THE carnival spirit and atmosphere completely overshadowed every other sort of entertainment last week. Hostesses were at a loss to find time to fit in the little affairs planned for fair visitors between attending parades and countless other festival diversions. Practically every house boasted of at least one visitor, many of the residences being "small hotels" with the numerous relatives and visitors from out of town, all bent on seeing everything on the Coast, and so arranging their trip to the San Francisco fair to meet the Rose Festival of Portland.

Many of the society folk closed their homes early in the week and departed for the quietude of the beaches, there to pass the summer months in rest and comfort.

The arrival of dozens of boys and girls, home from Eastern and Southern schools, was responsible for much of the social gaiety and the opening of fascinating Pavlova dances on Monday night. Invited society folk in their attire to the Baker Theater. The visit of this wonderful little woman also was responsible for the merry and countless supper parties at the various grills later in the evening. In some instances the hosts preceding the theater parties with charming dinner parties.

Midweek was marked by the Bernard-Fiske nuptials and last night, closing a week bubbling with gaiety, was the dinner dance at the Waverly Country Club.

Charming and attractive Miss Catherine Russell, who has just returned from a three years' course of study in New York at a fashionable school, was the inspiration for much entertaining during the week. Miss Margaret Mears, Miss Nan F. Russell and Miss Isabella Macleay were among those who entertained for her. The former gave a party of dancing party Thursday evening at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Henry E. Jones, and the latter two were luncheon hostesses in honor of Miss Russell.

Beginning tomorrow afternoon the Waverly Country Club will be the scene for a week of social gaiety. The golf tournament, the attraction proper and the fact that the club's hospitality will be dispensed by popular matrons and maids, each adds greatly to the affair. Tomorrow Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman will preside at the tea table and she will be assisted by a number of debutantes. Wednesday will be unusually interesting, as a concert will be given in addition to the tea, and the tournament, which bids fair to excel all previous tournaments at the Waverly. Other matrons who will serve as hostesses during the week are: Mrs. C. Edward Gray, Mrs. David Taylor, Honeyman, Mrs. Victor A. Johnson and Mrs. William MacMaster. The week's festivities will close with a concert on Saturday afternoon, followed by tea, and in the evening there will be an elaborate dinner and dance.

Mrs. Frederick Mears and daughters, Elizabeth and Josephine, are the guests of the former's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mears, for a few days. They are en route to Alaska to join Lieutenant Frederick Mears, who is a member of the Alaska Railroad Commission.

Miss Ruth Teal, who has been in the East for several weeks, will return to Portland the latter part of this month. Miss Teal, who is a charming and popular girl, has been in demand at all smart functions in the East and on Saturday will be bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Ekins Oliphant, granddaughter of the late Senator Ekins of West Virginia, to Frank Hunter, of New York. The wedding will be solemnized at the country home of the Oliphants in Trenton, N. J. It will be a brilliant affair, at fresco, and will be attended by many of the diplomats of the National service at Washington.

Miss Teal was bridesmaid also at another large and smart wedding early in the Spring and is visiting at Bryn Mawr. She will be accompanied home by Miss Virginia Gault, of New York. Mrs. Teal is planning several functions in her honor.

Mrs. Donald Spencer was hostess for an informal tea on Tuesday, honoring Mrs. Leigh Hackley Smith (Jeannette Thomas). About a dozen of the bride's close friends called to bid her adieu and enjoy a cup of tea with her. Mrs. Thomas presided at the tea urn.

Monday night was truly a gala one, the visit of Mademoiselle Pavlova and her artistic company attracting all society to the Baker Theater. The boxes were filled with pretty-gowned women and their escorts, but line parties were most popular. One of the large ones was that for which Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrman were hosts, honoring Mrs. Ralph Prager and daughters Misses Nina and Ruth, of New York. The party numbered 14 and were entertained further at supper at the Hotel Portland.

Miss Genevieve Thompson also entertained with a line party, honoring Mrs. O. P. Paxton, of New York, who is passing the summer at Alexandra Court. Her guests were Mrs. Paxton, Misses Maile MacMaster, Isabella Gault, Harry Montgomery, Leland Smith, R. H. Crozier and Seaton Taylor.

Miss Helen Ladd returned last night from Westover School, having graduated this month. She is one of the most attractive and lovable of the young girls of the smart set and her formal debut to society is being anticipated with considerable pleasure.

Miss Virginia Burns also returned last night with Miss Ladd and Miss Helen Huntington, of Spokane. The end of this week, Miss Ladd will have a house guest, a former schoolmate, Miss Catherine Hardy, of Englewood, N. J., who was president of the senior class of Westover.

Miss Esther Tucker also will return Saturday with Miss Hardy, and the bevy of lovely belles will be feted lavishly during the summer months.

Miss Sallie Lewis and Miss Mary P. Failing returned together Thursday evening from New York. Miss Lewis has been away all winter, and Miss Failing's trip consumed about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Edwards were dinner hosts Friday evening, later taking their guests to view the electrical parade. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. J. Andre Foulhoux and the Misses Failing.

A charming bridge-tea was given by Mrs. Thomas Erskine on Tuesday afternoon to compliment Miss Sullivan. Guests were asked for seven tables of the game, and additional guests called at tea time. The hostess was assisted

Mrs. And Mrs. Robert Burns Powell.
A pretty wedding solemnized on Monday at St. Mary's Cathedral was that of R. Burns Powell and Miss Gertrude Denhart, of White, S. D. by Mrs. D. W. L. MacGregor and Mrs. E. T. C. Stevens, who presided at the tea table. Attractive floral decorations of Dorothy Perkins ramblers and pink and white roses adorned the room. The guests were: Miss Sullivan, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. J. D. Farrell, Mrs. E. C. Shevlin, Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, Mrs. George S. Young, of the Army Post; Mrs. John F. Dickson; Mrs. William G. Washburn, of Minneapolis; Mrs. Harry Nunn, Mrs. Frederick C. Malpas, Mrs. William H. Duncleley, Mrs. Herman N. Burpee, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. Frank Hart, Mrs. R. Lea Barnes, Mrs. E. L. Thompson, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mrs. William L. Brewster, Mrs. J. K. Gamble, Mrs. Louis H. Tarpley, Mrs. David J. Baker, of Vancouver Barracks; Miss Failing, Miss Ella Hirsch and Miss Elizabeth Myrick.

One of the most brilliant affairs of the season was the reception for which Mrs. Henry Coulter Cabell was hostess yesterday afternoon. The house and gardens were thronged all afternoon with beautifully gowned women and the rooms were artistically adorned with fragrant garden flowers. A huge marquee was erected in the garden over the punch table, at which Mrs. Elliott Ruggles Corbett and Mrs. Herman N. Burpee presided. The orchestra also was stationed under the marquee, and the tables were decked with vari-hued blossoms.

In the drawing-room the flowers were greatly admired, blue and yellow tones predominating. The dining-room was equally lovely and the attractive tea table was presided over by Mrs. John G. Edwards, Miss Mary P. Failing, Mrs. Earl Wilbur, who is the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Eliot, and Mrs. Charles H. Martin. A group of popular matrons and maids assisted about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Wheelwright and their house guest passed several days as the guests of Samuel Hill and his daughter, Miss Hill, at their attractive Columbia River estate, Mrs. Hill. They will return to Portland Thursday.

Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox and daughter, Miss Claire Wilcox, returned Thursday from a delightful visit with Mrs. William Jones, of Tacoma.

Mrs. Clara H. Waldo will be the house guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Folger Johnson, for the next two months. The Johnsons also entertained during the Festival week Mrs. Frances Rosco-vith, of Tacoma, and Miss Jessie Logan Bass, of Seattle.

Miss Ruth Zelle, a popular San Francisco debutante, arrived last week in this city to be the house guest of Miss Evelyn Carey for a few weeks. She has frequently visited here before, and is always the inspiration for much entertaining by the younger set.

Miss Catherine Russell, who has just returned from a three years' absence in school in New York, is being feted extensively since her arrival in Portland. On Monday Miss Nan Penoyer Russell presided at a charming luncheon for her at the Hotel Benson. Thursday night was merry, about 50 of the younger set gathering at the home of Miss Margaret Mears, grandmother, Mrs. Henry E. Jones, for a dancing party, with Miss Mears as hostess.

Other equally delightful and informal affairs are making the debutante's return to her home interesting and delightful.

One of the notable and artistic events of the week was the large reception for which Mrs. George T. Willett was hostess on Tuesday. About 175 women called during the hours of 5 to 8, their handsome frocks being enhanced by the lovely floral decoration of the rooms. Clusters of pink gladioli and yellow anemones, and long branches of Dorothy Perkins ramblers were arranged in the hall.

The dining-room was lovely with large baskets of blue hydrangeas, single pink roses and blue larkspur adorning the tea table. Mrs. Oscar E. Mearns, Mrs. James D. Honeyman, Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal and Mrs. Daniel A. Shindler presided at the samovars and Mrs. Mark G. Smith assisted about the rooms. Mrs. Gordon Voorhies and Mrs. Ernest Tucker were stationed at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Thomas Martin Fitzpatrick, of Boston, whose wedding was a brilliant event of recent date in this city, accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Barron, on their return to this city from an Eastern trip. Miss Anna Munly, cousin of the bride, also returned with them from the wedding in Boston, where she was feted extensively by the bride. Mrs. Barron's mother, Mrs. Nixon, was a member of the party.

Miss Imogene Carragher, a charming and attractive belle of Seattle, is the house guest of Miss Irene Daly, commencing this week. She will be feted during the Festival en route to her home from San Francisco.

Of interest to college folk is the news of the granting of a National chapter to the Portland Alumni members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. For a number of years the graduate members of the sorority have met once a month, but it was not until this Spring that they made plans of petitioning for a National Alumni Chapter. At a recent meeting of the sorority a schedule for next year's work was outlined and officers were elected as follows: Ruby Hammarstrom, president; Mary Meldrum, secretary; Mildred Whitteley, treasurer; Mrs. T. M. Word, associate secretary; Ruth Dunlavy, member of the advisory board; Flora Dunham, delegate to the Gamma Phi Beta Convention. Garden flowers in artistic arrangement and coloring made an effective foil for the wedding of Miss Shirley Fiske and Earl E. G. Ward on Monday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose M. Cronin, in Garden Home.

The rooms were aglow with pink canterbury bells, blue delphinium and astringa blossoms, the ceremony being read before a bank of greenery and white blossoms. Father McNamara, of St. Mary's Cathedral, officiating. The double ring service was used, and the bride was attended by Miss Melba Parker, Louis Sharp acting as best man.

The bride, a charming and attractive brunette, was admired in her gown of soft ivory-toned satin and exquisite all-over lace. It was made ankle length, with a full court train draped from the shoulders. Her veil was fastened to the back of her coiffure with a spray of orange blossoms and was draped gracefully over the train. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Parker's gown was a stunning creation of mauve satin, tulle and gold
