Father-in-Law to Wife of La Grande Baker Is in Jail Suspected of Crime.

VICTIM IS FOUND ON BED

Attack Apparently Is committed Beside Porch and Body Dragged Into House-Woman Alive, but Semi-Conscious.

LA GRANDE, Or., May 8 .- (Special.) -Mrs. J. W. Moon, 30 years old, wife of one of the partners in one of the largest bakeries in La Grande, was attacked in her home early this morning and terribly hacked about the head with an ax. Hours of investigating resulted in the arrest tonight of E. S. Moon, the woman's father-in-law, who is held in the county jail pending further inquiry. A man said to be a tram; also has been arrested at Kamela.

The woman was in a semi-conscious condition throughout the day, but could give no information concerning the attack, officers say.

The young husband goes to work shortly after midnight. The attack is believed to have taken place some time between that hour and 5 o'clock this normals.

Pather-in-Law Finds Victim. A neighbor girl who came to the Moon residence at 9 o'clock could not find Mrs. Moon. She is said to have reported the woman's strange absence to E. S. Moon, the father-in-law. He found Mrs. Moon in her bedroom, where apparently her assailant had thrown her across the bed. The husband was called home at once and the authorities notified.

Investigations revealed that the attack has been committed with an ax obtained from a neighboring woodpile. Spots of blood indicated that the struggle had taken place beside the back porch. After the woman's skull had been fractured three times and various gashes had been inflicted by the heel gashes had been inflicted by the heel of the ax, the body apparently had been thrown on the porch.

A trail of blood left apparently by the dragging shoulders, marked a path to the kitchen. Then there appeared to have been a halt, as if in indecision. Then the trail turned to a small hall and into the bedroom.

Ax Left Beside Bed. The av and revolver had been brought in and left beside the bedside. The reon and test beside the bedside. The revolver, a family weapon, had been unloaded: It had been taken from a Dureau drawer, but had not been fired.
The first assumption was that Mrs.
Moon had been disturbed by intruders and had gone to the back door with the weapon to frighten them off. She

Meeting at Grand Mound Results in Temporary Organization.

CENTRALIA, Wash., May 8.—(Special.)—At a big meeting held at Grand Mound Thursday afternoon a temporary arganization of the Grand Mound Farmors Club was made. The permanent organization will be effected at another meeting to be held May 20. O. C. Van Houten. Thurston County agriculturist, took an active part in bringing about the organization of the ciub.

One of the results of the meeting was the selection of a grass for general purposes adapted to the soll and cli-mate of the Grand Mound prairie. This is the Soudan grass, recommended as the one best suited to that territory. The question of corngrowing was also discussed, Mr. Van Houten recommending the Golden West as having shown the best results in Thurston County.

Defeated Candidate's Brother Sad. ROSEBURG, Or., May 8 .- (Special.) C. Zehrung, a traveling salesman with headquarters at Portland, was probably the saddest man in Roseburg Thursday. In his own language, he was greatly "peeved" as a result of Tuesday's election in Lincoln, Neb., when his brother was defeated for Mayor by Charles W. Bryan, brother of Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Zehrung was Mayor of Linclon for a number of years, and his defeat came as a great surprise to his brother.

Some wheat is grown, and this year new varieties of barley are to be tried. Vetch and oats for three years have been grown together and the hay stored in barns and sheds in the Summer for use in the dairies.

Much kale is grown, and beets for cows have occupied considerable acreage. Corn also is placed into the siles in the Fail.

Hops have been grown here for years. Although highland growing was at first believed not profitable, annual production here has disproved this. Hophouses here are large and adequate, and houses here are large and adequate, and improvements keep apace with the in-creased yield. Several large yards sur-round Rickreall.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Bushnell, president of Pacific University. Lawrence Hershner, president of the student body, has been elected valedictorian. Young Hershner is a son of Rev. J. L. Hershner, a pioneer Congregational minister.

The list of graduates is as follows:
Verda Waitz, Vernice Robbins, Jessie
Lewis Sarah Nealeigh. Bessie Stevens

The production of more cream, the Lewis, Sarah Nealeigh, Bessie Stevens improvement of goats and sheep, a larger prune acreage, better hophouses to care for the growing crop, the formation of civic organizations and the enlightenment of the schoolroom are the results in brief of a year of active effort by citizens of Rickreall and the surrounding country.

Prunegrowing is receiving more attention each season, and in the Fall many acres of young trees will enter the bearing periold for the first time. Already the acreage was adequate to the time of the farmers, but after continuous experiments it was discovered that purpose as a ground were most profit.
