

COMMITTEE OF 100 TO OPPOSE CHANGE

J. E. Wheeler Says Dry Organization Stands for Impartial Prohibition Law.

PRIVILEGES NOT FAVORED

Even if Constitutional, It Is Asserted, No Measure Would Be Supported Granting Rights to Rich Denied to Poor.

That the Committee of One Hundred will feel compelled to oppose any law that may be proposed giving clubs the power either to have locker rooms or to sell liquor, or similar privileges for hotels, no matter what their size, was declared yesterday by J. E. Wheeler, chairman of the committee, talking by long distance telephone from McCormick, Wash.

"I am inclined to believe," said Mr. Wheeler, "that even were we willing to support the clubs or hotels in their reported desires, any measure giving them special privileges would be held unconstitutional."

"Our legal committee has given a great deal of time to this bill. As it is drawn up it expresses our belief. We can make no compromise with the hotels. Were we to do so, where would it end? The Committee of One Hundred has no intention of being accused of playing fast and loose with the people."

Wet's Assertions Belied.

"As to the clubs, the mere suggestion is impossible. The wet campaign leaders, during the campaign, assured the people that members of the committee who were members of clubs would provide special privileges for these clubs. We said then and we say now that such is not the case. It has never been the intention of the committee to give privileges to the rich man that the poor man cannot have. In fact, were it possible, we would rather give the preference the other way."

Mr. Wheeler yesterday reiterated the committee's position, which is that the organization was purely a campaign one; that the proposed measure had been prepared at the instance of members of the Legislature, backed up by the various city organizations, and that it represented in the view of the legal sub-committee and the executive members of the Committee of One Hundred "the spirit and letter" of the prohibition amendment.

Bill Praised by Many.

The Committee of One Hundred has received congratulations from many other prohibition states on the preliminary draft of the bill, and in several instances, it was asserted that the bill represented the best type of prohibition law that has yet been offered. It is but right that the members of the Legislature should know that we are indebted tremendously to Arthur M. Churchill, a member of the committee and chairman of the legal sub-committee, for the final draft of the bill," said Mr. Wheeler. "Entirely without remuneration, Mr. Churchill has devoted his entire time for five weeks to drawing up the bill. To my personal knowledge he has worked early and late and no little credit is due him."

"At the same time his co-workers, A. L. Vezio, Robert J. Brock and S. Fred Wilson, gave much time, particularly the first two named, who were assigned to them being unduly onerous."

"The preparation of the bill involved a study of every prohibition law enacted and the best points of these are embodied in the bill."

LIMIT CLAUSE STRICKEN OUT

Committee of One Hundred Meets

Wishes of Other Organizations.

Following receipt of many objections from the leaders of various dry organizations of the state, the Committee of One Hundred yesterday decided to eliminate from its proposed prohibitory measure, which will be presented in the House immediately after organization, all limitations of the amount of liquor that may be shipped in by any individual for his personal use or that of his family.

Up to the present the limit stood five gallons of spirituous or vinous liquors and 20 gallons of malt liquors in one month.

"In the opinion of the committee," said Orton E. Goodwin, publicity manager for the Committee of One Hundred, "this clause is of minor importance. With this elimination, it is believed the measure has the support of all dry organizations in the state, among these being the Anti-Saloon League, Woman's Christian Temperance Union and Prohibition Party."

"The reason for the elimination was that many of the most ardent supporters of the dry amendment felt they might have to withhold support from the bill as it stood. They believed that this clause (section 11) might give the impression that this much liquor could be purchased by 'bootleggers' and others with impunity, and that thereby a way would be opened for illicit selling."

"In eliminating the restrictive provision, the legal sub-committee, consisting of Arthur M. Churchill, A. L. Vezio, S. Fred Wilson and Robert J. Brock, reports that it is not essential to the effective enforcement of the amendment."

"There is no limitation in either Kansas, West Virginia or North Dakota. The limit was suggested as a borrowed from New Carolina. So far as we are aware the only state which has enacted a more severe regulation is Washington, and as yet this is untried in practice. Possibly Oklahoma may have a smaller limit."

"It must be borne in mind carefully that even the shipment of unlimited quantities will not permit the sale or the use in violation of the law. All of the Kansas legal machinery would still be available for prosecutions, and in that state has been found entirely effective."

"The committee has received much criticism for the limit from a faction which believed it too high, from another which believed it too low and from still a third which felt that any limitation was not in sympathy with the promises made by the committee in the pre-election period, which were that there would be no restrictions on individual use in the home."

"In view of all these considerations, the committee has decided that the best ends will be served by the elimination of the limit."

"With this exception, the bill has not been amended in any particular and the Committee of One Hundred will press for its passage without amendment."

MUSICAL STARS UNITE FOR PORTLAND RECITAL

Alma Gluck, Coloratura Soprano, to Appear With Husband, Efrem Zimbalist, on Tour After Recent Marriage.

MADAME ALMA GLUCK, MADAME SEMBRICH AND EFREM ZIMBALIST.

BY FAR the most interesting and important news of the musical season in Portland is the announcement that two of the newest and most brilliant stars of European fame, Alma Gluck, the young coloratura soprano, and Efrem Zimbalist, the Russian genius of the violin, after being driven from Europe by the war, have been persuaded to unite forces in a joint recital in Portland in the near future.

Each one of these newly-arrived celebrities has been starting it alone, drawing record-breaking audiences. Then the little girl of love interfered, uniting their destinies at the altar in London last June, a few weeks before the war broke out.

Although the young bride and groom have been booked for separate tours by their august management, Cupid, that little autocrat, has ordained otherwise, and, assisted by Steers & Coman, will bring the two together for their Portland recital, which will be the source of much delight to music-lovers.

In Switzerland this Summer Alma Gluck and Efrem Zimbalist enjoyed a delightful musical friendship with Madame Sembrich. At her villa in Nice and later at her charming home at Chamounix, among the Swiss Alps, Sembrich coached the young diva, imparting to her that exquisite refinement of art, so subtle and so profound,

HARDWARE SESSION SET

RETAILERS' ASSOCIATION CONVENTION HERE JANUARY 26.

Meetings Will Be Held for Four Days and Matters of Importance to Trade Are to Be Considered.

The Oregon Retail Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association will hold its next annual convention at the Imperial Hotel, January 26 to 29.

The first session will be called to order at 2 o'clock the afternoon of January 26. Lot L. Pearce, of Salem, president, will preside.

The railroads have granted reduced rates on the certificate plan, covering the entire states of Washington and Oregon and as far east as Boise, Idaho. Important matters to the trade will be considered.

There will be two open and two closed sessions. The open sessions will be held January 26 and 27.

At the first day's session the president will deliver his annual address, appoint the committees and reports of officers will be made. H. J. Altman, secretary, has worked out a plan for competition, which he hopes the convention will endorse. The jobbers have been co-operating with him in the matter.

The heads of jobbing houses and manufacturers have been invited to attend all open sessions.

At the second day's session an address will be delivered by an instructor of the Oregon Agricultural College on the question of "Economic Value and Efficiency." It will cover "The causes of so much business going to the mail order house and how this may be prevented."

It is not known definitely whether the jobbers will furnish an entertainment. It is probable, however, that they will see that the "closed" time will be pleasantly and profitably spent within the Portland.

All retailers are invited to attend. A number of jobbing houses have made reservations for rooms at the hotel where they will have exhibits on display.

Declaring that unnecessary cuts were made and that pavement was laid improperly in Lamson avenue and other streets from Patton Road to the west line of Greenway Addition, property owners assessed for the cost of the work have filed a lengthy remonstrance against acceptance of the contract by the city. The work has been finally inspected and approved by City Engineer Dater. At the regular meeting of the City Council Wednesday the remonstrators will be heard.

The work was done by the Montague-O'Reilly Company and cost $13,386.17. The property owners complain that the work was not done properly and that cuts were so made that retaining walls are necessary to protect some of the property.

The experiment is being tried in Kansas of irrigation by means of a great battery of windmills, which pump the water from the interior of the earth and deposit it in dirt reservoirs, where it is stored until wanted.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Edwards celebrated their golden wedding at their home, 1837 Woolsey street, December 17. Mr. Edwards was born in Grayson County, Virginia, August 21, 1815. Mrs. Edwards, who was Elizabeth Isom, was born December 27, 1818. They were married in Alleghany County, North Carolina, in 1844 and came to Oregon in 1872, settling in Linn County, near Harrisburg.

Mr. Edwards served as First Lieutenant in Company C, of the Eleventh Virginia Cavalry in the Civil War, and during a skirmish was wounded at Old Town, Maryland. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are the parents of 11 children, of whom ten are living—Mrs. F. E. Williams, Ashland, Or.; Mrs. J. P. Troutman, 335 Lafayette street, Portland; Mrs. M. E. Brady, Le Grande, Or.; Mrs. E. W. Gordon, Powell River, B. C.; Mrs. George M. Read, 341 Prescott street; Mrs. O. A. Anderson, 157 Woolsey street; John, of Halsey, Or.; Hugh, Eugene, Or.; Dr. R. L. of Salem, and R. L. of Halsey, Or.

yet spontaneous as emotion itself upwelling from the human heart. This is the second Summer Sembrich has brought all the magic of her art to the aid of this beautiful young daughter of the gods, endowed by nature with a voice that is pronounced the most wonderful of its kind now on the earth. It is a lyric soprano of indescribable golden quality, that brings to mind Patti and Melba and Sembrich at their best.

Describing those elysian days at the beautiful Sembrich villa, Alma Gluck says: "Mornings we generally went over songs—songs of all kinds, classic, Italian and French songs, Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert, Brahms, Debussy, Massenet—everything. Then we had luncheon, and after luncheon I vocalized and we read poetry and various other things. We passed much time over the words of the songs I was learning, even inquiring into their deeper philosophic meanings. What ever Madame Sembrich does she does thoroughly and from the heart. With her there are no half-way measures. She goes to the bottom of everything and she made me go with her. Such an education is beyond all price in these days when the rare art of bel canto is well nigh extinct."

Alma Gluck is the only singer living to carry on the tradition of this precious bel canto, destined, except for her, to become only a matter of history.

PENSIONS MAY COME

Dismissal of Three City Employees May Raise Issue.

MR. DALY CONSIDERS PLAN

Information Is Gathered From Other Municipalities Having Systems, and Matter May Be Put Before Commission.

The dismissal yesterday by City Commissioner Dick better known out laborers, one of whom has been doing manual labor in the city's sewer bureau for 12 years and the others of whom have worked for nearly four years, is expected to bring to an issue before the City Council and the Civil Service Board the question of pensions for such city employees. The dismissals are only three of many in the last year or two.

The first to be dropped was Russell Chamberlain who served as a janitor at the City Hall for 12 years. He was dropped by Commissioner Brewster but was reinstated by the Civil Service Board. Legal complications arising from this case are pending before the State Supreme Court.

Blacksmith Is Dismissed. Last week City Commissioner Bice dismissed C. J. Herman, a blacksmith in the municipal shops. Age has played a part in Mr. Herman's inability to perform properly a full day's work.

The three latest dismissals are of Chris Holweger, J. H. Armstrong and George Lubbers. Mr. Armstrong has been working with pick and shovel for the city for 12 years and Mr. Holweger and Mr. Lubbers for about four years each.

The question of a relief and pension system for such men has been under consideration for some time by City Commissioner Daly. He is gathering information from other cities which have such systems. In the City Water Bureau, over which Commissioner Daly has control, there are many men who have served the better parts of their lives in the city service. There are several employees who have been in the service more than 20 years and one who has been there for 29 years.

Condition Cases Loss. The same applies to the City Hall Bureau, the Park Bureau and the Department of Public Works. Men well along in years are said in many cases to be unable to do a day's work such as is done by younger men.

It is contended that there is an economic loss as a consequence which amounts to considerable each year. It is the opinion of many that the city would save money by maintaining a pension system for such men.

Commissioner Daly also has in mind the establishment of the relief feature along with the pension system. He says laborers doing heavy work often become injured and are thrown out of work. In case of permanent inability these people soon become indigent.
