CHINESE WAGE GUN BATTLE IN STREET

Ten Shots Fired by Four Asiatics Indicate Tong War Has Revived.

ONE OF FIGHTERS CAUGHT

Scene of Fray Is in Front of Store Where Jim Wong Was Stabbed Last Week - Police Take Steps to Quiet Factions.

The tong war which has slumbered in Portland for a week broke out afresh last night in a revolver battle between two Suey Sing and two Hop Sing tong gunmen on Flanders street between Fourth and Fifth streets. Ten shots were fired in rapid succession, but, so far as could be learned only one took effect, hitting an unnamed Suey Sing, who was later spirited away, in the leg.

Last night's shooting was a fresh outbreak of the war which started be-tween the tongs when Jim Wong, a wealthy Chinese merchant and member of the Hop Sings, was stabled in the back by a Suey Sing highbinder named Lum Chong Ying, alias Lim Tong.

Julian Alabera, half Chinese and half Filipino, and a member of the Eucy Sings, was arrested by Sergeant Ocisner and Patrolmen Collins and Madden a few minutes after the shooting. He carried a revolver in the chambers of which were four empty shells.

Officers Martin and Wise later ar-rested Chan Wing, a Hop Sing, who

The shooting took place on Flanders street, just in front of the store at 263 Flanders, where Jim Wong was stabbed. Sergeant Oelsner and the two patrolmen were only a block away on Fourth street. At the time the shooting took place the Peace Society was meeting in an effort to prevent a tong war. They had just reached a treaty agreement by which the Suey Sings were to pay the Hop Sings $100, in rejurn for which the Hop Sings were to drop charges against Lum Ching Ying.

Six Celestials Involved.

Chinese witnesses and one of the men under arrest say four Hop Sing and two Suey Sing gunmen were involved in the fight. The battle began without warning, was over in an instant, and Chinatown was suddenly changed from a peaceful community to a seething mass of wildly excited Celestials. The ten shots were fired quickly. When the shooting began Flanders street was almost deserted. Sergeant Oelsner and Patrolmen Collins and Madden were on the scene almost as soon as the last shot was fired. Sev-eral Chinese were seen scurrying to cover as the police ran to the battleground. Immediately doors and win-dows were opened and a horde of Orientals ran out to the streets. The policemen found themselves in the midst of an excitec, jabbering, shout-ing crowd of 200 Chinese. The gun-ing crowd of 300 Chinese. The gun-men were lost in the crowd.

Another squad of police, Captain of Detectives Baty and Detectives Swen-nes, Moloney, Hyde and Howell rushed to the scene, searched all the Chinese stores in the neighborhood, ransacked the Hop Sing and Suey Sing headquarters and questioned every Celestial who acted suspiciously.

One Found is Hiding,

Julian Alabera had hidden in a Chinese restaurant on Fifth street. There Celsner, Collins and Madden found him and took him to headquarters. He admitted his part in the shooting, but steadfastly refused to give any information about the other five known to have been involved. He also admitted, the detectives say, that he came here from Seattle for the Suey Sings at the same time as did Lum Chong Ying, the other Asiatic now under arrest.

Alabera merely said that he, with another Suey Sing gunman, had encountered four Hop Sings on the street and the shooting had started. A persistent rumor among the Chinese said that two of the Hop Sing highbinders had been hit by the bullets and that they had been spirted away in the that two of the Hop Sing highbinders had been hit by the bullets and that they had been spireted away in the crowd which gathered as though by preconcerted arrangement. A thorough search of the Chinese quarter, however, failed to uncover any wounded Oriental.

Chief of Police Clark and Captain Baty told the Chinese that a further outbreak would be met with drastic measures. All Chinese are being watched closely, and any found carry-ing revolvers will be arrested as gun-

The effect of this imperial presence on the simple peasant mind cannot be fully appreciated without understanding the religious awe which the peasant feels toward the imperial family.

Recovery is Hastened.

This semi-religious exaltation of the wounded soldiers has, according to the surgeons in the hospital, noticeably hastened their return to health.

Once a week the Emperor visits the hospital with his young son and his two youngest daughters, Marie and Anastasia. During these visits it is his custom to make the rounds of the 121 beds for privates and 29 for officers and to question the men as to how they received their wounds.

All the hospitals in Tsarskoe-Selo and Pavlock are under the patronage of the Empress and the wounded are conveyed from the hospital trains in the automobiles of the imperial garage.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 14—(Special.)—Governor West tonight issued a prociamation into this state of cattle from states where the foot and mouth disease is prevalent. The proclamation fixes other restrictions designed to safeguard the cattle of Oregon. Railroads and shippers are informed of the law providing for disinfecting cattlecars and are urged to obey its provisions.

While the state is so far free of the disease, leading cattle dealers fear it may get a foothold here and a commit to issue the proclamation.
