

MILWAUKIE DEMAND OF LEAGUE

Speakers at Meeting Score Failure to Close Two Alleged Resorts.

HARM TO CITY IS CITED

Clackamas Prosecutor is Principal Talker—Republican Candidate Attends Opposition Meeting and Gives Views.

MILWAUKIE, Or., Dec. 5.—(Special.) District Attorney Hedges of Clackamas County, who is the principal speaker at the rally held here last night by the Good Government League...

Situation Is Reviewed. District Attorney Hedges reviewed the situation in Milwaukie and arranged the Friars' Club and Hotel Belle in several terms...

Mr. Hedges said that all the power of his office would be used to see that the city would be fair and legal. Any attempt at illegal voting, he said, would be severely punished.

A message from Governor West was read saying that the state law requiring foreigners to have their first and second papers had passed and must be complied with.

Suppression of Resorts Urged. E. G. Skulason, candidate for Councilman from the Second Ward, gave a review of the situation. He said that it was not the candidates on that ticket who were the cause of the trouble...

G. A. Seaver, candidate for Councilman from the First Ward, a cartoonist, drew pictures of the different tickets, but the most significant cartoon was that of the present Council presenting to King Gratton with a license for the Hotel Belle...

Republishes Also Present. Sheriff Mass attended the meeting. Friends of the Republican ticket also attended.

The two tickets in the field are: Citizens—Mayor, G. C. Pelton; Councilmen, First Ward, G. A. Seaver and A. J. Walker; Councilmen, Second Ward, W. H. Graese and E. G. Skulason; Councilman-at-Large, E. A. Johnson; Marshal, Sam Riley; Treasurer, A. L. Bolstad; Recorder, David P. Matthews.

Both candidates for Mayor have pledged themselves to enforce the law and put their clubs out of business, if necessary, in the enforcement.

BONDING CHANGE IS AIM

Bancroft Act Is Declared Hardship in Some Cases.

Believing that some of the provisions of the Bancroft bonding act under which the city now handles street and sewer improvements are inadequate, the City Commission proposes to submit to the State Legislature some amendments to make the handling of improvement bonds and assessments less cumbersome and expensive and relieving some of the owners of prop-

ELECTRIC CODE ISSUE

CASH BOND FOR CONTRACTOR TO BE ARGUED AT HEARING.

Provision Would Oust Small Concerns and Independent Wiremen From Business as Main Content.

Electrical contractors, wiremen and small electric concerns have been notified by City Commissioner Dieck that on December 11 there will be a hearing at which all concerned will be permitted to give their views on the provisions of a proposed electric code that has been prepared by a committee representing the electrical contractors and the electric workers' union and fixture men.

This probably is the announcement of the opening of a heated controversy which was started several months ago when the proposed new code was completed. It has been held in abeyance by Commissioner Dieck.

The principal bone of contention is a provision which if adopted by the City Council, will require every contractor to furnish a cash bond of $100 in addition to a surety bond of $100 before undertaking any electric work. It is declared by members of the electrical union that this is a provision aimed to oust small concerns and independent wiremen out of the contracting business.

It is said that if an electrician who is out of work gets a job of wiring a house he must not only furnish to the city a surety bond of $500, but he must also put up $100 in cash as an additional bond. It is contended that in hundreds of cases in Portland this would prevent good workmen from taking contracts, because they could not furnish the $100 cash bond.

Another union argument is that the surety bond of $500 which is exacted from all contractors is sufficient to protect the public from unskilled or unreliable workmen. In case a contract is not completed properly, it is said, the surety bond furnishes ample protection.

PENSION CHANGE LIKELY

OREGON CONGRESS OF MOTHERS WOULD LIMIT PAYMENTS.

Legislature to Be Asked to Alter Law to Require Certain Period of Residence of Beneficiaries.

Amendments to the widows' pension law now in effect will be sought at the coming session of the Legislature. The Oregon Congress of Mothers, which is responsible for the law, also framed the amendments to be presented to the Legislature for action.

The changes desired are more matters of detail than that they affect the chief purpose and intent of the law. They will ask that a certain period of residence in this state be required before anyone may become a beneficiary of the act, and it is expected that a maximum pension to be paid to any family will be fixed at $40. Certain other conditions to be complied with also will be included.

A saving of $18,000 for the current year in the administration of the widows' pension is claimed by Peter McInosh, Chief Probation Officer of the Juvenile Court, through which the pensions are awarded and paid. The amount asked for the coming year will be the same as last, $50,000.

During each month of 1934 there has been an increase of approximately $100 over the preceding month in the amount paid in pensions. During the current year to November 1, $25,251 has been paid. The law went into effect June 3, 1913, and during the remainder of that year pensions aggregating $14,730 were paid.

New coops costing the organization $2000 have been built for the show this year. The entire second floor of the Pittock Block will be used to house the exhibits. One of the most interesting of the exhibits will be the hairy Dodo bird entered by John M. Mann, of Portland.

ARCHITECT BILL NOW UP

Judge Cleton Recounts Kelly Butte Agreement in Letter.

For the information of the County Commissioners and the County Auditor in dealing with the claim of Whidden & Lewis, architects, for preparing plans for the Kelly Butte jail, County Judge Cleton has submitted a letter recounting the circumstances, since the matter came up while he was chairman of the Board.

Since that time Whidden & Lewis put in a bill for $710, which the Commissioners have reported unfavorably. Judge Cleton states in his letter that he recalls Mr. Whidden's conversation distinctly, but he believes this would have been upon him, and the work would entitle the firm to compensation. However, as to whether the bill will be paid, he says, rests with the present Board.

WEST MAY BE FOILED

ABILITY TO OUST COUNTY JUDGES LACKING, IS OPINION.

Cleton Relies on Constitution as Interpreted by Attorney Evans and Banishes Worry.

Governor West's statement that he is likely to declare the office of County Judge vacant in several counties of the state and appoint their successors may meet with cruel disappointment, it is said by legal authorities here who are somewhat familiar with what a Governor may do by warrant of law. The constitution, they say, fixes some bounds as to what may be attempted by an erratic state executive.

County Judge Cleton refused to worry yesterday about the possibility of his being yanked out of his latest berth by the Governor. He relies upon the constitutional statement that officials retain their offices until their successors are elected, otherwise no vacancy occurs. This is particularly true in this county, where no candidates for the office of County Judge appeared on the ballot and those who have looked into the subject see no chance for Judge Cleton to be ousted.
