Striking Feature of Handling of "Compartive calm on our front has continued through the fine and considerably warmer weather. The last six days have been slightly misty, with clouds hanging low, and conditions have not been very good for aerial reconneisses.

Moon Checks Night Attacks.

In regard to the latter it is aston-ing how quickly the habit is acquired, even by those who are not aviators, of thinking of the weather in terms of its suitability for flying. There has been a bright moon also, which has militated against night attacks.

"On Saturday, October 2, practically nothing happened except that each side shelled the other. Towards evening on Sunday there was a similar absence of activity. Opposite one portion of our line the enemy's bands played patriotic airs and the audiences which gathered gave a chance to our waiting howitzers. "Not only do their regimental bands perform procedurelly but with their perform occasionally, but with their proverbial fondness for music, the Germans have in some places gramaphones in their trenches.

Two of the struggles were, so far as could be seen, indecisive, but in the third the French airmen were victorious and brought down their opponent, both of whom were killed by machine-gun fire.

During the day some men of the landwehr were taken prisoners by us. They were in poor condition and wept They were in poor condition and wept copionsly when captured. One, on being asked what he was crying for, explained that, though they had been advised to surrender to the English, they believed that they would be shot. "On that evening our airmen had an unusual amount of attention paid to them, both by the German aviators and their artillery of every description."

Three norses were killed by the German fire.

"Wednesday, the 7th, was uneventful. On Thursday, the 8th, the shelling by the enemy of a locality on our front, which has so far been the scene of their greatest efforts, was again continuous. Opposite one or two points the Germans have attempted to gain ground by aspping in some places with the view of secretly pushing forward machine guns in advance of their trenches, so that they can suddenly sweep with cross-fire the space between our line and theirs and so take any advance of ours in the flank.

Senstor Chamberlain, of Oregon, will be in Portland next Sunday morning.

The senior Oregon Senstor deserted his "post of duty" at the National capital is at hight and started on a through trip for Oregon. The moment he arrives within the confines of their trenches, so that they can suddenly sweep with cross-fire the space between our line and theirs and so take any advance of ours in the flank.

Gun Blown Up From Tunnel.

"It is reported that at one point where the French were much annoyed by the fire of a German machine gun, which was otherwise inaccessible, they drove a mine gallery 50 metres (about 55 yards) long up to and under the emplacement and blew up the gun. The men who drove the gallery belonged to a corps which was recruited in one of the coal mining districts of Versney

The German machine guns, mounted

"The German machine guns, mounted on low sledges, are inconspicuous and evidently easily moved.

"The fighting now consists mostly of shelling by the artillery of both sides and in front a line of fire from the machine guns as an occasional target offers. Our maxims have been doing excellent and have proved most efficient weapons for the sort of fighting in which we are now engaged.

"The amount of practice that our officers are now getting in the use of this weapon is proving most valuable in teaching how to maintain it at concert pitch as an instrument and how, to eavalry forces to the southwest of German Fire Not So Prodigm.

"Against us the Germans are not now expending so much gun ammunition as they have been, but they continue to fire at insignificant targets. They have factory conditions. Our entire battle factory conditions of continues under satisfactory conditions. Our entire battle front has been maintained in spite of violent attacks of the enemy at several the habit of suddenly dropping heavy shells without warning in localities or villages far behind our front line, possibly on the chance of catching some of our troops in bivouge or billets. They also fire a few rounds at night.

They also fire a few rounds at night.

"The artillery has up to now played so great a part in the war that a few general remarks descriptive of the methods of its employment by the enemy are justified. Their field artillery armament consists of 15 quick-liring guns for horse and field batteries of divisions, and there are, in addition with each corps, three to six batteries of 4.3-inch field howitzers and about two batteries of 5.3-inch howitzers.

With an army there are some 8.2-inch heavy howitzers.

"The accuracy of their fire is ant at

"The accuracy of their fire is apt at first to cause some alarm, more especially as the guns are usually well concealed and the position and the direction from which the fire is proceeding are difficult of detection. But accurate as is their shooting, the German gunners have, on the whole, had little luck and during the past three wasks. luck and during the past three weeks at astonishingly small proportion of the number of shells fired by them have been really effective.

and direct their fire by means of squared maps and the telephone. Thus when the target is found, its position on the map is telephoned to such bat-teries as it is desired to employ against that particular square.

"In addition to the guns employed to fire on the targets as they are picked up, others are told off to watch particular roads and to deal with any of the enemy using them.

"Both for the location of targets and the communication of the effect of the fire, reliance is placed on observation from aeroplanes and balloons and on information supplied by special observers and secret agents, who are sent out ahead or left behind in the enemy's lines, to communicate by telephone or signal. These observers have been found in haystacks, barns and other buildings well in advance of the German lines.

For Nearly Two Years Mrs. Sarah Chase Has Prevented Consummation of Public Project.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 10 .- (Special.)—The Chase stipulation ending the long controversy between the city and Mrs. Sarah Chase was signed to-day and work on a bridge leading from the elevator tower, now erected, to the top of the bluff at Seventh street

The legal fight over the construc-tion of the Seventh-street elevator, in itself an unusual feature for any city, is considered one of the most persistent which has ever been waged in this city. Nearly two years ago the voters authorized the sale of bonds for the construction of an elevator on Seventh street. The tower was to be built about 60 feet from the face of the bluff, which rises 100 feet through the center of the town, and a bridge was to span the space from the top of mentions encounters between the two cavalry forces to the southwest of Lille, a violent action to the south, to the east and to the north of Arras and vigorous attacks from the enemy on the heights of the Meuse."

The fighting continues under satisfactory conditions. Our entire battle front has been maintained in spite of violent attacks of the enemy at several points.

"On our left wing in the region included between La Basse, Armentieres and Cassel, the fighting between the opposing forces of cavalry has been confused because of the nature of the violent attacks of the enemy at several places in their zone of action. In the region of St. Mihiel we have made material progress.

To My Swedish Friends Everywhere

I Wish to Say That Peruna Is the Best Household Remedy In the Whole World.

Mrs. Elin Malmgren, 183 Frederick St., West Manchester, N. H., writes: "Every spring and fall for eleven years, I have been troubled with catarrh in my throat and nose and hoarseness, and I am very pleased to state that at last I found a medicine, Peruna, from which I received great benefit, and I will hereafter use and recommend it. I always keep it in my house in case of sickness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends and every sufferer, as an excellent medicine for colds and for building up strength. We have many Swedish friends in Boston who use Peruna and think a great deal of it. If all the Swedish people in this country could know what an excellent family medicine your Peruna is I am sure they would keep it in the home."
