series on "The Kingdom." Miss Hoar will sing. Mrs. R. Hollenbeck will play a piano solo.

In the talk of last Sunday evening, which was on the topic, "New Wine in New Bottles," Mrs. Crawford brought out the point which is so important and yet which is so often overlooked that the whole reason for putting the new wine in the new bottles is lest the "bottles break," so spilling the wine. "It is so necessary to realize the great importance of preparing perfect bottles, or bottles, for the new wine consciousness," said Mrs. Crawford. "The lesson of tonight will bring out this thought even more clearly through the illustration given in the act of Esau selling his birthright to Jacob for the mess of pottage." All are invited.

In connection with the special music this evening at Atkinson Memorial Church, East Twenty-ninth and East Everett streets, Albert Crest, violinist, will be the soloist. The pastor, Rev. Frank W. Gorman, will speak on "Can You Express One God in a Split Church?"

Last Sunday the auditorium and gallery were used to accommodate the audience and a steady increase in attendance is noticed. "Come early" is the invitation.

Dr. Hinson Returns From Holding Revivals.

Great Success Reported in Spokane Meetings—Special Music Prepared for Services Today, With Organ Recital.

AFTER an absence of ten days from the city Dr. W. B. Hinson, of the White Temple, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. He has met with great success in special revival meetings held in the First Baptist Church in Spokane, Wash.

In the morning his topic will be "The Greatest Sermon Preached," and in the evening "The Lost Christ."

Mr. Becker has some unusually good numbers for the pipe organ, and will give a recital, beginning at 7:15 P. M., for 15 minutes.

The music by the White Temple Quartet is always of a high order and Sunday morning it will sing the anthem "Appear, Thou Light Divine," by Morrison, and for an offertory a trio composed of Messias Pauline Miller, pianist, Virginia S. Hutchinson, with Norman A. Hoove will sing "Eternal King," by Leslie-Leach.

Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, East Ninth and East Pine streets, has been making a feature of its Sunday night services for several Sunday evenings. Effort has been made to procure a chorus of 100 men. The full number has not quite been reached, but the unusually large number of men present has been an attractive feature and has added much to the interest in the service. Tonight the order will be changed, and the chorus will be composed of 100 women. Those in charge confidently expect that the number of women in the chorus will exceed 100. The pastor, Dr. W. L. Ladd, will preach on "Modern Business and the Golden Rule."

On Friday evening at Mount Tabor Methodist Episcopal Church, a large audience attended a concert for the benefit of the music department. The following programme was given: Organ solo, Miss Hanson; piano solo, Mrs. Charles Henry; vocal duet, the Misses Wearin; tenor solo, Walter Gill; violin solo, Miss Elsie Lewis, and a selection by the choir. The concert was held at 7:45 East Main street, will entertain the members and friends of Mount Tabor Methodist Episcopal Church Friday afternoon.

The Epworth League of Methodist Church, beginning next Sunday, Lenten services will be observed nightly, and an Easter concert of more than usual interest is being prepared by the Sunday school.

The women of the First Methodist Church, South, are planning a "Made in Oregon Fair." It will be held in the main hall of the church and will show to the public goods "made in Oregon" from every part of the state and will continue three days. A nice building, situated on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, will be used for the display, and demonstrations of the various commodities produced in Oregon will be a feature.

Enthusiastic plans are in progress to make this year a great success. The Epworth League of this church is carrying on a contest which is gaining in interest, and a live bunch of young folk are pushing their side to see who will win, and let the other side furnish the oats at a banquet in the finish.

Several special features in a musical way are planned for this coming Sunday services by the pastor, Lovick Pierce Lewis.

open to the public, with Dr. Henry V. Morgan, of Tacoma, as the leader. The primary department of the First Universalist Sunday school meeting at 12 o'clock Sundays at Broadway and East Twenty-fourth street has been fortunate in securing the leadership and direction of Miss Ella Bradley, an experienced primary worker from the Church of the Messiah in Portland, Me., who is organizing this branch of the work. Parents and Sunday school workers will find it helpful to visit this school, bring their children and receive the instruction which the school affords. The work of this liberal Bible school is a great improvement over the average Sunday school, both in its methods and lesson matter.

St. James' Church to Hold Confirmation Services.

Special Exercises to Be Held by Lutherans During Passion Week.

CONFIRMATION services will be held in St. James' Lutheran Church Sunday morning, and in the evening the choir will render Stainer's "Crucifixion."

During Passion week services will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Communion and reception of members will take place on Easter Sunday morning.

The Sunday night lectures on Modern Palestine are proving interesting. The pictures tonight will give the citizens of Jerusalem an excellent view of the city.

The Misses Johnson and Nielsen entertained the Young Ladies' Guild of St. James' Lutheran Church last Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. Mowrey, 318 East Sixteenth street, for the benefit of the church. An interesting programme is being arranged.

Mount Tabor Presbyterian Church Ends 24th Year.

Women's Missionary Society, Ladies' Aid and Young People's Organizations Are Active Always.

The Mount Tabor Presbyterian Church has just completed 24 years of progressive work. The church was founded when the Rev. Arthur J. Brown was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and the property at Belmont and East Fifty-fifth streets was purchased. In 1900, during the pastorate of Rev. Edward M. Sharp, the congregation decided that a new building was necessary and a stone church was the result.

The Women's Missionary Society has done a vast amount of work and has contributed freely to many funds. Fifteen dollars was recently donated to the China campaign fund. Mrs. S. H. Mitchell was the president for some time and she was faithful in her duties and an excellent leader. Mrs. G. L. Lindsay was recently elected to succeed her.

The Ladies' Aid has rendered great service in the church and in the community near by. They are always ready to help in whatever capacity they are needed. At home teas have become popular, as they promote friendliness. Mrs. Fitzpatrick is the president of the department of work has developed. At the last meeting she was re-elected to serve for another year.

Rev. William Graham Moore is the able pastor of the Mount Tabor Church. The young people's organization and the Sunday school classes are among its special pride.

Special Meetings Planned for Universalist Church.

Rev. Henry V. Morgan, of Tacoma, and Rev. Frank D. Adams, of Spokane, to Speak This Week.

THE special evangelistic services at the First Universalist Church, Broadway and East Twenty-fourth street, has attracted great audiences and awakened newer and broader thoughts among the hundreds who have attended the services. Arrangements are being completed for the special speakers on March 24, 25 and 26.

Dr. Corby, the pastor, will be assisted by Rev. Henry Victor Morgan, of Tacoma, and the Rev. Frank D. Adams, pastor of the First Universalist Church of Spokane. Dr. Adams' themes will be: "The Tropic of Error," and the "Folly of Quarrelling About Deities," "The Spiritual Development of Jesus," "The Servant in the House," or "How the Christ Spirit Settles All Problems." Mr. Adams is called one of the most eloquent preachers of the Northwest, and since his arrival in Spokane has taken leading rank among the spiritual leaders.

There will be a conference on Thursday, March 25, at 1:30 at the Universalist Church of religious workers who are interested in advanced thought and healing. At 3 o'clock there will be a conference along the same lines.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GEORGE M. BROWN will speak today at 8 o'clock at a union mass meeting in the First Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Alder streets, on the "Anderson Law; What is It and How to Use It."

At this meeting the Attorney-General answers some of the most questions which have been put at him by liquor dealers and dry advocates through the mails in an effort to have the law thoroughly understood both by its friends and its enemies before it goes into effect.

Rev. Superintendent P. A. Baker, of Westerville, O., the general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, will appear with him, speaking on "The Law and the People."

WOMAN VOTE 71 PER CENT

Suffrage Leaders in Chicago Elated at Number at Polls.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Suffrage leaders jubilantly announced that the results of the municipal primary election recently were an emphatic denial of the "anti" campaign which some would not use the ballot if they had it.

Of the 465,676 votes, 113,511 were cast by men and 352,165 by women. Seventy-one per cent of the registered women voters appeared at the polls, while only 70 per cent of the men registered voters did so.

The vote has been much larger but for a technicality, thousands refusing to vote, as they did not want to align themselves with any party at a time when they would have had to wait two years before changing their party.

Complete unofficial returns from every precinct showed that Robert S. Switzer, winner of the Republican nomination, defeated Judge Harry Olinson by 225. Harrison, serving his fifth term as Mayor and never defeated before in a primary or general election, was "through."

Congressman Charles M. Thomas had no contest for the Progressive nomination.

Of the women who wielded the franchise, more than 57,000 voted for Switzer. Harrison's vote among the women was more than 55,000. Nearly 23,000 women voted for Olinson, and nearly 25,000 for W. H. Thomson.

AMATEUR FINDS COMET

Home-Made Telescope Reveals New Body in Heavens.

MADISON, Wis., March 12.—It develops that John C. Mellish, the famous self-educated astronomer of Cottage Grove, who has "scooped" the great observatories of the world on the discovery of several comets, has just put over another one on the "savage" comet to be seen this year. It has already been named "Comet Mellish, or A1915."

Mellish first saw the comet with his home-made telescope on the night of the ground January 10. He immediately telegraphed Professor Frost at Bay Verke, Wis., and the comet was named and to Harvard University Observatory.

PASTOR'S WIFE SCORNS BRILLIANT SOCIAL CAREER

Rose City Park Minister Has Cheery Helper and Associate in Portland Girl for Whom Unusual Success Was Anticipated by Friends.

ing art in the same class with Miss Bertha Stuart, Alice Barber (who is now Mrs. L. R. Alderman), and with several others well known here. The Sylvester Farrell family anticipated great success for their daughter, Ida. Her teachers predicted a brilliant future. In charge was in Elizabeth N. J., and the fourth, a large church, was in East Oregon, N. J. The Youngsons left this place, where they were prospering, and came West so that the wife could be near her girlhood friends. "Talk about circuit riders," said Mrs. Youngson, "I'm one, and some of the riding has been so easy, but I always managed to see something funny as I went along."

Mrs. Youngson enjoys church work and is wonderfully successful in it but occasionally she admits that she gets discouraged or vexed and then she goes into her back yard and tells her chickens all about it. It is a great relief in this world to have a pet cat or some dumb animal to tell things to, according to the theory of the Rose City Park Methodist minister's wife.

"It is so much better than arguing with people. The cat purrs and the chickens sing their particular variety of songs and are glad to see you."

"This is her philosophy and, what a good one!"

The Youngsons have two children—a girl of 14, Honor Farrell Youngson, and a boy of 5, William Wallace, Jr.

Mrs. Youngson was one of the organizers of the Portland Fruit and Flower Mission and her share of the pioneer work of that organization when Miss Clara Test was president.

When President Harrison came to corner-pretty Ida Honor Farrell, a Portland, two of the prettiest young school girls were chosen to present him with a basket of flowers and one of those girls was Ida Farrell. She didn't tell me that, someone else did. In fact she is reticent about speaking of herself and her achievements, stating positively that she didn't do a thing but take care of her children and her home. A number of the members of the congregation, however, have sung her praises and told of her many kind deeds and her devotion to her church.

Of the leaders in the Sunday school work of the choir and organist and of all those who have helped in the pioneering of Rose City Park, Mrs. Youngson speaks in the highest terms. To them and to Dr. Youngson she gives every bit of the credit. As for the pastor, he vows that but for her inspiration he never could have succeeded and he says that she is a great worker. I believe both.

With the Youngsons lived in the East there was always that longing for the friends in the great West and many times they crossed the continent to visit in Portland. Mrs. Youngson has made friends wherever she went, but, as the old saying goes, "there are no friends like the old friends."

Bishop Sumner to Be Honor Guest at Dinner for Laity.

Disturished Men From All Parts of State Will Be Present to greet New Prelate.

BISHOP WALTER TAYLOR SUMNER will be honored guest at a dinner to be held April 8 in the Hotel Multnomah. The laymen of the diocese are planning the affair and distinguished men from all parts of the state will be in attendance. The committee of arrangements met Thursday and planned the details. Paul Cowgill is chairman and F. J. Glass is secretary of the laymen's committee. This will be one of the most important events immediately after Easter.

The bishop will preach in St. Stephen's Pro-Cathedral Easter Sunday. Carl Denton is planning an elaborate musical service and the choir will render appropriate anthems.

Much of the bishop's time will be given in the next few months to the missions and small churches of the diocese. The awakening of interest he inspires is already felt.

Rev. J. Richard Olson is in Astoria attending the Columbia. A board of the Augustana Synod which is holding its annual convention in the First Lutheran Swedish Church of Astoria. Rev. R. Swanson, of Seattle, preaches the evening sermon. Delegates from Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Idaho are in attendance.

The regular services of the Rodney avenue Christian Church will proceed as usual under the direction of the regular minister today. The dedication of the basement building, which was postponed, will be held May 16. Rev. C. F. Swander preached at Rodney last Sunday.

The members of the Young People's Society of the Rose City Park Methodist Church held a delightful St. Patrick's party Wednesday night in the church parlors. Delegates from Fifty-eighth and Alameda Drive. The entertainment was given by the members of the church.

A most attractive luncheon was given in the First Congregational Church Wednesday, when Guild Chapter I entertained the E. L. House Circle. Decorations appropriate to St. Patrick's day were carried out in the dining-room and parlors. An excellent programme was rendered, the members of the guild proving themselves ideal hostesses.

Tonight Florence Crawford will speak in the Tyroleean room of the Hotel Benson on the subject "What Esau Paid for His Pottage." The lecture is at 8 o'clock and is the third one in the

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES.

A MINISTER'S wife with a glorious sense of humor, delightfully human, gifted with a grace, personality and talents that would have fitted her to be the wife of a great statesman or that would have made her a success had she chosen a career in society—such a woman is Mrs. William Wallace Youngson.

It was several years ago when Rev. Charles Edward Locke was in charge of the First Methodist Church of this city that there came to visit him from the East a young student of theology. The visitor played a remarkably good game of tennis and was tremendously interesting and he straightaway fell in love with his neighbor just around the corner—pretty Ida Honor Farrell, a jolly girl with the loveliest long braids of dark brown hair. While they played tennis together Fate was taking a hand in the game and an engagement and subsequent marriage was the result.

At that time Miss Farrell was study-and rallies. Several Portland and Oregon people, including one member of the last Legislature, are planning to attend this convention.

Mrs. T. G. Farrell, 325 East Twenty-fifth street, entertained the women of the Waverly Heights Congregational Church at luncheon Wednesday. After luncheon an excellent programme was given. Mrs. N. C. Thorne sang two solos; Mrs. Elva Carlson and Mrs. Susan Starr-Kreusman sang "The Whole Wide World for Jesus." Interesting missionary articles were read by Misses Smith, Denison and Kreusman; and all thoroughly enjoyed several piano solos rendered by Miss Genevieve Fraser. An enthusiastic Women's Missionary Society of 21 members was organized, with the following officers: President, Mrs. A. C. Moore, vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Cutts; secretary, Mrs. W. Denison; treasurer, Mrs. E. Carlson; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. B. Ford. Revival meetings are being conducted at the West Piedmont Friends' Church, corner Northwick and Jessup streets. The pastor, T. J. Coburn, is being assisted by Mrs. E. M. Arnold, missionary. The pastor, T. J. Coburn, is being assisted by Mrs. E. M. Arnold, missionary. The pastor, T. J. #### BITTER ORANGE USE FOUND Product, Much of Which Goes to Waste, Recommended for Jelly.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, of the United States Department of Agriculture in the course of experiments have observed that the hitherto useless fruit of the bitter orange can be made into a highly palatable jelly which promises to afford a use for a large amount of this wasted fruit. This fruit is too often left to rot in the orchards, and, however, found that the pulp or interior of this orange, with the usual addition of twice as much sugar, would just go into an amber-colored product not quite so bitter as bitter orange marmalade but having some of the characteristic flavor of the fruit. The method of making the jelly is described as follows:

Take all of the pulp of the orange including the seeds. Add to it twice as much water and boil it until the pulp falls to pieces. Strain the mixture through a cotton or canvas flannel jelly bag and add to it a straight sugar twice as much sugar by weight as there was originally fruit pulp. Boil down this mixture until it reaches the "jelly point." The jelly point is reached when a small amount of the mixture is placed on a glass and seal the same as in the practice with other jellies.

The chemists recommended the following test to determine when the jelly point has been reached: "Make a thin, flat stick or a small paddle, about an inch broad, and dip it into the mixture. If the mixture sticks to the paddle, it is at the jelly point. If the liquid will not drip off in drops but will flake off; that is, a strip of jelly will fall off from the paddle in one mass."

The bitter orange has been used extensively as a stock on which to bud the commercial citrus fruits. It was introduced into this country by Spanish Colonists for this purpose and during the intervening years has spread considerably by natural seedling, as it is a vigorous tree in a straight edge. There is a considerable quantity of fruit from these trees which hitherto has been of little use. The chemists believe that the publication of the process for converting the fruit into jelly will enable owners of sour orange trees to use some profitable way of disposing of the fruit. The making of the product on a commercial scale.
