GOOD CORN GROWN

Acclimated Seed Solves Problem, Expert Says.

SALEM SHOWS BIG EARS

Fine Samples Exhibited and Ways to Produce It Revealed, While Warning Is Issued Against Untried Grain for Planting.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—That corn as good as that produced in any of the states can be grown in Marion County and, in fact, the entire Willamette Valley, was demonstrated today, when the first corn show ever held in this city was opened.

The object of the show, which is under the direction of Luther J. Chapin, county agriculturist, is to prove to the farmers that corn can be grown here as profitably as anywhere. The exhibits, supplemented with demonstration talks by Mr. Chapin and other experts, are proving it. The first thing Mr. Chapin tells the people is that satisfactory results can be achieved only by the use of acclimated seed.

Acclimated Seed Exhibited. He exhibits samples of corn from seed that is acclimated, and samples from seed that was brought from the Eastern states just before planting. The ears of the latter corn were large and the kernels were plump, but while the grain produced from it is on large ears, the kernels are shriveled and of no worth. Ears from acclimated seed are just as large and the kernels are plump and meaty.

Another feature of the exhibition is the seed testing demonstrations. Sometimes the grains do not germinate well because of an inexplicable lack of vitality or because of early frost. Mr. Chapin illustrates with various methods how to tell whether the grains have the desired vitality. It is he considers one of the most important features of the show.

"The farmers generally have not been successful in growing corn here," said Mr. Chapin, "because they have not known how. But they are being shown, and the valley is certain to become a great corn-growing section. Deep plowing in the fall, if possible, if not in the spring, is necessary. After planting the corn fields should be harrowed twice—first just before the corn comes up and again after the sprouts are four or five inches high. The first cultivation should be deep, and then there should be three shallow cultivations. With the growing of corn generally in the valley the stock business would receive a great impetus and the people would find it even more profitable than the hograising industry."

Gigantic Ears Numerous. Ears 12 inches long and four and six inches in circumference are plentiful at the exhibition. J. B. Hawthorne, of this county, has an exhibit of 100 ears taken at random from a field that produced 60 bushels to the acre, and it was a young prune orchard at that. No allowance was made for the land that was lost as a result of the trees. Because of the cultivation the prune trees grew in one year twice the size of others planted at the same time but were between the corn rows.

Among the other exhibitors are: Charles Ward, B. F. Simpson, Frank Flint, C. F. Yeager, L. R. Oldenburg, John Minger, M. C. Kafoury, T. E. Trick and B. P. Ramp. Not an exhibitor grew less than bushels to the acre and many had yields of almost 50 bushels.

An interesting exhibit is composed of nubbins. The kernels are big and well filled out. Mr. Chapin points to it in his demonstration talks and says: "Don't by any means use corn like that for seed. It is not fit for seed. It will produce the same kind of corn as it is. Get the best acclimated seed and you will grow the best corn."

ENGLISH ARREST STRANGER

Mysterious Man With Many Names Detained in London.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A mysterious person known under the names of Horst, Von der Goltz and Bridgman Taylor, described as a Major in the Mexican army and suspected of being a German spy, was remanded in a police court today on the charge of failing to register as an alien enemy. The prosecution said that, although the Admiralty and the police and that he might have to answer more serious charges.

The man had in his possession a passport issued in Washington bearing the name Bridgman Taylor and describing him as a Major in the Mexican army. The prosecution mentioned sums of money which it said had been remitted to the prisoner by an official named P. Faber. The prosecutor said he did not as yet know whether the official was a German or a representative of the United States consulate.

When arrested by a detective and asked whether his name was Taylor or Von der Goltz, the prisoner is alleged to have replied: "Taylor, but how came you to know that I am Von der Goltz?"

Ham Theft Is Charged. Detective Smith likes ham. He eats it for breakfast every morning, accompanied with eggs. So Smith has a keen sense of ham. He can smell ham a block away. Smith arose yesterday. It was nearly time for reporting and he rushed off without his ham. Coming up Front street near Taylor, later Smith smelled ham. He followed the scent and soon bumped into Henry Martin. The latter carried an overcoat over his arm. "Let me see what you have under the overcoat," Smith ordered. It was a ham and Martin was taken to jail, charged with stealing it.

TACOMA OFFICIAL STRUCK

Discharged Fireman Attacks Commissioner Mills in City Hall.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(Special.) W. C. Turner, a discharged fireman, attacked Commissioner of Public Safety Mills today in the corridor of the City Hall, cutting the official on the chin with his fist.

Turner was thrown out of the corridor by Chief Clerk Metzger, of the Public Works Department, and Max Garretson, secretary to Mr. Mills. He hurried to the Courthouse, where he gave himself up to Justice Wescott, saying he had "beaten up" Commissioner Mills.

Since no charge had been filed, Westcott advised Turner to go home. Turner was discharged a year ago from the fire department because Mills and Fire Chief McAlevy declared he was a disturbing element, and incited trouble among the firemen and even struck some of them. Turner at once headed a committee to recall Mr. Mills and worked for the recall until the Supreme Court recently threw the recall out of court.

Mr. Mills will not prosecute his assailant.

LISTER MAKES CHANGES

Tax Commission Abolition Asked and Member Goes to Board of Control.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Governor Lister announced today the transfer of T. E. Skaggs, of Everett, from the Washington Tax Commission to the Board of Control, to fill the place vacated by the resignation of Herman W. Ross, of Seattle, effective December 1.

He also announced that he would not fill Skaggs' place on the Tax Commission, but would recommend that the Legislature abolish the commission and transfer its duties to a State Tax Commissioner. His further proposal is to have the Governor and chairman of the Public Service Commission take the places of the two members of the Tax Commission on the State Board of Equalization. The Governor stated Skaggs' transfer was a promotion for efficient service.

NEW TRIAL DENIED FRANK

FACTORY SUPERINTENDENT AGAIN LOSES IN FIGHT FOR LIFE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—The State Supreme Court today again refused a new trial to Leo M. Frank, convicted here August 25, 1913, for the murder of Mary Phagan.

Frank's motion for a rehearing was based on the ground that his constitutional rights had been violated by reason of his absence from the courtroom when the jury returned its verdict. The Supreme Court ruling means that Frank's only appeal now is to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The body of Mary Phagan, 14 years old, was found April 27, 1913, in the basement of an Atlanta pencil factory, where she had been employed. Two days later Frank, superintendent of the factory, was arrested.

That motion was overruled by the Supreme Court, but before that decision was announced the motion to set aside the verdict on grounds of a violation of the constitutional rights of the accused was made.

CHRISTMAS SHIP SAILS

AMERICAN SANTA CLAUS CARRIES CHEER TO BELLIGERENTS.

Eighty-two Carloads of Clothing and Toys Sent to Allies and Holland. Others to Come Later.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—With more than 1200 tons of Christmas gifts from the people of America, a Santa Claus ship, the naval collier Jason, sailed today for Europe. A message of Godspeed from President Wilson was received by Lieutenant-Commander C. F. Courtney, U. S. N., shortly before sailing time. The docks as the ship sailed were black with thousands of school children.

The gifts the ship carried were gathered from every state of the Union. They include everything from toys and dolls to clothing and food. So heavy was the rain of presents that a force of 90 soldiers and 60 sailors from the Navy-yard was required to classify and repack them so that an equal distribution might be made in the several countries for which they were intended. The cargo contained the following items: Fourteen carloads of children's clothing, five carloads of women's clothing, one carload of men's clothing, five carloads of toys and 57 carloads of miscellaneous presents, foodstuffs, boots, shoes, etc., a total of 82 carloads.

A HAPPY BALD HEADED MAN

Well-Known Politician Nearly Bald Now Has New Growth of Hair.

Tells How He Did It.

A Western politician, well known on account of his baldness and ready wit, surprised his friends by appearing with a new growth of hair. Many of his old friends did not know him and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it, he made the following statement: "I attribute the remarkable growth of my hair to the use of the following simple recipe, which any lady or gentleman can mix at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home."
