

ENDING WASTE OF FRUIT IS PLANNED

Selling Agency for By-Products to Be Considered at Session September 10.

STANDARDIZATION ALSO UP

Committee Appointed at National Apple Show Issues Call to Representatives of Plants in Four Northwest States.

The beginning of another great movement for the conservation of wasted fruit and vegetables from the farms of the Northwest is to be founded in Portland September 10, when representatives of canneries and by-product plants will convene at the Commercial Club to consider plans for launching a great central selling agency, the location and establishment of evaporating plants and the beginning of standardization of the manufactured goods. An effort is being made to procure the attendance of representatives of every by-product plant in the States of Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon. Of such high importance is the meeting considered to be that all railroads have made reduced rates for the meeting.

The committee which issued the call for the proposed meeting was appointed last November at the National Apple Show at Spokane, and consists of H. C. Sampson, secretary of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors; J. F. Batchelder, Hood River; P. P. Weyrauch, Walla Walla; D. D. Olds, Wenatchee; J. H. Chapman, Milton; Professor W. S. Brown, Corvallis; C. J. Davis, North Yakima; M. J. Higley, Payette; H. M. Sloan, Florence, Mont., and Robert E. Strahorn, Portland.

Small Plants Handicapped.
"Fruit and vegetable growers of the Northwest states have not only suffered enormous losses through being unable to sell large quantities of their second and third-grade products, but where canneries have existed, or other by-product plants have operated, it has been found that the small plant was unable to bear the heavy expense of proper selling," said Wilmer F. Sieg, manager of the Western Oregon Fruit Distributors.

"Small manufacturing concerns have competed with each other for a limited market, resulting in losses, or such small profits as to discourage many communities engaging in by-product manufacturing. Consequently, great quantities of fruit and vegetables have gone to waste each year, and in many communities farms have been made to produce only enough to support the family of the farmer instead of making his acres profitable."

Marketing Held Big Problem.
"There is no question but that the canneries and processors of the Northwest can turn out just as good a quality of product as any concerns in the world. They can also do it at as small an expense, until they reach the marketing end of the business. That is where failure usually finds a peg to hang its hat on."

"It is also true, especially in connection with the cooperative canneries of past years, that men were in charge of the business who were not skilled in the selling end of affairs. These things being true, the committee, which has spent almost a year in a careful investigation of the marketing situation, will propose that the meeting of September 10 shall create a central selling organization for handling the canned and by-products of the Northwest through its own paid agents. As I understand it, the plan somewhat resembles that adopted by W. H. Paulhamus, at Puyallup, and that of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors for handling fresh fruits."

Standardization Is Required.
"Through this plan every manufacturer will be required to put up his product on an identical standard, and he will receive the price it sells for, less the actual cost of its marketing."

"It is also proposed to give supervision to communities having canneries in operation and those that may desire to put in such plants. Skilled processors will be found and placed in charge of such plants, and the entire by-product business systematized and put on an harmonious working basis. Our agricultural colleges will be urged to establish technical courses for teaching the by-product business, and arrangements will be made to finance the operations of by-product plants which are affiliated with the organization."

While in conference with members of the committee yesterday Professor W. S. Brown pointed out the grave necessity for providing protection for the grower of loganberries, apples, peaches and pears.

Small Juice Plants Suggested.
"Experiments with loganberry juice are most convincing of its commercial value," said Professor Brown. "However, the very ripe berries which are just right for the juice mills are poor shippers. This suggests the idea of small local juice plants well located to serve the grower and from which the product can be economically assembled for manufacture into a marketable product."

And there can be only one mind concerning the necessity for large drying or evaporating plants, so located that the fruit men can ship their "C" grade fruits to them at a profit."

WOMAN FEARS LIVESAVERS
Though House Is Burning Resident Defies Her Rescuers.
Mrs. L. M. Clark, residing with Mrs. K. E. Buehler, 3777 Schuyler street, was seriously injured in a fire which destroyed the residence early yesterday, according to amateur firemen. The fire was discovered by the crew of a passing train. The railroad men broke into the house and found the two women in bed while the house was burning. Mrs. Buehler was carried to safety and when the rescuers returned Mrs. Clark refused to be moved, the trainmen declared. Pleadings, argument and protests were of no avail and finally the frantic "firemen" their own clothing afire, forcibly carried Mrs. Clark from the burning house. She said she wanted to get fully dressed.

Law Firm Is Formed.
Ex-Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court, Justice of the District Attorney John Manning and Attorney Barke E. Leonard have formed a law partnership to be under the name of Manning, Slater & Leonard. The members are all well known in Oregon legal circles.

BIG AUCTION IS FIXED

PORTLAND REALTY, 40 PAGES, GO UNDER HAMMER.

Fred A. Jacobs Company Completes Arrangements for Sale at Hotel Portland, Sept. 10 and 11.

The Fred A. Jacobs Company has completed arrangements for their big auction at the Hotel Portland on September 10 and 11, which is the most important real estate event held here in years.

This auction is being held in conjunction with A. J. Rich & Co., of San Francisco and New York, and they will give the local firm the benefit of their Eastern experience and methods, which will now be tried in Portland. The Jacobs auction catalogue contains a half-tone or diagram of 40 parcels of land, sets forth about 40 parcels to be sold, and the list is varied enough to fill every demand.

The back page of the catalogue sets forth facts of Portland's greatness, and carries this forceful slogan: "Portland grows and grows and grows." If nothing else, the firm deserves immense credit for their courage to undertake this auction in the face of the present war disturbance in Europe, but they have communicated with their financial people all along the coast, who have assured them that the war can do nothing but be of immense benefit to the coast, as eventually Europe is bound to send at least 20 per cent of the population to the coast after the present disturbance is over, and on account of the operation of the Panama Canal the firm insists that in the next ten years Portland will have an assessed valuation of $600,000,000 and a population of half a million people.

SEASIDE BAND PLANS TRIP

Pendleton Roundup to Be Visited by Party of Boosters.

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Arrangements are now being made by the Seaside Band to attend the Pendleton Roundup in a body. The boys expect to go by auto, combining a pleasant trip with a large-sized bunch of boosting for Seaside. In addition to the conventional band uniform, the members of the band have a fatigue uniform of strikingly colored macintosh coats and hats that never fail to draw a comment.

As boosters, they have shown themselves to be leaders, among their activities being the issuing of a paper at the driving of the first piling for the terminal at Flavel and another for the Fourth of July celebration here this year. Both were much sought and elicited the press comment of the entire Northwest.

DRUG USERS SENTENCED

Members of Alleged Ring to Be Treated While in Jail.

Acting Municipal Judge Haney sentenced William Simmons, Charles Hill, John Taylor, George W. Russell and Charles Cooper to 60 days each on the rockpile yesterday. The men were arrested in recent raids upon the alleged drug ring existing in Portland.

Judge Haney, in passing sentence, stated that the sentence was not designed as a punishment, but as a means of giving the alleged dope fiends an opportunity to take the cure. They will be treated by City Physician Ziegler while in jail. Sidney Holgate, another of the alleged fiends, was released and his sentence continued.

ADVERTISING NOT HURT

LARGE EASTERN CONCERN CONTINUE WITH CAMPAIGNS.

Six-Point League Members at Meeting Find Encouraging Signs and Predict General Prosperity.

With good crops and a ready market, freight rates settled, the new currency law in operation and new export markets opening to American trade, big Eastern advertisers are going right ahead with their fall campaign of publicity, without regard to events in Europe, according to information received from the Six-Point League, which is composed of special agents representing leading newspapers of the country. The following letter has been sent out by F. St. John Richards, president of the organization:

"At a recent meeting of the league, attended by the New York representatives of 623 leading newspapers, the effect of the war on newspaper advertising was discussed. The feeling was decidedly optimistic and the general tone encouraging."

"It was shown that steamship and travel advertising comprise the bulk of business that has been definitely canceled, and that advertisers not intimately affected by lack of ocean transportation were going ahead with their fall campaigns. Contracts already made are of normal proportions. The fact that crops are good and the market ready for them; that the freight rate is settled; that the new currency law is soon to be in operation and that new export markets are to be open for our trade, means large wealth for the producers of this country and good business for those who seek it in a reasonable manner."

Democrat Lauds Republicans.
"You bet I am not going to vote against my pocket again," was a remark recently made by a prominent Linn County Democrat, according to W. C. DePew, of Lebanon, who passed yesterday here. He stated that there were a great many other Democrats in his neighborhood who felt the same way and were going to vote the Republican ticket this year and take no more chances. Mr. DePew was one of the original Whittier men in Linn County, having supported the doctor during the primary campaign through the columns of his paper, the Lebanon Times, was discussed. The feeling was decidedly optimistic and the general tone encouraging."

Rev. Billy Sunday to Speak

Rev. Billy Sunday, the baseball evangelist, speaks this morning at 10:30 at the First Methodist Church South, Multnomah street and Union avenue. His topic for this afternoon talk to men only at the White Temple, Twelfth and Taylor streets, is "Get on the Water Wagon." Rev. Mr. Sunday arrives this morning from Hood River.

KNISPEL IS SENTENCED

MEMBER OF "DOPE RING" GIVEN 100 DAYS AND FINED $200.

Anti-Capital Punishment Advocate Denies Use of Drug and Would Prove Assertions by Trial.

Julius Knispel, Socialist speaker and anti-capital punishment advocate, was sentenced to 100 days on the rockpile and fined $200 by Acting Municipal Judge Haney yesterday. Knispel was convicted Friday of selling morphine to dope fiends.

"I have known you for nearly 10 years," said the judge in passing sentence, "and during most of that time you have used drugs occasionally. Sometimes you looked as if you were suffering for lack of it and again you appeared as if you were using it. You are using it now. There are a certain class of dope fiends that cannot secure drugs direct from druggists and there is another class of people that act as the go-between to furnish the fiends with drugs purchased or secured from physicians. You belong to the latter class. I am satisfied that you have been peddling these drugs."

"I am not a dope fiend," was his denial, "and to prove such I will, if necessary, allow myself to be put in solitary confinement for four days to prove my wife said she would divorce me if she can get along without the drug."

Knispel said she would divorce me if she believed I was guilty and this morning she said she did not believe that I was and would stick by me."

Knispel pleaded in his own behalf and announced that he will appeal.

TOURIST NOT HEARD FROM

Portland Resident Thought to Be in Alsace-Lorraine.

Mrs. Kate Michels, of 271 Multnomah street, is in the very heart of the German-French war district and her relatives have had no word from her for more than a month. Mrs. Michels is visiting her sister at Trier, in Alsace-Lorraine. She had just gone there from Cologne when the war broke out. Mrs. Michels had expected to make an extended tour of Europe before returning to her home in Portland.

"My uncle and my cousins have probably all enlisted in the German army," said Mrs. Julius Knispel, Mrs. Michels' daughter. "Mother is probably staying there with my aunt to take care of the place."

PACKERS ISSUE DENIAL

Chicago Company Says It Has No Intention to Profit by War.

In a statement issued by Armour & Company, meat packers of Chicago, any intention to take advantage of the war in advancing wheat prices is disclaimed.

The company courts investigation and pledges co-operation with the Government in investigating the matter. It denies having shipped vast quantities of meat to Canada, and declares that since the war began most prices have not advanced as much as three-quarters of a cent in any large city in the United States, although receipts at killing plants are less than in 1913 and beef importations from Argentina have stopped.

Government to Investigate Lights

The problem of eliminating the glare of motor headlights is to be taken up by the Federal Government. In compliance with a request of the Automobile Club of America, the bureau of standards, Department of Commerce, has devised a method of accomplishing this result, and this method is now being tested. Director S. W. Stratton, of the bureau, will not discuss the details of the new method. He believes that more definite announcement should wait the patenting of the method.

The forest service collected 40,000 pounds of tree seed last year for use in reforestation work. The total area reforested was about 30,000 acres.
