WOMEN PLEAD IN VAIN TO OPEN COURT

Trial Judge M'Ginn Is Deaf to Mass-Meeting Resolution That Decries His Action.

STORMY SESSION IS HELD

Members of Civic League and of Other Bodies Fight Order Excluding Them From Trials-"Girl's Past Not Public," Is Reply.

Although women of the Civic League clubwomen and women not affiliated with any organizations entered vigorous protests yesterday to the closing of the doors of Judge McGinn's court to any but court officers during the progress of the trials of baseball players and others for offenses against the Judge will keep the young girls, the Judge will keep the

He said last night he would not change his attitude, that the partic-ulars that must be told during the progress of the trials are not for the public ear. Other trials in the series which start this week also will be held behind closed doors, cases," said Judge McGinn, "the re-

Dr. Miriam Van Waters said she had attended the girl and had found her in a nervous state and with a high temperature and that it seemed her duty when the girl did go to court to ac-company her. She spoke of the girl as company her. She spoke of the girl as a child, referring to her frankness and braveness before the trial and of her crushed and foriorn appearance after being grilled before the 24 men for three hours and a half without one woman to stand by her.

Dr. Van Waters said that the effect of that trial would be a bad influence the fancy dancing craze which has

A half dozen women rose at once.

Mrs. Hidden was granted the floor.

"I have often been indignant over things that happened in the courts," she said. "Let us take action now that we are voters and see that such a thing never happens again. It is a shame and a disgrace to civilization that we allow any woman, bad or good, to stand alone. Women must stand by each other. Every 14-year-old girl who falls into the clutches of a furore everywhere." married man is wronged, I don't care what her past was. It is up to us to improve conditions. In this case the thing to do is to protest. Let us take action and send forth a resolution."

"Take it with a mass meeting of women to Judge McGinn tomorrow," said Mrs. Mary L. Stevens.

"Tomorrow's Sunday," put in someone else.

Then take it Monday," said Mrs. "Take along a hatchet," suggested someone in the rear of the hall.

Tom Burns "Butts In." "Question," called another.
"Is Judge McGinn on trial here?"
asked Mrs. J. R. Oatman. "Mrs. Baldwin is condemning him for what she herself did in the Lillie Larkins case." Just then a mere man "butted" into the meeting. He was Tom Burns, who was silenced by the chair.

Mrs. A. E. Clark, who began to tell of her troubles, was "called down" for not sticking to the topic in hand.

Mrs. Emma Carroll suggested that the women were assembled not to try Judge McGinn, but a principle. Dr. Marie Equi said that the experience of the girl in the case would destroy her moral perception and that the double standard of morality was at the bot-all sides of the question were discussed.

Calls for order were frequent. Man was called unjust and discriminating by some and was upheld by others. Order was called repeatedy; hisses were heard. Mrs. Berger, wife of one of the men who had been implicated in the cases, got the floor protesting that her husband had been innocent and that spite had instigated the charges against him. She was rapped to order and a motion was made that speakers be allowed but two minutes each.

motion was made that speakers be allowed but two minutes each.

When the resolution had been adopted Mrs. Sharp appointed a committee to investigate the points of law governing the action of Judge McGinn. On that committe are Mrs. Thomas Hawkes, Miss Hallie Thomas and Mrs. M. L. T. Hidden.

Mrs. R. E. Bondurant, representing the Oregon Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, moved "that we adjourn and go home and study self-control."

Dr. Van Waters said that the effect of that trial would be a bad influence on the girl's attitude toward the world forever.

"The girl is fourteen and a grade student," said Dr. Van Waters. "Her mother is a foreigner and she didn't understand conditions. The man was 29 and married. He is free, Shall we let girls go into courtrooms alone? Shall we submit to this social iniquity?"

Action Termed Shame.
