

SOCIETY

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

returned to their country place at Dilley, Or., and Mrs. Llewellyn, of Chicago.

The dining-room was adorned with bowls of pink and white sweet peas and ferns, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Charles Overmeyer. Card honors fell to Mrs. N. E. Ayer and Mrs. Martin Gay Lombard.

There is quite a colony of Montana women in Portland, and the affair was notable for the reunion of old friends from the mining state, the hostess likewise coming from that section of the country.

Mrs. Hoge wore a striking gown of black jetted net built over white satin. Mrs. Forbis' gown was also of black—an imported creation of platted chiffon with Spanish lace, over a black satin petticoat.

Miss Collins wore a charming summery frock of white net and lace, with broad girde of apple-green taffeta.

Playing in the games were Mesdames Warren, McCord, George, Collins, Ralph W. Hoyt, Robert Woolcott, Forbis, Charles Gray, Russell E. Sewall, Thomas D. Honeyman, Samuel C. Ludas, Fredrick Stanley, Frederick H. Page, J. D. Farrell, George A. Marshall, N. E. Ayer, Sherman O'Gorman, Louis Gerlinger, Jr., Llewellyn, Charles Overmeyer, Frederick A. Mitehey, James D. Honeyman, James D. Hart, Martin Gay Lombard, H. H. Northrup, C. C. Smith, Wilson Clark, Edwin C. Gittner, Adrian McCalmann, R. L. Rush, Solomon Blumauer, Goldsmith, John Lothrop, Sig Sichel, Charles Whitney, Rudolph Frank, G. Goodall, Gustav E. Bruere, A. E. Rockey, Paul Rockey, Eugene Rockey, Frederick Pendleton, Otis B. Wright, John F. Carroll, Roy Johnson, M. L. McMaster, Thomas Williams, I. L. Patterson, Henry E. Dodge, P. J. Mann, James Cole, R. M. Dooly, Grant H. Page, J. D. Willey, L. A. Bell, I. D. Peters, Thomas Saul, Lane Goodell, Walter Mackay, Leo Friede, Henry Goode, Julius Louisson, Albert Schwaibler, C. W. Wiman, Miller, Adams, of Great Falls, Mont.; Arthur Mears, Anker T. Henningsen, Emma Schatzlein, of Butte, Mont.; John Gil, E. E. Lytle, E. O. Downing, Jesse Sharp, Leroy Parker, J. A. Peters, George Peters, George Taylor, W. H. Dunckley, Gustav von Eszterick, Walter Honeyman, W. B. Ayer, D. A. Shindler, Gilbert Durham, Marybell C. Towle, Landon R. Mason, William Honeyman, Edwin J. Russell, S. M. Mears, Robert Washburn, of Minneapolis; M. H. Steers, Joseph Howles, Guy W. Talbot, W. Lewis, Frank M. Warren, Sr., and the Misses Failing, Wilson, Camille Dosech, Katherine Hart, Nan Russell, Gertrude Talbot and Marjorie Forbis.

Mrs. Warren McCord will give a bridge on Tuesday for several Montana matrons, her guests being Mrs. Henningsen and her house guest, Mrs. Schatzlein, and Mrs. Llewellyn, of Chicago, will be the guest of honor at which for Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Overmeyer will be hosts.

Miss Claire Wilcox, of Portland, who, with her mother, is the house guest of her cousins, the Joseph D. Grants, at their beautiful home on Broadway, San Francisco, was entertained recently at a luncheon by Misses Beera and Fredericka Otis, charming members of the ultra-exclusive smart set of San Francisco. Among those who greeted the charming visitor, were Mrs. Lovell Langstroth, Mrs. Miller Griffith, Mrs. Ernest Stillman, of New York; the Misses Henrietta Harrison Smith, Violet Conroy, Isabel Beer, Lillian Whitney, Gertrude O'Brien and Miss Helen Jones.

Miss Wilcox has just returned from a visit to Del Monte with some of the members of the San Francisco smart set. Recently Mrs. Grant entertained in her honor at a tea dance at the St. Francis, about 20 of the debutante set enjoyed Mrs. Grant's hospitality.

Little Miss Jean Bruere, pretty daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gustav E. Bruere, celebrated her third birthday Wednesday with one of the most attractive parties of the week. Her party, numbering 17, were all about three years of age, and the spacious drawing-room was converted into a nursery for the occasion, with all the toys and games dear to the hearts of the little tots.

The children seated around the table, laden with goodies and brilliant blossoms, made a fascinating scene. From the big "Jack Horner pie," in the center of the table, ribbons led to each little one's place, and the end of which was found a pretty favor. Place cards were held by kittens, cunningly curled up at each cover.

A charming affair of the early week was the tea for which Miss Dorothy Sanford was hostess, honoring Sallie Paige, of Spokane, house guest of Miss Margaret Mackenzie, with whom she is passing the week-end at Gearhart. About 70 of the younger set called on Tuesday afternoon to greet the visitor.

The rooms were decked admirably with quantities of spring blossoms, and the tea table was especially attractive with tulips and daffodils. Mrs. Hall Stoner Lusk and Mrs. Medford Reed, two brides of the year, presided. They were assisted by Misses Margaret Mackenzie, V'ona Guthrie, Margaret Bates, Genevieve Butterfield, Helen McCusker, Barbara Macey and Elsie Hamilton.

A large and elaborate bridge party will be given Wednesday at the Hotel Benson by Mrs. J. Meier, Mrs. Abe Meier and Mrs. Julius L. Meier.

Honoring Miss Bonnie Cope, of Walla Walla, Miss Constance Piper entertained on Wednesday afternoon with a box party at the Hellig Theater, followed by tea at Hotel Portland. Additional guests were Miss Helen Gregg, Miss Helen Sharpstein, Miss Marcia Parker and Miss Kathleen Sealy.

Miss Audrey Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Collins, entertained with a pretty Valentine dancing party at her home in Wellesley Court on Wednesday. The ballroom was decked effectively with hearts, Cupids, arrows and fernery. The guests included Yvonne Coffey, Ruth Constantine, Beatrice Cather, Mildred Crawford, Marie Flynn, Emily Akers, Charlotte Lee, Beatrice Hermannson, Lucile Bahl, Charlotte Mooney, Inez Fairchild, Vivian Garman, Ruth Cauthorn, Helen Kerchner, Frances Young, Audrey Collins, Philip Stronbridge, Lathrop Adair, George Klieser, William Patterson, Victor Christensen, Thaddeus Moses, Raymond Douglas, Floyd Bam-

Mrs. Charles Overmeyer, who is passing several weeks in California.

One of the most eagerly anticipated events in the large card party for which the Mesdames Meier will be hostesses on Wednesday at Hotel Benson, with the Chamber Concert at the Art Museum on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glichrist Owen, of Medford, Or., are renewing acquaintances and being entertained in a delightful manner for a few weeks, which they are passing at the Hotel Benson. They have been making their home in Medford, where Mr. Owen has extensive interests.

Miss Bonnie Cope, of Walla Walla, who is an unusually attractive and charming girl, is the house guest of Miss Helen Gregg. Several affairs have been given in her honor and numerous others of an informal nature will mark her visit here during the next few weeks.

A trio of future members of Portland's society were welcomed to this city last week. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooke were showered with congratulations on the arrival of their second child, a son. Mrs. Brooke was Miss Christine Pomeroy, of San Francisco. On the same day Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eugene Kingsbury (Lullie Hall) also were felicitated on the arrival of their second son, who will be named in honor of his father. Thursday Miss Lucy Shepard arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Shepard (Elsie Failing), of Hood River. The Shephards have been wintering in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacMaster left yesterday for a 10 days' trip to Spokane and Victoria, B. C. During their absence, the Misses Miasie and Alisa MacMaster are enjoying a visit to Rogers Camp, or Mount Hood Lodge, Parkdale.

A charming affair of midweek was the dinner party followed by a party at the Orpheum Theater Wednesday night presided over by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mackay. Their guests were Dr. and Mrs. William H. Skene, Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Morton H. Insley.

Relieving the dullness of the first week of Lent was the elaborate and charming bridge-tea, for which Mrs. Richard R. Hoge was hostess on Tuesday afternoon. The room was smartly furnished, and the tables were arranged for cards, and about 75 additional guests called at the tea hour. Quantities of spring blossoms in brilliant hues were used about the rooms, making an artistic foil for the gowns of the women. The affair was given to honor Mrs. John Forbis and her charming daughter, Miss Marjorie Forbis, who have

WITH the real social season over, there are the Spring and Summer days to be reckoned with. The milady must relax after the Winter festivities and other duties, taking trip either to the beach or farther, the southland, when the beaux and their attending social affairs to one busy. On Monday night, Mr. Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett were a for a dance. Tuesday's hockey game at the Ice Hippodrome called a large assemblage of Portlanders, there was the pretty tea for which Professor Josephine Hammond will give an evening of readings on Saturday, February 27, when she will appear at Reed College for the benefit of the Belgian relief fund. A number of society folk are planning to go to Reed for the occasion. Professor Hammond will read "Rada," by Alfred Noyes, and "The Makers of Madness," by Herman Hagedorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sydney Smith (Louise Emmons) are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter, born Saturday, February 14. The baby has been named Mary Louise.

Society folk and lovers of all outdoor sports were divided between the seashore and the mountains over the week-end, many preferring the complete quietude to be found at the picturesque Mount Hood Lodge in Parkdale. Others chose the beaches, where they could indulge in their favorite exercise, golf, swimming, walking and motoring along the broad smooth beach. A spirit of revelry prevailed at Gearhart, where the largest assemblage of Portland folk were found. Dancing each evening occupied the energetic

Twice a week there will be matches at El Cerrito Field, near San Mateo. The San Mateo Polo Club is in the vanguard of the smart set throughout the Spring and Summer seasons, being but a short ride from the city either by train or automobile. The members of the club, as well as those of the Burlingame and Menlo Park Country clubs, are planning all sorts of delightful entertainments for the visiting polo players and their friends. Consequently there will be no dearth of festivities for those of the fashionable world who come to the exposition from all parts of America, Europe and the Orient.

Foxhall Keene, the celebrated New York polo player, and his wife, and Rene La Montagne, of the Meadowbrook team, have signified their intention of attending the exposition tournament, and both Mr. Keene and Mr. La Montagne will take part in it.

Among the celebrated players from the Copperstown team will be Max Stevenson, Perry Bendleton, Kitty van Stade and Pad Ramsey.

Frederick McLaughlin, of Chicago, and Hugh Drury, who will play with the Mexican team, are already in San Francisco. Mr. Drury is a player of international repute, having taken part in tournaments in England and India. He is a member of the Rockaway Polo Club.

Max Fleischman, of Cincinnati; J. Langford Stack, of Chicago, and Thomas E. Boutellier, of Meadowbrook, have shipped their ponies and will be in San Francisco some time before the tournament begins.

Through private correspondence with friends in California the Earl of Elgin, Sir James Wilson, the Countess of Leven, the Duke of Leinster, Sir John Carey, of Guernsey, and Alan McDonaid, of Banff, N. B., have announced that they are coming to California and San Francisco for the exposition and will arrive in time for the polo tournament, the golf tournament and the harness races.

Lists of boxholders for polo tournament up to date includes: Paul D. Hamlin, Chicago; E. W. Rollins, Three Rivers Farm, Dover, N. H.; George I. Cochran, Los Angeles; Charles W.
