REPUBLICANS PUSH WASHINGTON FIGHT

Victory for Senator Jones and Entire Delegation to Congress is Seen.

PARTIES ACTIVE

Democrats Admit Their Best Chances Are in First, Fourth and Fifth Districts-Progressives Try for Certain Places.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 16 .- (Special.)-The Washington political campaign, late in beginning this year, is virtually in full swing in spite of the absence from the state of most of the Republican Congressional candidates. still held by duty at Washington,

While the three leading parties are active in all parts of the state, Demo-cratic and Progressive efforts are being centered on certain officers and districts, while Republicans are making a broader campaign in the hope that Senator Jones may be re-elected and an all-Republican delegation sent back with him to the lower house of Con-gress, in which Washington now is represented by three Republicans and represented by three Republicans and two Progressives.

Democrats admit that their best chances for procuring Congressional representation lie in the First, Fourth and Fifth districts. In the First District, comprising the City of Seattle and Kitsap County, Representative Humphrey, Republican, is making a stordy fight for re-election, but is facing a bitter contest.

Example of Monre in Ruce.

Ex-Mayor Moore in Race. In the effort to cause Mr. Humphrey's defeat the Democrats have nominated William Hickman Moore, ex-Mayor of Seattle, and a lawyer of ability. Mr. Moore is making his campaign, as are most of the other Democratic candidates, on the plea that Democratic should be elected to Indorse the Wilson Administration, and it also is being urged in Moore's behalf that Humphrey's hostility to the Administration will prevent him from obtaining any political favors for his district during the Wilson term of office. Austin E. Griffiths, Chief of Police of Seattle, is the Progressive nominee in the First District, and also is proving a strong candidate. Republican leaders, however, believe Mr. Humphrey will be elected.

Mayor Gill, of Seattle, while making no attempt to interfere with Griffith's campaign for Congress, has issued a statement indorsing Humphrey, Mr. Gill will be away from Seattle during most of the campaign, however.

Democratic Chances Slim. In the effort to cause Mr. Humphrey's

Democratic Chances 5lim. Democratic Chances Slim.

In the Second District, comprising the northwestern countles of the state, Democratic chances admittedly are negligible and John E. Camphell, State Senator and labor leader, the Progressive nominee, promises to be the strongest opponent of Lindley Hadley, the Republican candidate.

It is believed, however, that Hadley will win.

Senator Jones' Opponent Active.

With Senator Jones still absent from the state the Senatorial fight has not yet gathered the headway of the Congressional district contests. Republicans confidently assert that Senator Jones will be re-elected, however, while from surface indications ole Hanson, the Progressive candidate, is thus far his strongest opponent. Hanson has made a more thorough canvass of the far corners of the state than any other candidate and is well supplied with campaign funds.

The strength of Judge Black, the Democratic nominee, is an unknown factor. In the primary of two years ago, in which he led all Democratic aspirants for Governor, and in the recent Senatorial primaries Judge Black did not appear strong until two of three weeks before the election. On each occasion enough ballots were cast in his favor to place him at the head of the list of Democratic aspirants. That this "silent vote" will again come to the support of Judge Black is the hope of his campaign managers. Judge Black's campaign gain starts somewhat handicapped, however, by the fact that Democratis of the state administration are not enthusiastic for him since his combination with George Turner to defeat J. D. Trenholme, of Seattle, for state chairman. state chairman.

BAKER DEMOCRATS DIVIDE

Independent Candidate for County Judge Causes Rift in Ranks.

BAKER, Or., Oct. 10.— (Special.)—
Spice has been added to the political campaign in Baker County in the county office contests by the entrance into the race of George B. Saunders, County Commissioner, as an independent candidate for County Judge. Mr. Saunders is completing a four-year term as Commissioner and his entrance in the race means a contest for an office.

J. B. Messick, a Democrat, won his party nomination at the primaries and. in the absence of candidates of other barty affiliation, also obtained the Re-publican and Progressive nominations. Mr. Messick formerly held this same position. Mr. Saunders is also a Demo-crat and it is hinted that his candidacy at this time may consider the at this time may cause a rift in the . FAIR AT SANDY SUCCESS

Girl Wins 12 Prizes in Competition in Juvenile Department.

SANDY, Or., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—
The Grange Fair held here October 2 and 3 was a success in spite of the rains. The records showed that in the juvenile and adult departments there were 437 individual entries, 144 in the adult department; 160 in class A of the juvenile department, and 133 class B in the juvenile department.

One girl carried off a dozen prizes.

Oddfellows hall was filled to overflowing with the juvenile exhibits.

The Bull Run school, which won the first prize of $5 for best school float, had a float representing a school belfry, completely covered with Oregon grape and rose berries. Inside the pupils were shown at study with their teacher.

The Sandy school entry showed the horrors of war and the blessings of peace. The best farmers' float was won by J. G. DeShazer, with an exhibition of what can be raised on the farm.

Ogden, and grandson, Melvin P.
Ogden, of Portland, and a son, W.
E. White, of Newberg, and grandson, Edward E. Feckham, of Plainview, Tex.

It is believed, however, that Hadley will win.

In the Third District, comprising Southwestern Washington, Representative Johnson, the Republican nominee, apparently has much the best of the race. This district never has polied a strong Democratic vote, while the restorng Democratic vote, while the recent primaries showed a great falling off in the Progressive strength.

In the Fourth and Fifth districts, both east of the Cascades, the Democratic candidates are considered by some to have virtually equal chances with the Republican nominees.

The Fifth District, comprising Spokane and the other Northeastern counties, promises a close race between Harry Rosenhaupt, Republican, and C. C. Dill, Democrat.
