Did the Dental Trust Win?

TO THE VOTERS OF OREGON:

When I began my single-handed campaign against the Dental Trust for dental reform in Oregon last July, many well-informed men and women told me I was right, but that I was fighting such a powerful combine that the Dentistry Bill would be defeated by a vote of 5 to 1.

More votes were cast on this bill than on any of the 29 measures on the ballot, excepting on prohibition. This large vote shows the tremendous popular interest in this subject. The small majority by which the bill was defeated shows the widespread protest the people feel against the present dental laws made by the Dental Trust.

Complete returns from Multnomah County show there were 64,659 votes cast on the Dentistry Bill; 73,543 for the three candidates for Governor and 72,790 on the prohibition question. The Dentistry Bill was defeated in Multnomah County by only 1581 votes.

If one man can arouse the voters to such an extent in four months, certainly enough more can be reached to insure dental reform in this state at the election two years from now.

Many years ago I enlisted in this cause for the war—not for one battle. Popular education means the ultimate overthrow of the Dental Trust as it does every other trust existing by special legislation.

The chief reliance of the Dental Trust is in keeping the people in ignorance of everything about dentistry. I advocate popular education on the subject, and that is why I oppose dental ethics which prevent educational advertising.

For a quarter of a century ethical dentists have prevented education of the masses and been engaged in secretly building up a network of special legislation for dentists. Yet, at the very first election submitting the subject to a vote of the people, the Trust only wins by a few thousand votes in all Oregon. If I had had a month's more time the Trust would have been snowed under.

Men and women of Oregon now know something about dentistry conditions here. Before I began this campaign of education, scarcely anyone outside of a few dentists had ever read the dental laws, or knew anything about how and why they had been passed by the Legislature.

The Trust will probably ask the next Legislature to pass some more laws for its special benefit under the plea that they are for the protection of the "dear people." I suspect it will be a law requiring the State Dental Examining Board to keep on file for public inspection all examination papers of applicants for licenses. Such a law might help some dentist secure his rights, but it would give the people no relief from the Trust. What the people of Oregon want is relief from high prices and poor dentistry.

As long as the State Examining Board retains its present arbitrary power, the Trust can plunder the public. The only way this board will ever be deprived of this arbitrary power is by the people at the ballot box.

During the next two years the Trust will continue to extort high prices as in the past, but I serve notice on this combine here and now, that I shall go down to Salem this Winter and ask for the passage of two laws in the interest of the public health and morals, as follows:

1. That it shall be unlawful for any dentist to use cocaine or arsenic, or any solution containing either or both of these poisons, in the practice of dentistry in this state.

This law will stop the Dental Trust from poisoning the people, and leaving in many patients a craving for cocaine.

2. That a competent dental nurse shall be present as attendant at all times in every operating room during each dental operation.

Under this law no woman will be compelled to be alone in a room with a dentist during operations, as is often the case now because the Dental Trust will not pay a living wage to nurses.

The people of this state have voted by a large majority to stop alcoholic poisoning. Why should the Dental Trust be permitted to poison the people with cocaine and arsenic?

Drug habits are a great and growing evil in America. It is time something was done on this line in Oregon. In New York State it is a violation of law for a dentist to have cocaine in his possession.

The Dental Trust charged me with initiating the Dentistry Bill because of a personal grievance. Certainly it will not say my proposal to abolish the use of cocaine and arsenic is for personal reasons.

To the thousands of men and women in Oregon who so loyally supported the cause of dental reform during the campaign, I desire to extend my sincere thanks, and promise my continued efforts in the future for medical and dental freedom.

Yours respectfully,

PAINLESS PARKER, Dentist.

HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE, CONTINUED TODAY.

In the expectation that the epidemic would be in a thoroughly sanitary condition by the middle of next week. "If we have thoroughly cleaned up by Wednesday and if the epidemic has not spread to more states so that we can receive shipments of cattle, we shall apply for a lifting of the quarantine then," said A. G. Leonard, president of the stockyards.

DR. O. E. DYSON, STATE VETERINARIAN, SAID THAT, ALTHOUGH THE QUARANTINE HAD BEEN ORDERED TO RUN UNTIL NOVEMBER 16, IT WOULD BE LIFTED BEFORE THAT TIME IF IT WERE SHOWN THAT THE YARDS WERE IN A FIT CONDITION.

All other public cattle pens within the state, including those at East St. Louis, are to receive a clean bill of health as soon as they are disinfected and pronounced free of infection. Every confidence that this disease is well under control here was expressed after it was found that only a few more suspected cattle have developed cases.

The new cases were among prize cattle recently exhibited at the National Dairy Show here. About 30 out of 800 prize bulls and cows were condemned, but were not killed. The owners, who value the cattle at several million dollars, appealed to the Department of Agriculture at Washington that special efforts be made to save the stock. A plan was devised to isolate the infected stock and subject it to special treatment for experimental purposes.

Other reasons are cited.

SPURNED SUITOR KILLS

Rejected Man Slays Girl and Shoots Her Sister.

Murderer Then Fires at Mother of Victim and, Missing, Turns Pistol on Self—Clue Elum Is Scene.

ELLENBURG, WASH., NOV. 7.—(Special.)—John Seretto, 21 years old, last night shot and killed Mary Farango, 16 years old, at the residence of her mother in Clu Elum because she rejected his marriage proposals. He also shot and seriously wounded her 12-year-old sister and attempted to shoot her mother. He then turned the pistol upon himself, inflicting a scalp wound which will not prove serious.

Seretto had been paying marked attention to Mary Farango for some time and had boasted to his fellow workmen in the coal mines that he was going to the Farango home prepared to make her his wife or kill her and the family if she refused. He did not consider his threats as serious. Seretto had displayed to them an old weapon he had brought from Italy and owing to the fact that he was accustomed to drink heavily they paid little attention to his threats. It had been Seretto's custom to call at the Farango residence in his spare time. He made known his intent and the girl, refusing to consent to marry him, he pulled the revolver from his pocket, placed the muzzle behind her head and pulled the trigger. She expired immediately. Seretto then shot Mary's 12-year-old sister, who fell to the floor. The third shot was fired at Mrs. Farango who was dazed to move. Seretto's shot at Mrs. Farango missed. Having but one cartridge left, Seretto pointed the revolver at his own head and pulled the trigger. The bullet made only a scalp wound. Seretto was taken hastily to Ellensburg and placed in the County Jail, Seattle.
