Opportunity in Country Tributary to Roseburg Described by Addison Bennett.

BANKS SHOW PROSPERITY

Progress Seen in Metropolitan Air of City, Where Handsome Homes and Business Buildings Rise. All Strong for Mr. Booth.

BY ADDISON BENNETT. ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—If the Oregonian could be fortunate enough to obtain as good an agent as every city in Oregon and Southern Washington as it has in Roseburg—well, it would have double the circulation it now has. But the word "if" is the trouble, rather the difficulty, is that there is only one Agnes Pitchford in the Northwest and she resides in Roseburg, in place of the agent and the agent incomparable and extraordinary of The Oregonian.

Office Seeks Incumbent. The people in Roseburg believed Agnes. They took her advice almost as a matter of course. She had a list of names and a list of names—well, without any disparagement to any of the other agents of the paper, it can truthfully be said that Agnes scores A++—and a full 100 per cent either for collections or promptness in all of her obligations.

Country Pleases Eye. Somehow it does a fellow good to get down in the Umpqua Valley. Of course there are many Umpqua valleys, ranging all the way from Winchester to the Cascades, but I mean the largest or principal of these, that around Roseburg, taking in a territory perhaps of 400 or 500 square miles. Oh, it is not all valley. The country is rolling. It is all up and down hills, but every hill is high, they are covered with oaks, and under the oaks is fine pastureage the year round. Of course many of the hills have been denuded of the trees and are now portions of fine farms, perhaps the hilltops covered with tassel corn or waving grain—mayhap set to apples.

are $376,000. J. W. Hamilton is president, A. C. Masters cashier. The First State & Savings Bank, also a new institution, has a capital of $50,000, undivided profits of $2525, and deposits of $129,425. Joseph Micelli is president, W. H. Fisher cashier. The Douglas National has a capital of $100,000, a surplus of $30,000 and deposits of $627,334. J. H. Booth is president, H. H. Stapleton cashier.

A wonderful improvement recently made in the town was the building of a new bridge across the Umpqua, well as the shifting of the railroad tracks, thus making an easier and safer crossing. The Southern Pacific Company has also greatly improved its depot grounds and buildings, well as the shifting of the tracks. Roseburg is a division point and is one of the principal stations in Oregon. The Oregonian gets here just after 5 o'clock in the morning, 109 miles from Portland.

R. A. Booth is Popular. I wish I could take a few pages to tell about the wonderful increase in corn, hogs and cows in the valley. However, I have written about that before. I could also write a column about the schools and churches here. The Benson school building is a gem in every way. It is named after the beloved F. W. Benson, who was one of the early teachers in the valley and whose name is revered here by nearly every citizen of the town. His brother, Judge Benson, also is greatly admired by the Roseburg folks.

The Booth family has long been associated with the Umpqua Valley. Henry (J. H.) and his family occupy the splendid grounds whereon stood the historic dwelling of the late ex-Governor Chadwick. The Booths have a fine mansion occupying nearly the old site. There is a new finer building site and few finer residences in the state.

R. A. Booth for many years has been interested in the Umpqua and Rogue valleys. He never made his home in Roseburg. He really reared only a short distance away and has always had interests there—since he had money enough to have interests anywhere. He and Henry were the organizers of the present Douglas National Bank. Mr. Booth is not making a red-hot canvass for Senator down near the coast. He will not have to. All his old friends will work and vote for him anyhow.

HIBERNIANS' HOME OPENED. Lodgemen and Ladies' Auxiliary Christen Russell-Street Hall. Divisions Nos. 1 and 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the ladies' auxiliary participated in the informal opening of their new hall on Russell street, between Rodney and Union avenues, last Thursday night. John O'Hara, president of the Hibernian Building Association, opened the meeting and later turned the gavel over to T. J. Murphy, division president.

The programme consisted of several vocal selections by John Kenny, Patrick Sullivan, A. J. Campbell and Fred Bauer; the awarding of the prize medal for winning the 100-yard dash at the Hibernian picnic to A. J. Campbell, and a number of speeches. Among the speakers were Father Hugh Gallagher, Father E. V. O'Hara, Father J. M. Chambers, Charles Duggan, J. D. Walsh and M. J. Murnane.

The formal opening of the hall will be held in September, when a large class probably will be initiated. Mule Shipper Sues. That the health of two carloads of mules shipped from Redmond, Or., to Columbia, S. C., in December, 1913, was permanently injured by delay in transit is the statement made in the suit of C. H. Russell against the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway Company, filed yesterday. Damages amounting to $1445 are alleged to have been reduced considerably because they were not given prompt dispatch.

St. Johns Schools Open Monday. ST. JOHNS, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—St. Johns public schools will open Monday. A teachers' meeting was held this morning in the schoolhouse on Jersey street, conducted by Superintendent Boyd, in which the work of the year was discussed. The new feature will be the commercial department, which will be conducted by A. H. Babb, after he had beaten and kicked his wife into insensibility last night. Larry Bohan, a masseur, at the Multnomah Hotel Bath, returned again to his house at 195 Sixteenth street, with a loaded revolver, and declared he was going to "finish it up." Patrolman Collins was waiting for him and arrested him. Bohan was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Bohan went home late last night somewhat under the influence of liquor and quarreled with his wife. Other occupants of the house heard her screams and rushed to her assistance. Mrs. Bohan had kicked her, and one of her hands was crushed. Pending the outcome of Mrs. Bohan's injuries, the man will be held on a charge of assault and battery.

OREGON "U" GROWS

Registration on This Week, Means More Freshmen. ECONOMIC STATUS VITAL. Number of Old Students May Not Return to Oregon for Financial Reasons—Work Varied During Summer to Aid Learning.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Summer building has preserved the University of Oregon campus this vacation from the usual deadness and dullness that pervades college grounds during the period, but the incoming students of the week-end are so numerous as to make even the improvements in progress a secondary attraction. Tuesday and Wednesday are registration days, and the size of the freshman class is likely to compare well with that of the first year classes in Nationally noted institutions—will exceed 400. Registrar Tiffany thinks. The first and second semester freshmen last college year numbered 350.

While playing "coveboys" this morning, Jack Place, age 9, son of L. H. Place, of 4010 North Twenty-fourth street, made the game so realistic he shot his best friend, Dick Adams, age 11, son of Hugh Adams, of 3820 North Twenty-fifth street, in the stomach with a small caliber rifle. The Adams boy died a few hours later. The Adams family is going to the Narrows and jump in the water," said Jack to his friends immediately after the accident.

When his mother returned home she heard of the accident and that Jack had gone to the Narrows. She immediately started in an automobile to search for him after a two hours search, she returned home and found him there. He had changed his mind when he got to the water.
