OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—No football championship in this seventh state of ours for another 12 months!

Two hours of grueling battle between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College ended in a 3-to-2 tie score today—just such a tie score as the memorable 10-to-10 encounter last year at Albany. Honor appeared about even, but a tie was greeted by the varsity today as a victory, because Oregon figured as slight short-ender.

As indicated by the score, place-kicks settled the outcome. As late as the fourth quarter it looked as if that elusive bird of victory were to perch this year upon the Aggie standards. After the rival teams had fought each other to a standstill, Art Lutz booted a placement between the varsity posts in the third period, and that stage of the game this three-point lead looked as big as the Matterhorn alongside Mount Talbot.

Oregon began with only two veterans in the backfield and its offense was not having much success in advancing the ball against the husky Orange and Black forwards.

Suddenly quarterback Sharp, of Oregon, launched a play that engraved two names on the roll of honor in the respective colleges, Weist and Lutz. Neither team had attempted any passing in the first half, but in the fourth quarter, with the score 3-0 against him, Sharp opened wide the throttle for an aerial attack. With 10 minutes left to play, he called for a forward pass to Weist, left end. The ball was shot back to Sharp, and 20 yards up the heads of the tigerish Aggie linemen whirled the leather into the cutting arms of Weist. There was nobody near him and for 20 yards he tore toward the Aggie goal, when a desperate tackle by Lutz brought him to earth on the 40-yard line.

Huntington, of the Dalles, a youngster just breaking into big-league ball, booted the ball over the crossbar as the tying score. His kick was made on the fourth down from the 32-yard line. Both teams had other opportunities to score by field goals, but other attempts failed.

Pass Is a Beauty. Personally I have never seen a prettier pass. It was the feature of the game from a spectacular standpoint. A mighty roar went up from 7000 throats as rooster, friend and foe man arose en masse and waited for the verdict. Yeager diagnosed the play instantly and tried to intercept the ball, but it sailed high and true over his finger tips.

The boot work by Lutz and Beckett was a revelation. These two sterling kickers uncovered punt after punt which soared for distances ranging between 45 and 60 yards. Particularly was this true in the first half. Each pulled one bobble on wobbly kicks that landed only 20 or 30 yards outside of these two alps, their punters were superb. The average was around the 44-yard mark and the odds with Lutz. Although Lutz and Parsons played their usual brilliant game, it was decidedly not a day for stars. Rival coaches had bullied their defenses so as to guard against the headlines.

Beckett's Defensive Work Great. Beckett displayed wonderful defensive ability and we believe we would award the individual honors to the Washington high tackle were any poll to be taken.

Football conditions were ideal. It was the biggest day the little city of Corvallis had enjoyed in many years. From early morn the town was jammed to overflowing with Oregon and Aggie partisans. At dawn the automobiles began streaming into the city from all points of the compass and the crowds coming by special train helped the restaurants and barber shops to do a thriving business.

And such a day—bright, sunny, crisp. It seemed that all the horticulturists in the valley had shipped their chrysanthemums into Corvallis. There were thousands of Oregon "mums for the Aggies and just as many Yellow" mums for the Varsity.

Crowds Throng Street. Second street, alive with a surging throng, and Jefferson street, an route to the new Corvallis stadium, was a busy busy of gossaming visitors.

Out in the stadium you would never imagine that the two big Oregon institutions entertained any bitter thoughts about the other. The crowds of students, banking the sides, were plainly jealous of each other's rooting stunts but there was no unimportant-like act recorded. In fact, the cheer sections set a precedent today that it is hoped will be emulated by other Northwest colleges. Upon the request of the officials no cheering was signalled by the leaders when the rival team had the ball. Once, after Oregon's long pass, the Aggie enthusiasts forgot themselves and began booming forth that "time-honored, 'Hold Them Aggie, Stonewall,'" but only for a moment. Instantly, upon signal from referee Varnell, the noise subsided.

Only one feature detracted from the clean, hard-fought battle—the tie score. Tie scores are not the most satisfying thing in the curriculum. Nobody wanted a tie score, and though both rooting sections celebrated as though it were a victory, down in their hearts they were pulling for a decision one way or the other.

Game Counted for Much. The Aggies, of course, were tugging at their very heart strings, because a victory over Oregon would have entitled them to an equal claim with Washington at the Northwest championship. Washington defeated Oregon last week 10-0, so it looks as if the six-times champs will make it seven times in a row next Turkey day against Washington State College.

Hugo Bezek, coach of the Oregon eleven, sent in a machine remodeled in one. The climate of the game was five regulars by accident, protest and otherwise necessitated the use of Cosman at center for Rippy, Powie, as end, in his first game, for Cornwall; Sharp, at quarter, for Cornell, and Crowell and Huntington at half. Be it said to the glory of Bezek, the Aggie stringers are as class as a set of firelocks as have ever come over the turnpike.

Penalties Not Many. Penalties were not many, although Dr. Stewart's backfield snit worried the university linemen at first and caused them to get away before the ball was snapped.

In the first quarter the advantage lay with the visitors from Eugene. Neither side made yardage, but a combination of fumbles recovered by the varsity gave the Oregon placement man, Bryant, a shot at the goal from the 25-yard line. His kick went wild and Lutz booted his bunch out of difficulty. During the rest of the quarter the ball was in the middle of the field, with much punting.

In the second quarter Abraham and Billie, smashing fullbacks on Stewart's defense for small but somewhat consistent gains, and Lutz and Yeager, at ends and tackles for yardage. At this the Aggies did not make their first three-yard gain in a half in four times, except when penalties figured.

Aggie Attack Fierce. The Aggie attack was fiercely aggressive and the orange team accomplished what Bezek's eleven had failed to do and carried the ball down the field on straight football until it was within striking distance of the goal. The line-plunging of Abraham was terrible and the fact that Eugene's defense stopped him usually for small gains speaks well for the University of Oregon.

Offsetting the Aggie's attack was the clever work of Sharp and Parsons and the off-tackle and line bucks of Bryant, who played a wonderful game. Both teams showed more defensive strength than might have been expected.

The compact three-man interference of Dr. Stewart was time and again disrupted by the Oregon wingmen. Cook and Beckett, backing up, did great work, and the wide end, Rippy, end runs by Parsons, who last year circled the Aggie ends for big gains. Schuster and Yeager repeatedly either forced the Oregon back to the line or so wide that they were caught before they started going goalwards, or else forced them to cut in sharp for small yardage. Moore and Layton, who also starred for the Aggie defense.

Lutz's goal from the field came in the early part of the third quarter, six minutes after the intermission.

Both Teams Open Strong. In the second half both teams opened up a bit, but Aggie attempts at forward passing were far from successful. Only one word, and that was for but a five-yard gain, Lutz to Billie. Beckett smeared one and Cosman recovered. The long pass from Sharp to Weist was Oregon's sole performance in this department.

At the very close of the game it looked as though a place kick would have been the Aggie's final resort, as they had the ball on Oregon's 25-yard line, but Lutz evidently overestimated his time.

Between halves stunts were clever and kept the crowd happy. Oregon students, as the guests of the day, were given the field first. Carrying lemon-yellow banners, over their shoulders, rosters formed a "U" and then an "O" and released a number of green balloons, which sailed away in the breeze.

The Aggie started things by forming a "U" in orange in the bleachers as the team took the field. Between halves the Aggie rosters, 1900 strong, were lined up in a miniature fort, labeled "Oregon," appeared on the field. Two college comedians, picketing from the fort, sighted in the distance a 2-centimeter gun, made of a pair of wagon wheels and a section of new pipe.

Stunt Well Staged. Advancing on the fort, the battery was unloosed with a loud roar, and the fort turned over, revealing a much-abused and startled goat wearing Oregon's colors. The quadruped thereupon was captured by the waiting Aggie rosters. The stunt was well staged and amusing.

The best of feeling was evidenced between players and between rooting sections. The game was fierce but clean; there was no crabbing. Play was fast, little time being taken out. No one was seriously hurt. In every respect but the score the game was perfect.

Campus games between the two leading colleges of the state appear firmly re-established. Dr. Stewart said tonight that he was well satisfied. If he can dispose of the University of California at Tacoma on Thanksgiving day the Aggies will close the season with the remarkable record of never having lost a game.

Y. M. C. A. Fund Is Growing. LA GRANDE, Or., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Slowly but surely the necessary funds for equipping and furnishing the new Young Men's Christian Association building in this city are being raised by the work in charge. The campaign was launched Wednesday, to continue for six days, with $600 in raised. The fund for the erection of the building was provided by subscription in May, 1913. The Y. M. C. A. committee has announced that it will not open the building until the money for equipping it has been pledged.

HUNTINGTON SAVES DAY

In Second Quarter Lutz Attempts an Easy Placement From 15-Yard Line, but Misses—Talks by Coaches Have Result.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Or., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—With 7000 fans jamming the bleachers and standing at the ends of the gridiron feverish with anticipation, the Oregon team appeared for the first time at 2 o'clock promptly and was followed five minutes later by the Aggie eleven. Both teams ran a few signals and then punned and passed the ball.

At 2:15 Philbin kicked off to the Aggies, Captain Hofer choosing to defend the north goal. Abraham took the kick, and came back to the 25-yard line. The first pass resulted in a recovered fumble, and the second play dittoed, eight yards out. Beckett hit the Aggie's team a chance to steady up to sharp, who was stopped by Abraham after coming in 12 yards. Sharp was hurt, but came up in a minute. Beckett punted 50 yards on the first down, Yeager returning 15. Lutz made two off tackle, but an Oregon player laid down on a fumble by the Aggie backfield and the ball was Oregon's on the O. A. C. 44-yard line.

Parsons crossbucked for seven yards, but the next pass, a direct one from the center, went bad, and Schuster, Aggie end, recovered. On the next play, kicking, and lifted a 52-yard spiral to Sharp, who was stopped by Abraham after coming in 12 yards. Sharp was hurt, but came up in a minute.
