San Franciscan Avers That No Kind of Boxing Is Preferable to Limited - Round, No - Decision Fights as in East.

BY HARRY B. SMITH. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—(Spe cial.)-Jimmy Coffroth, premier fight California in the days of long ago, started a ruction in fight cles a few days ago, when he came out with an assertion relative to the -round boxing game. Coffroth didn't minue his words.

Coffroth didn't mince his words. He spoke his piece in no uncertain style, and when the Eastern promoters read what he has to say there's bound to be more or less kicking.

"There was never a 10-round bout in Philadelphia of any importance that was absolutely on the level," said Coffroth, "and I doubt if there are many matches in New York or Milwaukee of any class that are not 'arranged."
Coffroth declares that if necessary he confroth declares that if necessary he could substantiate his statement with correspondence from some of the leading lights in the fistic world. The promoter insists that he isn't particularly anxious to befoul his own nest, but that if it is a case of telling the truth, he could say nothing else.

Motion pictures are now being ut in golf instruction. The above series of the views were elicited in a general discussion of the boxing situation in the state and the probability of rather the lack of probability of a return to the old conditions. Coffroth, as has been said before, does not believe in 10-round bouts and admits that he would far rather see no boxing at all, than limited-round encounters with no decisions. He feels that such a sport would kill off fighting just as surely as no fighting at all and he prefers to face the situation squarely.

It is an open secret that receipts have dropped off to a remarkable extent in the Eastern and Middle Western centers and that is unquestionably due to the general falling off in interest that has been shown.

When there are so many bouts with the champion losing the papular verilet and still holding close to his title, there is bound to be a disgust on the part of fundom. That is why, unquestionably. Coffroth has seen fit to come out in the open and score the 10-round game.

Willie Ritchie spent a couple of days to San Francisco this week on his way to San Francisco this week on his way.

Willie Ritchie spent a couple of days in San Francisco this week on his way East. He was considering accepting another week of vandeville work in the Northwest, but at the last moment declined. The theatrical people were willing to pay him his price for a week each in Portland and Seattle, but he declared that would interfere with his training.

Multinomah Club's soccer team scored five goals against Portland Academy reduced him considerably in poundage, but he needs a lot of boxing to put him in the best of condition for the bout that is to come. If Ritchie can't make a decent showing against Welsh, he might as well be prepared to quit the game for good. On the other hand, it he does work well with the present title holder, he will have a renewed life and plenty of coin ahead of him.

Amateur Athletic Union officials have given up as a bad job the task of handling the four-round contests in San-Francisco. In the last two or three shows, boxers have applied for registration and have received recognition at the hands of the Pacific Association officials.

There has been any amount of troutle beautre.

MOTION PICTURES SHOW HOW CRACK GOLF PROFESSIONAL MAK ES MASHIE SHOT.

Motion pictures are now being utilized to teach dance steps, school exercises, cartooning and other useful arts, and it will not be long before the "movies" will cut an important figure in golf instruction. The above series of motion pictures was taken by N. Olness, of the Northwest Weekly, for The Oregonian, and they depict J. Martin Watson, the professional at the Waverly Country Club, in the act of manipulating a perfect mashle shot.

This is the third and last of a series of golf pictures posed for by Mr. Watson, and, judging from the compliments that have come in from golfers all over the Pacific Northwest, the experiment of using the movies in golf has been watched with unusual interest.
