COLDWATER, Kan., June 15 .- Jacob COLDWATER, Kan., June 15.—Jacob Relss, Jr., is playing safe. Last year he harvested 20,000 bushels of wheat on his ranch near here, consisting of 1515 acres. He sold the crop at prices ranging from $5 cents to $1.50 a bushel, realizing an average of more than $1. This year Mr. Relss has the same number of acres planted to wheat. He is certain that there will be a bumper crop. And he is determined to realize crop. And he is determined to realize a profit.

He sees no chance for a drouth, but he is afraid of hail. That is why he wrote out a check for $850.85 the other day and took out a hail insurance poiicy on his 1515 acres of grain. The face of the policy is $15,470. "I would rather be out that $850," said Mr. Reiss, "than to have to sit still some day and see a hall storm pound that wheat into the ground. I'm going to be on the safe side."
