

WILD WEST STARS EAGER TO COMPETE

Walla Walla Finds Little Trouble in Closing Its Contracts for Season.

PIONEERS TO TAKE PART

Bleachers to Seat 10,000 More Than Last Year, While All Events Are of Better Class and More Contestants Are Entered.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—With the unprecedented success of the 1913 show to their credit, officers in charge of the staging of the 1914 Frontier Days entertainment are finding their task simplified.

Riders who stuck their noses in the air last year at the suggestion of the Walla Walla celebration are on the ground this year anxious for a tryout; Indians who had to be begged, and the usual Wild West features, almost put bodily on the train to get them to come are this year begging the management to let them take part; and in nearly every other department it is the same.

Pioneers to Return to Show. The show last year made a place for itself in the Northwest. It had the usual Wild West features, plus the pioneers, Walla Walla, the oldest interior settlement, has former residents scattered all over the Northwest. All will be back this year.

The Frontier Days celebration will last three days, September 17, 18 and 19. It will follow three days of fair and racing for the week.

Among the special features this year will be the daily flights by T. T. Maroney, in his Curtiss machine; a better contest in polo, with already 150 entries have been made; an auto race from Spokane to Walla Walla, September 16; roping of bears, buffalo and elk during the Frontier Days part of the show; a packers' contest, throwing the diamond hitch; boxing nightly under the auspices of the Walla Walla Amateur Athletic Club.

Bleachers Are Enlarged. In addition will be the regular Frontier Days entertainment.

Additional bleachers have been built this year to accommodate 10,000 more persons, and even this seating capacity it is believed will not be sufficient for the crowds, as special trains are expected from Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Pomeroy and other points. The grandstand for the Frontier Day show has been practically sold out and the bleacher seats have been going rapidly.

Roping Stars Sign Contracts.

In addition to the cowboys and cowgirls who will compete for prizes, a number of stars in the Wild West world have been signed. Lucille Mulhall, world's champion rope rider, and rider, has promised to appear. Rex McLeod, a champion roper and rider, will be here again. Weir brothers, of Texas, champion steer ropers, will again be featured. Will Bill Donovan, who does the drunken ride and drives chariots, is another who will come back. B. O. Gray, a roper, and Otto Klein, an actor, will also be featured.

Those who try for the bucking championship will compete for $1750, first prize being $500 in cash and a $500 saddle. Second prize is $250 cash and $250 saddle. Another big prize is for the cowboys' relay race for a purse of $1000. This race will start Monday and two miles will be run each day for six days.

Boxing Tournament Staged.

A feature which will draw many here from outside points is the three-day boxing tournament. There will be 40 rounds of boxing each night. The following clubs have made entries: Multnomah Athletic Club, Beaver Athletic Club, Sax Athletic Club, Army Athletic Club, Portland; Seattle Athletic Club; Vancouver, B. C. Athletic Club; Columbus Athletic Club; Newburg Athletic Club; Astoria Athletic Club; St. James Club; North Bend Boxing School, and Walla Walla Athletic Club.

In the better babies contest, entries for which will close September 16, the examination will start Monday and end Friday. The Woman's Home Companion offers medals and also diplomas for first winners in each division. Local prizes will be given also.

In addition to the Wild West features and the added attractions there will be the stock exhibit and the fair.

There will be a specially good exhibit of Walla Walla fruits, grains and grasses here this year. This exhibit will be shown at the State Fair in North Yakima and also at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco.

MOVERS' ESCAPE NARROW

Two Thrown Out of Upset Wagon Land in Seat of Auto.

CANYONVILLE, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—An accident that might have resulted more seriously befell some movers today when going up a steep hill about six miles from this place. The party was traveling in a covered wagon which, because of the narrow road, refused to keep the road, and when attempting to turn around on the lower side of the grade, the wagon overturned and two of the occupants, a woman and young girl, were thrown out, but both of them landed in the rear seat of the auto.

UNION DAIRYMEN ORGANIZE

Catherine Creek Association Formed and Bylaws Adopted.

UNION, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A permanent organization, known as the Catherine Creek Dairy-men's Association, was formed here today with headquarters at Union. W. A. Maxwell was elected president, W. S. Paddock vice-president and W. S. Miller secretary and treasurer.

This is the first organization of the kind in the county. By-laws were adopted and all necessary arrangements made for future work.

Roseburg Has Red Cross Workers.

ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A number of local Germans, Austrians and Hungarians assembled at the Commercial Club rooms here today and outlined a plan for raising funds for the Red Cross Society in Europe. Committees were appointed to care for the funds and see that they reach their proper destination.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Approximately 3700 electors had registered for the primary election to be held September 8 when the books closed at 9 o'clock tonight. There are 61 candidates for 14 county offices.

Columbia County Recall Petitions Affect None.

GRIEVANCES BOILED DOWN

Complaint Is That County Court is Building Columbia City—Warren Strip of Highway, Alleged "of No Benefit to People."

ST. HELENS, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)

The required five days have passed and the Columbia County officers, against whom recall petitions have been filed have not resigned. The real situation, however, has become clearer to the signers of the petitions and others since the recall was filed.

On analysis of the various grievances only one is alleged in the petitions, and this alone seems to be the only one raised in discussion. This complaint is that the County Court is building the Columbia City—Warren strip of the Columbia Highway, which is alleged as "of no benefit to the people it is intended to serve, and parallels the Columbia Highway already built" and at a cost of $22,000.

It is well known in the county that this road is nothing more nor less than the regular county road from Portland into Columbia City, passing through St. Helens to Columbia City, three miles below St. Helens, and is of the same benefit to its users it has been always.

The desire of the Street Commission, however, to have a straightaway course through the county prevented it from adopting this as its regular highway, but it did agree to allow the county to fix up this portion of the present road and would defer to the Columbia County the road through West St. Helens west of the tracks, and also agreed that the connection of this strip to the main course would not affect the state aid to be allowed to Columbia County on acceptance of the Columbia Highway.

CHEHALIS PLANS BIG FAIR

Entries of Stock Larger and Faster Horses are Promised.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The Chehalis County Fair opens at Elma September 21 and only good weather is needed to insure its success. The cattle barns have been enlarged and it is expected that the fair ground will be crowded to its full capacity. The better babies contest, which proved a big drawing card last year, will be repeated.

The races will be a feature of this year's fair, faster horses being entered than ever before. The racetrack has been widened ten feet and covered with clay, and it will only need a little rain to put it in the best of shape.

ROAD CHANGE PROPOSED

Tenoine People Favor Running Pacific Highway Through Bucoda.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—At a meeting held in Tenoine Thursday night attended by 25 members of the North End Improvement Club, of Centralia, and a similar number of Tenoine business men relative to the proposed change in the course of the Pacific Highway between the two towns so as to extend through Bucoda instead of Grand Mound, the following committee was appointed to employ a competent engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost of the change and to circulate petitions for presentation to Governor Lister and the State Legislature: A. W. Jones, Victor Jackson and Frank Graves, of Centralia; William McArthur, J. F. Cannon and S. W. Fen-ton, of Tenoine; P. F. Knight, Gus Bannas and Rudolph Morabach, of Bucoda, and Richard Ober, Charles Friend and E. S. Brooks, of Tenoine, acted as chairman of the meeting, at which it was reported that residents of Mendota, Tono and the Hannaford Valley are also anxious for the change. It is argued that the Bucoda route is the more direct of the two and that more people would be benefited by it.

KELSO RALLY IS HELD

PARADE OF TEMPERANCE WORKERS FOLLOWED BY BARBECUE.

Addresses Also Have Place—Sports Featured by Game Between Methodists and Presbyterians.

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)

The greatest celebration ever held in Coville County and one of the largest represented. Automobiles containing the parade was held at Kelso today. It began with a baseball match between the Methodists and Presbyterians, which was followed by a splendid parade.

The parade was under the command of Harry Ames, marshal of the day. One division consisted of about 50 women on horseback. Women wheeling baby carriages had banners, such as "Save the Babies," "Young Campaigners," children crusaders for the dry cause, were represented. Automobiles containing members of the City Council and Mayor Hubbell, who had returned from his strenuous campaign for the Progressive Congressional nomination, led this division. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union also had several floats.

VENERSBURG FETE TODAY

Swedish Land and Colonization Company to Have Picnic.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—A big harvest festival and picnic will be held by the colonists of the Swedish Land & Colonization Company at Venersburg tomorrow. The best exhibits shows will be taken to the Columbia River Interstate Fair, which is to open here Monday for a week.

Most interesting of the exhibits at the harvest festival will be those showing what can be done in a few years with logged-off land. The first prize last year for the best individual farm exhibit was won by Mrs. Mary Peterson, who did all the work herself in planting and harvesting her crops.

SPITE FENCES MAY PASS

Ordinance Would Prohibit Building Enclosures Over 6 Feet.

Spite fences will be prohibited in Portland if an ordinance which is to come before the City Commission Wednesday is passed. The measure, fathered by Commissioner Deck, would prohibit any fence from being built to a greater height than six feet, except fences about amusement parks, baseball grounds, race tracks and enclosures of that nature.

There has been considerable complaint recently about spite fences in several parts of the city. These have been erected between the homes of neighbors who are not friendly. If the ordinance as proposed is passed the spite fences now existing will have to come down.

West Indies Vessels to Register.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The United Fruit Company will enter under American registry 25 steamers with an aggregate tonnage of 117,000, now engaged in trade with the West Indies and Central and South America, according to a statement issued at the company's office today. Seven vessels under construction in England will also be placed under American registry.

LABOR DAY PLANS MADE

Centralia to Have Celebration Opening With Big Parade.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—The complete programme for the Labor Day celebration in Centralia Monday under the auspices of local and nearby unions was announced yesterday. The programme will open with a parade in the morning, and it is estimated that over 1000 union members will be in line. The coal miners of Mendota and Tono and the stonecutters of Tenoine are preparing to turn out in force.

Following the parade, there will be public speaking in the city park.

In the afternoon there will be races, followed by a soccer football game between Tono and Mendota. At night there will be open-air dancing.

SULLIVAN CENTER OF ILLINOIS FIGHT

Primaries September 9 Will Decide Democratic Senatorial Nomination.

SITUATION QUITE MUDDLED

Erstwhile Enemies Combine in Opposing Alleged Boss, Who Defies Them to Probe His Record. All Parties Divided.

BY SHAD O. KRANTZ. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Will Roger Sullivan be the next United States Senator from Illinois?

Can he be nominated by the Democratic primaries and if nominated can he defeat Lawrence Y. Sherman, the Republican incumbent, and Raymond Robin, the unopposed candidate of the Progressive party?

With the state preparing to hold its first Senatorial primaries September 9, these are about the only questions to which the voters are giving much consideration.

It is Sullivan or anti-Sullivan all over the state. Every party—Republican and Progressive as well as Democratic—has its Sullivan and its anti-Sullivan crowd. While Sullivan long has been identified with the Democratic party in state and nation, he has a strong following in each of the other parties.

Odds Favor Sullivan.

Right now the odds favor the nomination of Sullivan. That is principally because the Democratic opposition to Sullivan is badly split. There are three candidates against him, but only one is to be taken seriously. He is Lawrence B. Stringer, at present a member of Congress and one time a candidate against Deenoe for the Governor. The other Democratic candidates are Barrett O'Hara, the youthful Lieutenant-Governor of the state, who got into the public prints a good deal last winter by his anti-white-slavery investigation; and Harry Woods, Secretary of State.

Friends of the Wilson Administration have been trying to center their strength on Stringer in order to beat Sullivan. Bryan hates Sullivan and frequently has denounced him publicly. Chicago has an equal diatribe for Bryan, and it is charged that he bolted Bryan and voted for Taft in 1908. Sullivan has not considered it necessary to deny this charge.

At the same time Bryan and the other party leaders have not seen fit to come to Illinois to say a good word in behalf of Stringer.

Notables in Opposition.

They need only to stop and look at the crowd that is fighting Sullivan here at home. At the head of that crowd is Mayor Carter, who, publicly, is strongly allied with William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher. Governor Dunne, also are identified with the Harrison-Hearst opposition.

This presents a peculiar angle in two ways. In the first place Governor Dunne represents in the state about the same political principles that President Wilson is advocating in the Nation; in the second place Hearst opposed Wilson and supported Champ Clark for the Democratic nomination for President two years ago.

Now Bryan and Wilson cannot both here and join in the fight against Sullivan and the fight against Stringer. Meanwhile a good many Democrats are dissatisfied with the present course that he is making. He is going around over the state handling Sullivan with gloves, while the party members who call Sullivan a "hoodler" want to see Stringer to pitch in and "show him up."

Probe Into Record Invited.

All the while Sullivan is extending public invitations to his opponents to probe into his private and his political record.

Now, all this doubtless will help Sullivan in the primaries, but will it help him in the state to see him nominated?

But Sullivan's election—in the event that he is nominated—is a great deal more doubtful. Those Democrats who are against him now will be against him in November. Some Democrats are so sure that Sullivan cannot poll more than 60 per cent of the party strength at the general election.

Therein lies the hopes of the Republicans and Progressives.

NEW ARMY NOW IN VIEW

Commissioners Confer With National Guard Heads as First Step.

Selection of a site by the County Commissioners for a National Guard armory will await advice from the general staff, Oregon National Guard, as to requirements and what is expected of the county.

This decision was reached at a conference yesterday between the Commissioners and General Finzer, Colonel Jackson and Colonel Martin at the National Guard headquarters in the Morgan building.

A letter will be written to the general staff Tuesday by the Commissioners to put the subject on record, asking for the fullest information as to requirements. When all details are before the Commissioners, the subject will be taken up and recommendations made when the budget for 1915 is formed next December.

It was thought best to take this course when a number of property owners appeared before the Commissioners yesterday and sought to sell the county armory site. It is expected an East Side location will be wanted for mounted troops and artillery, it being thought to be the intention of the present Army for infantry drilling and housing of equipment of that branch of the service.

When time comes to buy the tract finally selected, it is declared by Chairman Holman, of the Commissioners, that there will be no fancy price paid for the property. It is expected that he will endeavor to have the Assessor fix the value.

ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Bigger crowds, better exhibits and faster racing than ever before witnessed in this vicinity will mark the annual Douglas County fair to be held in Roseburg late this month.

Secretary Wimberly says the races will be filled within a week or 10 days, and that each race will have from seven to 15 starters. Unusually large numbers of racers have been attracted here this year because the speed event arranged for the Canadian circuit have been abandoned on account of the war. Strings of race horses also have been entered by people living in Coos, Lane, Jackson and many other Oregon counties.

The granges of Douglas County are taking a great interest in the fair and promise to enter many entries. A general prize of $500 has been offered for the grange making the best exhibit. Valuable prizes have been set aside for individual exhibits made by the grangers.

In conjunction with the fair will be held the children's industrial fair, which in previous years has been a success drawing card. In addition to $250 appropriated by the fair board, local merchants have offered prizes for these exhibits.

The livestock and poultry departments also promise to eclipse the showings made in previous years. There are many livestock admirers in Douglas County at the present time and a majority of them will exhibit their stock.

Men are at work on the grounds, which will be put into first-class condition and many improvements made.

Protest Made to Stay Appointment of Foreigners—Plenty at Home for Posts, Says Leader.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Vigorous protest has been telegraphed to Washington by local organizations of licensed officers and marine engineers against the suspension of without becoming political bedfellows of Hearst and his crowd.

Meanwhile a good many Democrats are dissatisfied with the present course that he is making. He is going around over the state handling Sullivan with gloves, while the party members who call Sullivan a "hoodler" want to see Stringer to pitch in and "show him up."

Arrangements are being made by A. C. Newell, of the Oregon Civic League, to have R. A. Booth, Governor of California and William Hanley, nominee of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties, respectively, for the office of United States Senator from Oregon, attend the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Oregon Civic League, at the Multnomah Hotel Saturday, September 19. It is the candidates, or his representative, will deliver an address.

Senator Chamberlain probably will be represented at the luncheon by an appointed representative.
