COUNTY COURT SCORED

OFFICIALS ASKED TO RECONSIDER FAIR APPROPRIATION.

Recall Murmurs, Hitherto Heard Not, Voiced at Mass Meeting, But Plans to Raise Funds Discussed.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—The widespread dissatisfaction, giving frequent rise to murmurs of a recall against the County Court for having cut the proposed appropriation of $2000 for a publicity campaign at the San Francisco Exposition to $1200 culminated in a mass meeting today, when the crowd filling the assembly hall of the Commercial Club, with the exception of eight citizens present, voted to appeal to the court to reconsider the matter and increase the amount to the original sum.

No recent discussion has created such an interest. While a faction has opposed the expenditure of funds for publicity at the World's Fair, the sentiment of the community as expressed at public meetings and before the court itself, has seemed overwhelmingly in favor of the appropriation of the original sum.

With County Judge Stanton and Commissioner Hawkes present, the court was criticized severely for the action. While both declared it would be unlawful for them to reconsider the budget and make an increase in its items, they declared that they had rested under misapprehension as to the demands for funds to be used for the publicity campaign, having been under the impression that the local Commercial Club had raised funds for the expense of exhibiting a large apple at the Fair.

It was suggested that the court appropriate $700 from the general county fund. The members of the court, however, expressed themselves as being averse to such action.

It was suggested at the meeting that the money be appropriated by the Applegrowers' Association, which has the power under its contracts with growers to deduct the sum of 2 cents a box from apple sales for advertising.

NIGHT SCHOOLS LAUDED

BOSTON PUBLISHER DECLARES PORTLAND STANDS HIGH.

Junior High School and Junior College Two Necessities Today in Education of Youth, He Says.

The Portland night schools have no superior in the United States and scarcely an equal, while the form of Parent-Teacher Associations perfected in Portland are absolutely the best in the country," said Dr. E. A. Winship, of Boston, who for 20 years has been the publisher of the Journal of Education, at the Multnomah Hotel yesterday.

"But Portland is entirely out of date in high school agriculture. If it would modernize with an agricultural high school and similar agencies four times as many boys would enter from the elementary schools and would finish. Portland has started a lot of good things in the line of manual training and trade school work, but it is a shame you haven't a junior high school and a junior college in this city.

"The outstanding tendency in modern education is the right to equal education for the people who stand for tradition in school thought and those of us who stand for the modern system. The modern educator wishes to give the boy a chance to study what he wants on the ground that the college is for the boy and not the boy for the college. Nobody objects to Latin and algebra for the fellow who wants them, but I contend that no one has any business to force these studies on any boy. Such action tends to make a runt of the boy."

Dr. Winship, who has been to the Pacific Coast nearly 50 times since his first visit to San Francisco in 1840, will deliver several public addresses in Portland during the week.

Tomorrow morning he will speak at the Jefferson High School; tomorrow night he will address 10 East Side school communities at the Creston School; Tuesday morning he will address the Lincoln High School, and Wednesday morning the Washington School. He also will address the Progressive Business Men at luncheon on Thursday.

If you can't help yourself, don't expect too much from the administration.

FIREMEN RACE AT MEET

CORVALLIS TOURNAMENT SEES ALL ASSEMBLE IN 430 MINUTES.

Open House, Banquet and Dance Put Finishing Touches to Successful Event—Speeches Are Made.

CORVALLIS, Or., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—The annual firemen's tournament here yesterday was the most successful ever held. A general alarm was turned in at 2 o'clock. From the time the alarm was turned in, until the last company arrived and laid its hose ready for water was 4 minutes and 30 seconds. The hose race, under the rules used in the St. John's tournament last Summer, was won by company number four in 23 and three-fifths seconds.

As a climax, the firemen held open house at 6 o'clock and served a five-course banquet to 200 guests. Before the close of the banquet, a fire alarm called the active firemen to the scene of the blaze.

A number of Albany firemen were present with James McKee, ex-chief of the old fire department, of Albany, now disbanded. The oldest fireman present was Jesse Spencer who was a member of the Corvallis Fire Department in 1873, and worked on the fire at which George P. Wren, Corvallis' first Fire Chief, was killed.

M. M. Long, the last chief of the department during the days of hand-drawn apparatus, presented a purse to the firemen, the gift of Corvallis business men. The purse contained $11. James Horning, an ex-fireman, presented the winners of the hose race with a prize of $5.

After the banquet, and when the firemen had returned from the fire, the tables were set aside and a dance was held.

W. H. Cundey Is Promoted.

Circulars have been received by railroad men in Portland announcing the appointment of W. H. Cundey as assistant general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad at Denver. Mr. Cundey for many years was general agent for the same road and its affiliations at Colorado Springs and is well known in Portland and the Northwest. A. C. Wilson, heretofore commercial freight agent at Colorado Springs, has been appointed general agent there to succeed Mr. Cundey.

OLD FIREBOAT GETS BERTH

Harriman Interests Donate Quarters for George H. Williams.

The city finally has secured a berth for the old fireboat George H. Williams, which recently was rebuilt for fire service. Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby the boat will occupy a berth on property owned by the Harriman interests near the foot of Hoyt street.

A watch-room, where the alarm service will be installed, will be established on the dock. Quarters for the men will be fitted up on a scow which has been donated by the railroad interests along with the berth for the boat. The boat is to be fitted with comfortable apartments. The arrangements have been made so that the whole plan can be worked out at little cost.

Comparatively few cases are an arterial as the speed of the doctor's automobile might indicate.
