles you buy for the children at Christmas time...

HARVARD GETS CUP AT HENLEY REGATTA

Grand Challenge Trophy Won From Boston at Big English Water Event.

DIAMOND SCULLS ITALY'S

Cambridge Man Collapses in Final Within 300 Yards of Finish—England Takes Only Two Minor Awards at Regatta.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 4.—The two leading trophies contested at the Henley regatta were won today by foreigners, the grand challenge cup falling into the hands of the Harvard crew...

The weather was perfect when the Union Boat Club of Boston and the Harvard crew went to the starting line...

Harvard then drew away and led a third of a length at three-quarters of a mile. At the mile post Harvard had increased its advantage to three-quarters of a length...

Harvard crossed the finishing line a length and a quarter ahead in seven minutes, 26 seconds. It was a magnificent race throughout.

In the final of the diamond sculls, M. Stuart, of Cambridge, led Singsgala all the way to within 50 yards of the finishing line...

Italy's sculler finished alone in nine minutes, as Stuart had stepped just after passing the mile post. The Cambridge man had to be lifted out of the boat and taken on board the umpire's launch.

England was slightly compensated for the loss of the grand challenge cup by the victory of Leader over the Mayence Rowing Club of Germany...
