ROAD DIVIDES COUNTY

COLUMBIA FACTORS DISAGREE OVER HIGHWAY FUNDS.

Rival Recall Campaigns Are Threatened Against Court and Injunction May Tie Up All Construction.

ST. HELENS, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The Columbia Highway, which was intended to bring the two ends of Columbia County together, has been the cause of a break between the two sections. The bond issue proposal served to fix the line of separation and charges and counter charges have been made and threats to recall the County Court and move the county seat exchanged. By the election $250,000 was voted to be applied to the main road. As the lower end of the county is rougher, and more work would be required in it, the main highway was divided into two sections. Bids were received for the north half, and it was found $289,000 was the least it could be constructed for. With the $250,000 bond issue and a probable $90,000 county fund, only $350,000 was available for the whole road. By an agreement a strip at Goble and one west of Rainier were to be omitted and $80,000 thereby saved for the south end of the road. Now the highway is nearing completion and the agreement appears to have been forgotten. Next the State Highway Commission wanted a survey on the west side of the railroad track, leaving out St. Helens. A stormy meeting followed at St. Helens and later a compromise was reached whereby St. Helens would be included on the highway. The St. Helens strip could not be built with the bond issue funds, so it was arranged for special county funds to be used. This called for a recall petition against the County Court. Further differences are threatened as the result of any move to get funds to complete the north end and to meet

MR. U'REN AND MENAGE

PROTESTS AGAINST PAPER'S EXCLUSION FROM LIBRARY.

Thinks Oregon City People Should Have Right to Read Rabid Anti-Catholic Organ and Other Papers.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—W. S. U'ren has addressed the following letter to the Public Library Board, of which he is a member: "I was unable to attend the last meeting of the Public Library Board, but I learn that the members who did attend ordered the paper called the Menace excluded from the Public Library. I am told that some of our citizens contributed this paper to the Public Library and that since Miss Price was employed the Menace has been destroyed as soon as it was received from the postoffice. "By its action Tuesday evening, the board officially sanctions and approves this censorship by the librarians of the reading matter for the patrons and the people of Oregon City who support the library. "What a perpetual teaches is not the concern of the Public Library officers. The people pay for the Public Library and they have a right to receive and read such literature there as pleases them, if it does not violate the law. "I have no personal interest in the admission or exclusion of any periodical or book, but I am very deeply interested in the freedom of the press to print, and of the people to read, all such matters as are not unlawful. At the next meeting of the directors, I shall offer a resolution instructing the librarian to receive and keep on file for the public the Menace so long as it is carried and delivered by the United States postal authorities and is demanded by the patrons of the Public Library. "It is to be hoped that President McBain will not resign if the Menace is admitted to the Public Library files. After his splendid service and self-sacrifice in making the Oregon City
