

RESOURCES ALONG ROAD ROUTE GREAT

Line From Grants Pass to Crescent City to Tap Rich District.

TIMBER WEALTH IS VAST

Valuable Copper and Gold Mining Properties, Gravel, Soft Woods and Hard Woods Are Chief Supplies to Be Obtained.

Natural resources of inestimable volume and value are contained in the territory to be served by the new Oregon & California railroad to be built by Twohy Brothers of Portland, between Grants Pass and Crescent City.

Pine Lumber Abounds.
The district around Grants Pass is noted for its quality of pine lumber. Illinois and some of the smaller valleys in this district make up about 60,000 acres of almost level land, most of which, however, is heavily timbered with the very best quality of sugar pine, yellow pine, fir and cedar.

Copper and Timber Promising.
The California boundary is about six miles from Grants Pass, and for most of this distance the route of the railway is along Elk Creek and through a copper district possessing an unusually promising outlook.

Waldo Mines Valuable.
At Waldo, 25 miles from Grants Pass, some large placer properties are in operation. They have been operated for the last 50 years and have gravel enough in sight to keep them going for another 100 years.

Timber Wealth Continues.
This same timbered territory continues to within about 15 miles from Crescent City, at which point the famous redwood belt is entered.

GIRL WHO MARRIED HEIR TO THRONE 'MOVIE STAR'

Revelation of Romantic Web Woven About American Miss to Come in New Film, Which Will Tell Secrets of Egyptian Harem.

Miss Humphry, Ex-Wife of Heir to Egyptian Throne to Appear in Motion Picture.

ONE of the most romantic webs ever woven about an American girl enmeshed Ola Humphry, the pretty Californian who several years ago contracted a marriage with Prince Hassan, heir to the Egyptian throne.

Miss Humphry was born in California and adopted the stage as a profession when quite young. She played in a wide range of parts in America and abroad, winning for herself considerable distinction.

Miss Humphry has been in the limelight since she was presented to Prince Hassan. After a tempestuous courtship the American girl became the wife of the Oriental nobleman.

A divorce followed, with the assistance of the Turkish Embassy in New York and the American Embassy in Turkey, who are arranging her affairs.

Miss Humphry has agreed to use her experiences in the harem as the foundation of numerous scenarios for domestic money orders.

Foreign money orders, $57,578.97; domestic money orders $31,033.71; money orders paid $25,281.18; total, $113,943.86 in business, handling total of $1,504 money orders making of more than $1,500,000 business handled at Station A during past ten years.

My Answer to the Dental Trust:

Trust Prices Cut One-Half

Beginning Tomorrow, April 12

PAINLESS PARKER DENTISTRY

50% Less Than Trust Dentistry

I am going to expose the extortion practiced on the people of Oregon by the Dental Trust. If this Trust can raise a slush fund of $6000 every month with which to carry on a campaign against Painless Parker, I am going to cut off its source of supply, which is in the pockets of the people, by cutting in half the price of dentistry, and thereby stop, if possible, the contributions to this slush fund.

I can do high-class, painless dentistry at half Trust prices and make money. As long as this Trust can raise money by charging two prices for what it sells the public, it can afford to spend part of that money to fight Painless Parker.

I propose to protect myself by depriving the Trust of its sinews of war. At the same time, I will give every man, woman and child in Oregon the opportunity to get my dentistry at 50 per cent less than they have been forced to pay heretofore for old-style, inferior Trust service.

Out of every dollar spent by the people of Oregon for Trust Dentistry, a certain proportion goes to keep up this Trust, so it can control the dental business in this state.

One way of controlling dentistry here has been to exterminate professionally any dentist who might give the Trust hard competition.

I know how to compete with this Ethical Combine. That way is to give the public better dentistry at less money.

Hundreds of Oregon people who have bought my dentistry since I opened my Portland office a year ago know my dentistry is superior to any ever obtained of Trust dentists at twice my fees.

I can buy high-grade dental material, except 22k gold, cheaper than Trust dentists, because I buy it in large quantities for all my offices, including my Portland office. I can give better service because of my painless methods.

Every one of my associated dentists in my Portland office are fully the equal of any Trust dentist in the state, because all of them have been licensed to practice here by the Trust's own hand-picked board of dental examiners. If an examination before the Trust's board is what the Trust claims it to be, then every dentist associated with me in my Portland office is fully the equal in skill, training and education of any dentist belonging to the Dental Combine.

If I can do Painless Parker dentistry at half the prices charged by members of the Trust, and make money, then certainly it is nothing short of highway robbery of the public pocketbook for Trust dentists to charge 100 per cent more for Trust dentistry.

I came to Portland to give the public a square deal in dentistry. And I know how to do it. I intend to give this Trust a run of competition so that when I get through it will not be able to raise $6000 a month, or any other sum, for a slush fund with which to fight Painless Parker. If fur rugs are selling at 13 cents a gross the Trust will not be able to buy one hair.

MUTS PLAN FESTIVITIES

SPRING OPENING TO BE AT HEILIG THEATER APRIL 19.

House Bought for First Night of "The Candy Shop" and Will Institute Comedian to Order.

Celebrating the close of a year at big brothering the unfortunate and the needy, the Muts are preparing for a Spring opening, which will occur at the Heilig Theater April 19.

For the occasion the officers of the Muts have purchased the entire seating capacity for the opening performance of "The Candy Shop," the clever musical comedy which made such a tremendous hit at the Heilig last August and which William Rock and Maud Fulton have booked for a return engagement.

It is expected that Muts and their friends will take every seat in the theater. Exchange tickets will be placed on sale immediately, the purchaser being allowed to surrender them at the box office and select reserved seats.

Aside from the regular performance of "The Candy Shop" the evening will be crowded full of surprises. The closing event will be the initiation of the comedian, William Rock, into the big brotherhood.

When one considers that Cohan makes his own laws of technique and is more successful in cutting new paths than most playwrights are in employing the accumulated wisdom of centuries, the genius of the fellow becomes apparent. More than any other of our native writers of humorous plays he possesses an unerring sense of the theater. He knows exactly the effect he wishes to create and he seems to have an unerring knowledge of the means at his command to accomplish them. His types are generally studies of American character, unflinchingly true. The traits he illustrates are seldom the noblest in human nature, but the tone of his plays improves as one succeeds another.

For many years Charles H. Hoyt was unrivaled as a satirical humorist in our theaters. His farce comedy, "A Texas Steer," remains the best satire
