

TILLAMOOK CHEESE BRINGS RICHES

More Than 4,000,000 Pounds, Bringing $654,374, Produced During 1914.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN WINS

Nineteen Factories Give Section Greatest Industry of Its Kind in Northwest and Markets Far Away Are Reached.

TILLAMOOK, Or., June 5.—(Special.)—Tillamook County produced 4,000,000 pounds of milk last year and manufactured 4,290,510 pounds of cheese, valued at $654,374.36.

This, in a few words, is the record of the banner cheese section of Oregon and the Northwest. Notwithstanding fluctuations in the markets last year, and the uncertainties of free trade, Tillamook cheese held its own in price, the average being but a trifle below 1913, when it was 35.45 cents per pound, and last year it was 35.23 cents per pound.

The average price for butter fat was 38.23 cents for the year, and the average price for cheese for the past six years was 15.37 cents.

Maple Leaf Again Leads. Maple Leaf Creamery was again the banner cheese factory last year with a total of 4,861,981 pounds of milk. The Tillamook Creamery came next with 4,153,089 pounds of milk, and the Fairview Dairy Association was a close third with 4,078,036 pounds.

The records of the Maple Leaf Creamery show that this cheese factory the past 10 years received 39,858,445 pounds of milk; manufactured 4,236,067 pounds of cheese, which averaged 34.83 cents. This is considered a wonderful record, the factory now receiving three times the amount of milk that it did when this co-operative factory was first organized in 1905.

Mr. Christensen graded 156,246 triplets and 16,758 Young Americas last year, and of this large amount of cheese only 42 Young Americas and 2046 triplets were found below first grade, and these were sold as seconds, the cheese accepted amounted to 3,608,843 pounds.

Following are the totals for all Tillamook cheese factories for 1914:

Table with 4 columns: Factories in the association, Lbs. Milk, Lbs. Cheese, Amount. Lists various creameries and their production statistics.

The bulk of Tillamook cheese was sold by Carl Haberlach, who disposed of 3,694,458 pounds last year, a large quantity of cheese. During the past seven years he has sold more than 30,000,000 pounds of cheese and handled more than 100,000,000 pounds of money in a most satisfactory manner, having made a great success as secretary and treasurer. This was brought about by a splendid system of co-operation among the different co-operative associations, not only in marketing the product, but in placing a first-class grade of cheese on the market, the fame of which is known all over the Northwest.

The following report covers some of Carl Haberlach's work for 1914 cheese factories in Tillamook County last year:

Table with 4 columns: Total pounds milk received, Total amount of cheese manufactured, Total boxes cheese manufactured, Total pounds of butterfat in milk. Lists various statistics for the industry.

Table with 4 columns: Lbs. Milk, Lbs. Cheese, Amount. Lists various creameries and their production statistics for 1914.

Estimating on the basis of 1% cents for making cheese, would bring the average butterfat price to 38.23 cents for the year, and bring the milk to an average of $1.57 per 100 pounds. Owing to the larger yield obtained close to Tillamook City, the larger factories made an average of $1.54 per 100 pounds of milk.

Amounts for the past six years of the co-operative cheese factories which belong to the Tillamook County Creamery Association are as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Year, Milk, Cheese, Amount. Lists production statistics from 1909 to 1914.

FLAVEL CASE IS ARGUED

Action Seeks to Restrain Warrenton From Extending City Limits.

ASTORIA, Or., June 5.—(Special.)—The case of Flavel Land & Development Company against P. B. Leinenweber, County Assessor, and the City of Warrenton was argued in the Circuit Court today. The facts in the case have been agreed to by a stipulation filed with the court, so the contest is purely on questions of law. The action was brought to restrain the City of Warrenton from extending its limits to include the tract known as Flavel and also to restrain defendant, Leinenweber, from listing the property at Flavel as a part of the city of Warrenton for taxation purposes. The main contention of the plaintiff is that the City of Warrenton has no authority to extend its limits and the town of Clatsop, of which Flavel was formerly a part, had no right to reduce the limits of its territory. The case was taken under advisement by the court.

CULTURED VOICES HEARD

Graduates of Gillespie School of Expression Give Programme.

In these days, when speech is often too hurried and otherwise indistinct, it was a pleasure to hear the easily understood and cultured, expressive speech of the graduates of the Gillespie School of Expression, at the commencement exercises of the school last night in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Those graduates to whom were awarded diplomas are: Blanche Little, readers; Katherine Haxel, Roy, Ersmith, readers; course, and Edna Bertsch, post-graduate course.

Miss Little read selections from John Luther Long's "Madame Butterfly"; Miss Bertsch read Kate Langley Borelli's "How It Happened," and Roy Bowersmith read Charles Beyer-Kennedy's "The Terrible Meek." The voices of the different people met with approval in these readings were highly commendable accuracy. Indeed, so faithful was the picture presented by the spoken words, it was not difficult to imagine the actual scenes actually passing before the eyes and ears of the audience.

Rev. T. H. Elliot gave the opening invocation. Mrs. Gillespie presented the diplomas.

ROSEBURG, Or., June 5.—(Special.)—The prosecution in the case of Roy Farnam, on trial here charged with the murder of Edna Morgan, in Cow Creek Valley last December, concluded the introduction of its testimony early this afternoon after examining 43 witnesses. Allen Brown, who lived in Cow Creek Valley at the time of the tragedy, was probably the most important witness introduced by the state today. He testified that while occupying one of the rooms of the Gilliam residence, situated some distance from the home of Roy Farnam, late on the night of December 8, he noticed a horse and rider passing along the Pacific Highway in the direction of the Beamer barn, in which Edna Morgan's body was found. Later in the night, he testified, he heard what he thought was a horse cross a bridge near the Gilliam farm.

received a letter. It was then that Miss Morgan changed her mind and decided to stay at her home, according to the witness. The attorneys for the defense objected to that portion of Miss Barton's testimony in which she quoted Edna Morgan as saying the letter she received was from Roy Farnam. The objection was sustained. Mr. Carlson testified later it was his opinion that the body of Edna Morgan could not have been reduced to the state in which it was found by the heat produced from the burning barn. This evidence was introduced to support the theory of the defense that the body was dismembered by some unknown person and later was taken to the Beamer barn and partially destroyed. Mrs. Harry Stumbo, Mrs. Carrie Morgan and Mrs. Pickett, of Cow Creek, testified regarding Farnam's reputation. Other witnesses substantiated the testimony previously given in the trial. The jury is being closely watched by bailiffs and is housed at a local hotel. The case should reach the jury by Thursday.
