CHURCHES OF PORTLAND TO OBSERVE THANKSGIVING DAY

Prayers of Gratitude to Mingle With Those for Sufferers in Europe, Victims of War—Special Music Is Arranged.

TODAY will be observed as Thanksgiving Sunday in many of the churches of Portland. For the occasion special sermons have been prepared and musical programmes will assume an extra brilliance. In the First Congregational Church the Rev. Luther R. Dyott will take as his theme for his evening sermon, "Thanksgiving for Greater Than Material Things."

Similar topics will be discussed by other pastors. Prayers for the sufferers from the war will be mingled with hymns and words of thanksgiving.

Presbyterians to Hold Joint Thanksgiving Services.

All Congregations Will Unite in Meeting at First Church by Dr. Harry N. Mount.

ALL the Presbyterian Churches of Portland will observe Thanksgiving day with a union praise service to be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Alder streets, at 10:30 Thursday morning.

Dr. Harry N. Mount, pastor of the Vernon Presbyterian Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. His subject is "Thanksgiving, Why and How." The public is invited to join the Presbyterians of Portland in this annual service.

Rev. John H. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, corner Twelfth and Alder streets, will preach another of his picture sermons, at the service at 7:30 tonight. The picture upon which the sermon is based is the world famous painting by Jean Francois Millet, "The Angelus," that simple, peaceful portrayal of peasant life in the fields, and the ready, natural response to the call of the chimes in the distant church tower, which touches a chord of reverence and devotion in the heart of everyone who studies this wonderful painting.

Halftone reproductions will be distributed to the congregation before the sermon, and the discourse will be an exposition of the truths suggested by the symbolic picture. No pews are reserved after 7:30.

Thanksgiving services will be held at St. James English Lutheran Church on Thursday morning. The pastor will preach and the choir will furnish suitable music.

The subject of Dr. Perry Joseph Green's lecture this morning and evening at Temple of Truth, Ellers building, will be "Gratitude, a Fountain of Life." It is Dr. Green's endeavor in this lecture to "awaken in each individual 'The God Power' or 'super consciousness,' which is the 'fountain of the eternal all,' or 'life everlasting.' That 'progression' or 'retrogression' depends entirely upon the 'love' or 'gratitude' we manifest in appreciation of the blessings we enjoy daily; that the much we earn, or the little we have, is exactly in proportion to the thought we send out to the Father, who is our power and inspiration." These lectures are free.

At the White Temple this morning, Dr. Hinson will take for his theme, "Where is God?" At this service there will be opportunity given for any to make known their intention of joining the church.

At 7:30 o'clock Bruce Evans will deliver his farewell sermon in this church. His theme will be the "End of the Road." Special singing and the ordinance of baptism will be heard at this service. A special thank offering for the work of the Evangelist will be received at these service.

On Thursday Dr. Hinson will preach the Thanksgiving sermon at the First Congregational Church at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. Dyott, the pastor, will preside. On Friday the annual thank offering meeting of the Women's Society will be held at 2:30 P. M. A general invitation is extended to all women of the church and congregation. The Willamette Association will hold its B. Y. P. U. rally in this church on Friday, November 27, beginning at 2:30. Dinner will be served at 6:30, and a social evening will follow.

Piedmont Church to Have "Real" Thanksgiving.

Donations of Food and Clothing for Poor to Be Received at Thursday's Services.

A "REAL" Thanksgiving service will be held in the Piedmont Presbyterian Church Thursday at 10:30 in the morning. The meeting will be a community affair and all who are interested are invited. Special music will be rendered.

The Rev. J. E. Snyder will give a sermon and there will be an offering received for the worthy poor. Donations of provisions, potatoes, apples, canned fruits and other things for the table and clean clothing for men, women and children will be received at the church from 9 to 11:30 o'clock and will be distributed by the Young People's Society. This will be a practical Thanksgiving planned for the church and its friends.

The eleventh lesson in the course of basic principles of truth and healing will be given by Florence Crawford tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Central Library Hall. The topic will be "Believing, or Creating the Ideal." Mrs. Eva C. Hassler will sing, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Grace Stratton, pianist.

The subject last Sunday was "Asking, Opening the Door." Mrs. Crawford said: "Few realize the great importance of 'asking' the Father, or framing in words the request sent out to the infinite mind. Simple longing, yearning and desire avail little. That is like trying to dip water from the ocean with a bottomless bucket. When we outline our desire and give it definite fixed form with our work we have made a perfect mold for substance to fill, just as the Father did when he 'through faith framed (or outlined) the worlds by the power of his word.' Then, too, the 'asking' is an act of recognition of the Father by the Son. Father and Son each have their place in the universal life. A father provides and gives; a son asks and receives. Until this relation is established, each recognizing the office of the other, perfect harmony is not established."

Mrs. Elizabeth Bond sang "The Valley of Laughter" and was accompanied by Mrs. Grace Stratton, pianist.

PROMINENT PORTLAND PASTOR IS ON WAY TO ACCEPT CALL TO GREAT FALLS, MONT.

Rev. J. F. Ghormley.

Rev. J. F. Ghormley, former city evangelist for the Christian church, and for many years a prominent minister in this city, has accepted a call to the pulpit of the First Christian Church in Great Falls, Mont. Rev. Ghormley came to Portland with his family in 1897. He was pastor of the First Christian Church for seven years and of the Central Christian Church for nine years. Both churches were built during his pastorate.

Mr. Ghormley left Portland two months ago. He will take up the duties of his new pastorate on December 1. Mrs. Ghormley left Portland last Friday to join her husband.

DOG MAY INHERIT KINK

Court Decides Peculiarity Descends From Father to Son.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 15.—Deciding that a pup could inherit a kink in its tail from a similar peculiarity attached to its father, no matter if the wagger did happen to receive its twist through an accident after the "dad" had reached his majority, District Court Judge Frank Smathers recently awarded Elmer D. Sooy, of this city, a rabbit hound pup, to which booth Sooy and Thomas Hudson, of Pleasantville, claim ownership.

Sooy trotted in a putative papa hound which had an odd curl in its wagger. Under cross-examination he testified that the peculiar kink was there because a third-rail trolley had run over it. The pup happened to have a similar Marcel to its tail.

Hudson, on the other hand, led in another supposed pop hound, which had blotches on its flanks identical to those that marked the pup, and said it was this dog's offspring.

It was too much for the court to decide in one sitting, but he did manage to decide later; and Sooy got the pup. The animal is worth $50, but the two men spent more than three times that amount; and Hudson says he will appeal and spend as much more, if necessary, to win.

SAUERKRAUT CITY PUZZLE

Fifty-seven Barrels of Ancient Vintage Perplex Authorities.

READING, Pa., Nov. 15.—A serious problem which confronts the city's department, although it involves nothing more or less than 57 barrels of sauerkraut, which a cold storage plant had stored, must be referred to the State Department for solution.

In March, 1913, a local firm, which has gone out of business since, bought the 57 barrels of perfectly good sauerkraut, such as is made in rural Berks County, and had it stored in the cold storage plant. It was never taken out, and has long since spoiled and become so odoriferous that its smell permeats through the cement and ground tunnel in which it has been placed.

The sauerkraut cannot be hauled away as garbage; hogs would not eat it; it can't be thrown into the river or on the dump, so it is up to the combined efforts of the city and state health departments to find a way to dispose of it.

HOME IS USED AS SIMILE

that have been in my mind during this whole service. Lines that have almost escaped my lips several times already. They express the yearning of an exile for the place of childhood's pleasures. I have felt their power frequently in the past, as I feel it now.

Oh, to be home again, home again, home again,
Down by the meadow, and down by the mill;
Father is calling me, mother is calling me.
Calling me, calling me, calling me still.

Oh, to be wandering, wandering, wandering
Through the green meadows, and over the hill;
Sisters are calling me, brothers are calling me.
Calling me, calling me, calling me still.

Oh, once again to be home again, home again,
Dark grows the night, and the evening is chill;
Do you not hear how the voices are calling
To me,
Calling me, calling me, calling me still.

Ah, do you not hear how the voices are calling, calling, calling—thank God—still?

(Washington Star.)

"I must say," said the man who makes sapient observations, "that the Chinese are mighty quick about catching on to the ways of our higher civilization. They're good sports, too. I saw one with fingernails an inch long."

"Do you think they indicated sympathy with our civilized customs?"

"When a Chinaman makes a freak election bet, not having any whiskers worth mentioning, he has to agree not to cut his fingernails till his party comes into power."
