Daniels Demands Explanation of Violation of Neutrality Toward Britain.

AUTHORITY IS ASSERTED

Secretary Says President Has Full Power and Means to Exercise It to Full Extent Necessary to Obtain Fulfillment.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Unless a prompt and satisfactory explanation is forthcoming of the action of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America in receiving and forwarding a message from the British cruiser Suffolk to a British admiralty agent in New York regarding supplies for the warship, the company's station at Siasconset, Mass., will be closed "for all communication."

This was the reply made by Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department, tonight to protests of the company against the right of the United States to establish wireless telegraph stations. The warning was contained in a letter, addressed to John W. Griggs, of New York, president of the company.

"I have received your letter of the 9th instant in regard to the receipt at the Siasconset station of your company of a message from the British cruiser Suffolk and the forwarding of the message by telegraph to New York City," the letter says.

"In reply I have to advise you that the President is advised by his Attorney-General that he has full authority, in view of the extraordinary conditions now existing, to close down or take charge of and operate the plant of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America, should he deem it necessary to insure obedience to his proclamation of neutrality and that, acting under executive orders of August 5 and September 2, 1914, he is authorized by the President to take such steps as may be necessary to prevent the receipt for delivery or the transmission of messages, by Department will continue as heretofore to retain its censor at the plants of your company in order to enforce the neutrality of the United States during the pending conflict in Europe.
