Conference of Leading Merchants in Foreign Trade Called for Next Week.

NAVY MAY HAUL FREIGHT

Grain and Cotton Crop Must Be Handled in Government's View and Way of War Crisis Will Be Sought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Confronted with the problem of disposing of the country's enormous grain and cotton crops, the Administration made plans Friday for a conference in Washington next week of representatives of the leading shipping interests and foreign exchange bankers.

The bankers have been asked to come to Washington to confer on plans for a resumption of the international exchange market and restore the use of international bills of exchange. The shipping men will be asked to move American grain and cotton to the European markets which have taken them so liberally heretofore.

CARRIERS REPORTED OUT

POSTAL EMPLOYEES HEAR OF THEIR REMOVAL FROM SERVICE. Bill Said to Have Been Passed in Congress Held Return to Old System of Spools.

According to advices received Friday night by the Portland Association of Lettercarriers from M. T. Finnan, acting secretary of the National Association of Lettercarriers, Congress has passed a bill removing all classified employees from the civil service in all post offices.

The organization committee of the Portland Association of Lettercarriers, W. J. McGinnis, H. E. Coleman and W. F. Brown, said last night that they had no intimation such a measure was being considered in Congress.

The Senate again failed to pass the amendment to the Panama Canal act admitting to American register foreign-built ships less than five years old. Some opposition developed, but the bill is expected to pass.

NEW GLASS EYE TO MOVE

Gold Foundation for False Optic to Make It Hard to Detect. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—An interesting operation, which demonstrates the latest step in surgery of the eye, was performed recently at the clinic of Dr. C. E. Wood at the Eye Hospital, in the presence of a number of visiting physicians and spectators of the hospital staff. The operation consisted of the replacing of the contents of a contracted and inflamed eye with a gold sphere, which will fill the orbit and form a firm foundation for the subsequent insertion of a glass eye which will give the patient a healthy eye and will thus give a perfectly natural appearance.

The patient, a man of 40 years old, had lost the sight of the eye through an injury several years ago and the eye recently became inflamed and discharging the sight of the other eye. Enucleation, or removal of the eyeball, was performed and the gold sphere was inserted, covered with the outer membrane and stitched into place. The muscles which move the eyeball which had been severed during the operation were attached to their proper position. The surgeons expect the operation would heal in about three weeks. The glass eye will be held in place by the upper and lower eyelids, and being closely adherent to the firm foundation formed by the insertion of the gold sphere, will move with it in a natural manner.

Dr. Withycombe spent yesterday in Oregon City, where he met personally with the leading business men of the city, among whom he has a wide acquaintance. Today he will deliver the principal address at the annual picnic of Garfield, which will be held at Garfield, located in the Estacada district, is one of the thriving communities of Clackamas County. The picnic is the year in that locality and it is expected that several hundred will attend.

Dr. Withycombe's address will be a "Rural Problems," with a particular emphasis on matters of rural credits. Washburn of Yellowhammer is Fishhook, While Fly Is Made of Partridge Feathers—Willow Bark Hat Decorates Head.

BY A. L. FAIRBROTHER. KNOWLES CAMP, Klamath National Forest (Via Holland and Grants Pass, Or.), Aug. 8.—(Special.)—We passed several hours in the woods with Joe Knowles today, the 15th day of his "nature man" test in the Klamath Forest.

Professor Edwards and The Oregonian reporter came across Knowles on the trail three miles from camp, on Indian Creek. The professor had left a note asking Joe to meet us.

His skin was browned almost to copper and was roughened and torn by brush. His feet were still swollen and cracked, but healing rapidly. His hands were black with crusted dirt. He usually ate a couple of smoked fish. He had a little stream which runs into Indian Creek. He is working on a new scheme. This is an impressionistic picture of a landscape made with the materials he finds in the woods.

"You have no idea how quiet the woods are, especially at night," he said. "The least unusual sound wakes me. The other night I was aroused by the snapping of a twig. I lifted to my elbow and saw a pair of eyes in the brush close by, looking into mine. I waited down to my side for a club and waited. I do not know whether it was a deer or a panther, but it was simply an animal attracted by my fire. He did not want me."

"Then Joe took us for a little excursion in the woods, found his lunch in a berry and fern patch, drove fish out from rocks and discovered a new kind of fungus. Knowles walked up the trail toward home with us and bade us all good-bye for two more weeks."

UMBRELLA IS DENOUNCED. Babylon, L. I., Man Would Punish Careless Welders. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Joseph Rankin, who said he was from Babylon, L. I., asserted that he had never carried an umbrella during the 50 years of his existence, and never would, even if he lived to be as old as Methuselah. When asked his reason, Rankin said: "The things are a nuisance, anyway—more trouble than they can possibly be good. They make thieves of honest people, who are tempted to pick them up anywhere they find them, never dreaming they are really stealing. I have been jabbed in the sides and nose more times by the things in the hands of careless people than I am years old, and I would a thousand times rather get soaked wet every day in the week, than to be subjected to the pain of carrying an umbrella under any circumstances.

"No, I am not considered a crank by the people who know me best, but I am no frisker of the umbrella and am trying to educate my two small boys to let the umbrella alone during life and avoid much trouble. I would like to see a law enacted to punish the careless umbrella handler—the man or woman who pokes you in the ribs or nose."

We devote one entire floor in our building to the display and sale of those appliances which make for the relief and cure of bodily defects and deformities. No house west of Chicago carries as large a representative line.

The fitting of Trusses, a very important part of our business, is entrusted only to skilled men and women, who devote their entire time and attention to this responsible task. Hearing Appliances, Invalid Chairs, sick room needs, such as Bedside Tables, Back Rests and a thousand and one minor devices, which greatly help in alleviating the discomforts and pain of the patient, we have in endless variety. A visit to this department is well worth while.
