No Governor in the history of this or probably any other Western state used the veto power as did Governor Alexander. He struck laws right and left especially those seeking to make appropriations and add to the burden of maxiton. He has been praised and condemned, ridiculed and arraigned, but he asserts that he did his duty as he saw it.

"The Legislature refused to adop the budget system in the appropriathe budget system in the appropriation bill, thereby depriving the Governor of the right to exercise his constitutional prerogatives to the full extent. They appropriated lump sums wherever they saw fit to do so, and tonsequently increased the cost of the state government and put the state backward instead of forward.

"Under House bill No. 296, by the committee on state affairs, which passed the lower house, there was levied an annual ad valorem tax upon all the property of the State of Idaho of $1,300,000 per annum or $2,000,000 for the two years 1915-16 against my protest on account of being too excessive.

Complete Sanitary Code for Smaller Cities Arranged by University of Oregon.

Professor Sowers Declares Need Is Not for More Knowledge to Combat Disease but Application of Known Methods.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, April 3. — (Special.)—"After examining a large number of health ordinances of Oregon cities, I have been impressed with the insufficiency of these to deal with health conditions. Most of them deal in an incomplete manner with communicable diseases and nuisances. but none of them covers the whole field of activities of a modern health de-partment. For this reason it seems that the first and most urgent need of Ore-gon cities is a complete sanitary code." This statement was made by Don C.

Sowers, professor of muncipalities at the University of Oregon.

A sanitary code which is suitable for towns and cities outside of Portland has been prepared by the municipal research bureau of the State University. A great number of recent ordinances from American towns were used as A great number of recent status as from American towns were used as references, and the provisions of the Oregon health laws and regulations of the State Board of Health were incor-porated wherever found applicable.

This code may be had free on appli-cation to the extension division of the university.

"The great problem in the next few years," said Professor Sowers, "Is to get officials, physicians and the public to utilize the knowledge that has been acquired. With almost negligible exceptions we can stamp out disease common to man without knowing one more fact concerning medicine or sanitary The problem is one of disseminating this knowledge and applying it to our common problems. The man who applied the law of physics and produced the steam engine did as much for humanity as the man who discovered these laws. For the next few years utilization of health knowledge already known is more important than the discovery of facts at present unknown."

There are 27 communicable diseases listed by Professor Sowers, as follows: Ophthalmisneunatorum, actinomycosis, anthrax, bubonic plague, barber's itch, chicken pox, cholera, continued fever lasting seven days, dengue, diphtheris. epidemic dysentery, German measles, glanders, hookworm, leprosy, malaria, membranous croup, measles, cerebrospinal meningitis, mumps, paratyphold fever, scarlet fever, amallpox, septic sore throat, teanus, trachma, trichinister, typhus aris, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, typhus fever, whooping cough, yellow fever, pneumonia, poliomyletis, rashes, re-lapsing fever and scarlet fever.

The "going" board consists of Commissioner of Public Landa Savidge, Tax Commissioners Jackson and Brielawn and State Forester Ferris. The three men last named were removed as exofficio members of this board by the McArdie bill, passed by the recent Legislature, with an emergency clause attached, and the board reorganized, to consist of Commissioner Savidge, Secretary of State Howell and Treasurer Meath.

The Supreme Court decided by a five-to-four vote, however, that the emergency clause affixed to this act was invalid and that the reorganization would not be effective until June 10, rendering invalid a land sale, which the "coming" board had ordered, immediately after the McArdie bill was repassed over the Governor's veto.

the near future, however, it has been proposed that the two boards hold separate meetings to order a June land sale, so the action of one organization or the other will be sure to be valid.

Buena Vista is on the Willamette River in the southeastern part of Polk County; 22 miles from Salem. It is the trading center for a rich and extensive farming area. While logging at times has been conducted near hers, the industry has furnished employment for a limited number only.

The three principal industries are hop raising, grain farming and dairying. When hopgrowers planted yards in the river bottoms near Independence the farmers in the regions about Buena Vista had just found certain low lands unsuited to grain growing owing to the high water in Winter.
