

BELT FASTENED UNDER ARMS GIVES NOTE OF NEWNESS TO LITTLE COAT

Rich Russian Green Moire in Faille Weave Used for Coat for Dress-up Wear—Another Spring Model Is of Shepherd Checked Worsted and Has Flare Out and Modish Sleeve Set into Small Armhole.

Shepherd's Checks Are Always Springlike

A SINGLE note of novelty like a belt, fastened directly under the arm, gives newness and a knowing suggestion to a new little coat on conventional lines. The material is brown and white-striped worsted in bedford cord effect and the coat collar is faced with sand-colored pussy willow silk. Big buttons form the only trimming. Besides her smart Spring coat, the little girl wears a new futed mushroom hat of cream milan, trimmed with brown velvet ribbon and rosebuds. Her white stockings and buttoned boots of buckskin match a white frock, concealed by the coat.

Moire Weaves Much Favored for Children's Coats

For dress-up wear, obviously, is a late model of rich Russian green moire in faille weave, with belt and cuffs of plain green faille classique outlined in white satin. The wide, double belt, made of two lapping strips of the faille classique, is a smart feature of trimming. The handsome green moire coat falls just below the frock and the buttoned hood and stockings add to the dress-up effect of the costume. The hat is a new poke shape of natural straw, trimmed with a cluster of berries.

Belt Buttons Set into Small Armhole

Nothing is quite so smart as shepherd-checked worsted for the Spring coat of childhood. A graceful new model has a flare out and the modish coat sleeve set into a small armhole. The coat is lined with Belgian blue pussy willow silk, which shows in the facings of the off-pocket-flaps from which emerges the sash ends of blue-golden-rod satin. White pearl buttons and collar and cuffs of beige embroidered in blue complete the coat. A hat to go with it is a blue pussy willow silk, to match the coat lining, with a velvet band and pink rose.

Carondelet at one time between 1860 and 1874, and before that had been a resident of Caseyville, Ill. Attorney Hite advertised in St. Louis papers for anyone who could recognize the signature of George Hite Cook, and his advertisement was answered by Mrs. Adamson, who said that her husband had quarreled about politics shortly after the war and she had not seen her brother since.

Half-Worn Velvet Makes Pretty Pillow Covers.

Numerous Other Ways of Utilizing Discarded Dress Are Offered in House Decorations.

WHEN the velvet frock has reached its very last stage and may no longer be steamed or draped it may still serve a useful purpose to cover couch pillows. Many persons think that velvet for house decorative purposes is not at its best until it is more than half worn, and instead of paying large prices for "antique" pieces of the fabric or the extra sums asked for the velvet which has been made "old" by the artificers of commerce, the housewife, with an eye to artistry in house decoration, may use up her old velvet frocks to advantage.

Boishy Coiffure Is Latest Idea From Paris.

THE latest Parisian coiffure gives a peculiarly boyish appearance to those who adopt it. This method of hairdressing leaves scarcely any soft curls to frame the face. Sometimes a single, thin curl is permitted to "hang" in the center of the forehead, like the curl of the proverbial "good" girl, but more often the hair is rather tightly drawn back from the face and held in place at the back of the head by ornamental pins.

RIGHTLY PLACED TOUCH KEY TO HOUSEKEEPING

Effectiveness in Arrangement, Cleaning and Adjustment Do More to Make Home Attractive Than Much Labor.

A WOMAN who is an excellent housekeeper is discussing an acquaintance who never seemed to get her housework done. "She's not effective," explained the good housekeeper. "She'll work half an hour or more straightening up at night and when she is done, it will not give the effect of being in order. She flutters about her house all day long doing this and doing that, and at night she is worn out and yet her house will be in confusion. She doesn't do the effective things."

The point she was making is that you can spoil your best efforts by not doing the effective thing, and that if you do not grasp this fact you can work and work and never get the result you want. The other housekeeper realizes her house is not what she wants it to be. She keeps feverishly cleaning, hoping in some way to remedy the deficiency. Then she scatters letters, business cards, the handbills thrown in, nails, tack-hammers, anything and everything that comes to hand in the course of the day, all over everywhere and of course this effect spoils all the

"Eye Catchers in Disorder." "You are the wonder of all your friends," I said, warmly. For it is quite true that her house is always a picture of order and beauty, her table a delight in its cooking and service. Yet she spends a small amount of time upon her household duties as compared with most housekeepers with a home and family of the size of hers.

Some pretty Parisiennes are continuing to patronize the picturesque coffee furniture launched by the beautiful Mlle. Foranne, the coiffure which leaves a sort of half fringe falling on one side of the forehead while the hair is drawn back on the other side. But this style of hairdressing demands a young and pretty face.

Artistic Arrangement Key. Not but what her window-panes and chair-rungs probably are immaculate. She is not one of the housekeepers who believe in half doing things or playing a hypocrite's part in housekeeping or anything else. Nor do I believe in pre-

WOMAN POSES AS DEAD

St. Louisan Trying to Prove Her Right to $12,000 Estate.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Sarilda Mary Adamson, of Dewey Station, near Belleville, has had her photograph made in Zahn's studio, East St. Louis, as if she were dead, to prove that she is the sister and heir of George Hite Cook, who died leaving $12,000 in Oakland, Cal., in 1908.

Because no one knew his heirs, his photograph was made after death. When he had been dead two years his property, which was in cash, was, according to the laws of California, paid into the state treasury, but it will not become the property of the state for 20 years. Meanwhile search was made in the vicinity of St. Louis for families of the name of Hite, and that of Luke Hite, an East St. Louis attorney, was found.

Cook had resided in St. Louis and let velvet felt which had been roughly shaped by being caught up by tarnished ornaments. These ornaments took the form of large rosettes made of silver loops and the hat was worn over the forehead. Indeed, it may be accepted as a fact that fringes, unless they are extremely soft, are out of favor for the moment.

NEW RED, WHITE AND BLUE PARA SOL FASHIONABLE.

Little Girls' Object Lesson. An Atchison woman returned home yesterday and found her little daughter teaching a younger brother how to brush his teeth. "You shouldn't have given him your toothbrush," said the woman. "It isn't sanitary," or didn't," replied the girl. "I gave him yours."

Shoulder Yoke Is Feature. Another feature of the new blouses is the shoulder yoke. Generally this is from three to five inches wide, but sometimes it extends across the back and is brought two inches in front of the ordinary shoulder seam.

Disturbed: A great many women have the same trouble with face powder that you have. It lies upon the skin and is easily noticeable. For this reason I never use powder. Instead I use a generous amount of Cascaret (from any drug store) in either 5 pint hot water or witch hazel and add 3 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. The skin takes to this lotion naturally and absorbs it so that only one application a day is necessary. Rub gently when applying it to the face, neck and for grown-ups plainly on the face. FULL SKIRTED FROCK IS OF PUSSY WILLOW GREEN

Taffeta Is Decorated With Hand-Painted Butterflies in Colors of Black and Orange.

VICTORIAN MODES REVIVE HAND-PAINTED FROCK.

PUSSY willow green taffeta, with hand-painted butterflies in black and orange written across its skirt, is used for an enchanting full-skirted costume of the late Victorian period. The little coat, lace frilled, is equally in keeping, and the braid paragon, the new Vanity Fair, as it is called, is of pompadour taffeta with a trimming of green taffeta.

DEPARTURE IS SHOWN IN NEW SPRING WAISTS

Open Neck Is Comfortable and Improves Shape of Throat and Compromise Collar Is Also Suggested.

BY JANE BARTON. THE first Spring sewing on which the home dressmaker should start is to make herself most of the separate waists she will need during the coming season. These are as popular as ever for utility as well as for formal use, and the girl who has skirts will look well-dressed for all day-time occasions.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated composed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you feel great. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by more than a quarter inch deep. For hot weather this permits the neck being turned into a V to the back of the neck. Another method is to have the high soft collar of the material buttoned to a collar band not more than a quarter inch deep. For hot weather this permits the neck being turned into a V to the back of the neck. Generally this is from three to five inches wide, but sometimes it extends across the back and is brought two inches in front of the ordinary shoulder seam.

cents a yard for all cotton materials, 12 cents for silks and crepes, and 13 cents for chiffons, net and tulle. In preparing a blouse for hemstitching, have all seams as if to sew by hand, using rather clear stitches. Do not press open the seams. This is done for all regular seams and cuffs leave the seams open or the work cannot be done. For the large armhole, however, this is unnecessary. Hems are turned twice as if for ordinary stitching, but are basted rather more closely.

Tissue Not Always Needed. I have often seen sewing women advised to baste tissue paper under the seams to prevent pinning. This is only necessary for silk nets and tulle. Other materials hemstitch far better without it.

Cotton Crepe Blouse Advised. If you expect to travel much this Summer, a practical blouse may be made from wash cotton crepe. It will pay to get a good quality that does not wash flat. Wash a sample before buying. These need no ironing. A good model for such a blouse is cut over a plain shirtwaist pattern with set-in long sleeves, finished with a 2 1/2-inch band fastened with link cuff buttons. If one is slender, the fronts may be shirred slightly at the bust, the seams, facing the bust, over the front, turn in the edges and stitch twice, on the extreme edge and a half inch away. This last stitching catches the edge of the front which is turned in on the wrong side.

Collar Pattern Aids. One model of blouse is single-breasted and buttons up the front with seven or eight buttons. The fronts are faced back with the material to the depth of an inch and a half, and the top is squared across just below the high collar, which may button up or be fastened with small pins. Stitch along the edge and half an inch within. The wider part of the facing can be hemmed with invisible stitches by hand. When desired this collar turns down into a shallow roll with narrow revers. Unless an expert cutter it is wiser to get a pattern for these adjustable collars.

Highest Height in Boydom. A baseball uniform is a boy's notion of the finest sartorial achievement. Highway Cost in Michigan. From 1910 to 1914 Michigan spent $7,250,000 on highways.
