

Latest Style News From Meier & Frank's

Daily Arrivals of Newest Apparel Depict Every Fancy of Fashion

THE NEW SUITS—

—are extremely modish, depicting style features most gratifying to women who look for that note of personality in their garments. The wide diversity of styles makes it possible for every woman—no matter what her stature may be—to dress smartly and becomingly.

A noticeable feature of the Suit Coats is the tendency towards the semi-fitted effects, found in the new Redingote style, the Basque Coat, and others—although there are quite a number with the box back, especially in the short Coats. The extremely short length and the 45 or 48-inch lengths are very popular. The Skirts are cut in varied styles—the Polonaise—long and short Tunics and new Yoke Skirts probably leading in popularity. Some are very narrow at the hem, with a slit in each side—others wide, with a slight flare. Materials are principally broadcloth, gabardines, chevrons, serges, chiffon velvets, and velour gabardines. Some of the colors are black, navy, tete-de-negre, Russian green, plum and elderberry, while checks in dark colors have a prominent place. Buttons and braid are used greatly in trimming. Visit our Garment Salons and inspect our full line of modish Suits. There's a wide range of prices.

The Newest Walking Dresses—

—show a radical change from past seasons—and here you'll find Dame Fashion's latest edict in styles, colors and materials. The skirt length is short, while the skirt—in many of its new forms—has a smooth-fitting hipline, with a gradual introduction of fullness below. In some cases the fullness is just in the long tunic, but in many cases is in the skirt itself.

In this large selection of Walking and Street Dresses are serges, serge and satin combinations, satins, gabardines, and crepes, in navy, black, brown, green, and plum colors. One striking combination is the model with sub-skirt of one material and accordion plaited tunic of another material. The Girdle and Sash, in its various modifications, is much in evidence. The White Organdie Guimpe with the new high collar is also shown. Prices range from $12.50 to $35.

Featuring the "Newest" in Children's Wear

Bewitching White Dresses—

—in the very latest French, Empire, and Dutch styles, are here for your selection. 'Twould be as impossible to express their exquisiteness and charm, as to describe the many original styles involved in the making. Materials are of fine nainsook and lawn—trimmings of dainty Swiss embroideries, Val. laces, insertions and ribbon. High or low neck and long or short sleeve styles are here. Sizes from 2 to 6 years. Prices range from 98¢ to $9.75.

Lovely Wool Sweaters—

—fresh and new—in the latest styles, are included in this showing. They're of fine, soft wool—with or without belts—with the new collars that button closely about the throat. Colors are pink, sky blue, tan, oxford, cardinal, white, and white trimmed with pink or blue. Sizes 1 to 5 years. The four illustrated were sketched from this group. These "coomy" little Sweaters are priced from $1.50 to $4.50. SEE WINDOW DISPLAY.

CATHOLIC VICTORY WON

NON-SECTARIAN INSTRUCTION IN BAVARIAN SCHOOLS ENDS.

Plan Fought From Start by Clericals Finally Is Abandoned, According to Edict Approved by King.

MUNICH, Aug. 15.—Bavaria's brief permitance of non-sectarian religious instruction has ended, according to an edict issued by the Minister of Education, with the approval of the King. The result is a complete victory for the dominant clerical party, which from the start strongly resisted any change in the old order of things.

Upon the demand of Bavarian liberals, non-sectarian instruction was permitted in a limited number of schools attended largely by the children of dissenting or free-thinking parents. The Catholics opposed it from the first.

In the meeting of the upper chamber of the kingdom, at which the Minister of Education announced his decision to revoke the permission for non-sectarian teaching, the spokesman of the clericals declared that there could be no such thing as an unregulated freedom of conscience. To require that children receive religious instruction approved by the state was no violation of the religious liberty guaranteed by the constitution, even if this instruction did not correspond with the belief of their free-thinking parents.

Minister von Knilling, of the Department of Education, said an investigation of the schools where non-sectarian teaching had been permitted showed that this instruction was in direct conflict with the religious and moral principles upon which the Catholics aver the state must insist for its schools.

ARMY STUDENTS WILD

ENGLISH TRAINING SCHOOL SCENE OF MUCH TROUBLE RECENTLY.

Two Expelled and Many Suspended, Requiring Prohibition to Be Placed on Amusements.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Breaches of discipline at the British military school at Sandhurst, which is the West Point of the British army, have been so numerous lately that General Sir Charles Douglas, chief of the Imperial General Staff, who recently inspected the school, sharply reminded the students that they were not merely public school students but officers of the British army. During the past year there have been two expulsions and a greater number of suspensions than ever before.

In contrast with the strict discipline which is understood here to be enforced at the American military establishment on the Hudson, the student fun and exuberance at Sandhurst are as common and as turbulent as at the public schools or average American college.

The local picture palace and a theater were recently put out of bounds at Sandhurst on account of the rough behavior of the students, and the most popular hotel there has suffered the same prohibition. According to the newspapers, hazing has been unusually frequent.

Mock funerals are sometimes awarded to popular men when they are separated from the institution. One cadet was given a funeral with full military honors, the "corpse" driving to the station in a cab with his riding boots hung reversed across the charger in the shafts.

"Radium banks" have been established in a few European cities. These banks possess a few milligrams of radium. They lend their radium for one day for $200 for surgical or other use. Radium sales, it is said, may be resolutely used without losing any of their properties.

DYES TO BE MADE HERE

CHEMICAL MANUFACTURERS TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF WAR.

Americans Plan to Supply Demands of Fabric Mills That Usually Rely on Germany for Material.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—American manufacturers of chemicals are planning to take advantage of the present scarcity of foreign dyes and the probability that the war will prevent shipments from Germany for a long period by providing for all the requirements of American factories and later extending their campaign to other countries. This will prevent a general closing of fabric mills because of the shutting off of the supply of dyes.

William M. Johnson, a director of the General Chemical Company, who returned not long ago from a trip to Europe, made a statement in which he said that the reason the great chemical concerns of this country have not made dyes is because German chemists have specialized in this branch of work for many years and have reached such a state of perfection that they can separate coal tar into nearly a score of different dyes and can do so at such a low cost that competition was unprofitable.

"Because the low cost has made German dyes in demand in this country a belief has arisen that American chemists cannot make as beautiful dyes as the Germans," said Mr. Johnson. "But they can. They have as many different colors as the Germans, but they have simply been kept out of the market because they could not meet the foreign price. I believe that in a very short time American dyes equal in every way to those made in Germany will be on the market here. Manufacturers will probably have to pay more for them than for the German product, but if it comes to a question of paying a higher price or closing the fabric mills they will probably pay the higher price."

Mr. Johnson said that he did not believe the American chemical companies would sit idle and wait for the German factories to reopen and fill orders from this country. He thought that an American-made supply would be forthcoming in a very short time and that the dye industry of this country would advance rapidly.

"There is no great mystery about making dyes," said Mr. Johnson. "American chemical manufacturers have any number of chemists able to devise ways of producing the coal tar dyes."

"All the machinery required can be made in this country and the machinery manufacturers are not more likely to lose the opportunity presented than are the chemists. It is altogether probable that when the present supply is exhausted the American-made product will be turned out in a sufficient quantity to keep the great mills of the country going."

DESPITE CURTAILED SUPPLIES OF DRUGS, CHEMICALS AND PERFUME OILS FROM FRANCE AND GERMANY

Lowest Prices Prevail on Toilet Needs and Drugs AT MEIER & FRANK'S

The present strife conditions in European countries have severely curtailed the shipments of Drugs, Chemicals, Perfumes and Perfume Oils from both France and Germany, and even many of the American makes of perfumes will be greatly affected by this lack of supply, as many foreign flower oils are used by American makers of perfumes. This same condition affects the importation of French and English Brushes, Parisian and English Ivory.

We hasten to assure our patrons that even confronting such shortage of supplies, our stocks are in a particularly fortunate condition of completeness. Earlier than usual our buyer visited the markets and bought exceedingly heavy stocks for Fall and Christmas needs, including the famous Coty's, Piver's and Houbigan's Perfumes, Loonen's Parisian Ivory, British Ivory, Kent Brushes, Henckel's Twin Brand Knives and Scissors and Maniere Roll-Ups—and we now make emphatic announcement that while any such merchandise remains in our stocks prices will not be advanced and our determination not to be undersold will be more than ever in evidence.

An exceptional number of desirable Toilet Goods and Drug items is greatly underpriced for six days' selling, beginning tomorrow. We are all to supply their needs of Foreign Perfumes, Parisian Ivory, Toilet Articles and Imported Brushes and Cutlery, while our present low prices prevail.
