The camel humping himself to squeeze through the eye of a needle has a swellor chance of getting there than the golfer who tries to reach the first green at the Seattle Golf Club with his tee shot. The hole is 410 yards, over a practically level bit of fairway, with heavy woods and traps to the left and a curving roadway, which acts as a links boundary, to the right. There is never a hardness of the course that brings an exceptional run. Infield, strong catching department and doubiful pitching staff. If two or three good twirlers are not developed, President Dugdale will have to go on a hunt before the start of the season. Losing AI Gipe, Weiser Dell and Charlie Fullerton has left a big hole in the box denartment.

Charlie Fullerton has left a big note in the box department. Seattle has a promising youngster in Berth, who came here as a catcher. He likes to play ball, and has shown well wherever placed. His early work with the club seems to bear out the advance dope that he is a natural hitwere outlined and a committee appoint-ed to solicit funds. A whirtwind cam-paign will be held Monday afternoon. Fifteen men are on the tryout list for the team and Manager Jack Johnson. former catcher in the Western Tri-State League, will give out his lineup within a few days.
