Opinion Against Bureau of Farm Markets Act Creates Stir and Van Valkenburg Case Adds More Fuel to Political Flames.

BOISE, Idaho, June 19 .- (Special.)-Leaders in Idaho have been close stucents of state developments the past week in the effort to learn their prob-ble effect on the future of politics in this state.

Three incidents stand out above all others—the recent trial of Attorney-General Peterson, the trial of E. F. Van Valkenburg, ex-State Insurance Commissioner, and the opinion given by Assistant Attorney-General Davis to Fred L. Huston, State Auditor, questioning the constitutionality of the act creating the farm markets bureau appropriation of $10,000. On this advice the State Auditor has served motice that he will not authorize warnotice that he will not authorize wer-rants to be drawn on the appropriation until the question is settled.

Attorney-General Peterson was ex-enerated of the charge of complicity in the looting of the state treasury. The jury acquitted him on the first ballet.

The Peterson indictment and the indictments returned against other state efficials were based on the showing made in the report of Axel P. Ramstedt, president of the F-bilc Utility Commission. The charge has been made Commission. The charge has been inductional that the indictments were actuated by

Mr. Ramstedt was appointed to examthe treasury department by the then Republican Governor, John M. Haines. It was the discovery of the 193,000 shortage in the treasury for which A. V. Allen, ex-State Treasurer, and Fred M. Coleman, ex-Deputy Treasurer, and Executive Treasurer, and and Executive Treasurer, and and Executive Treasurer, and and Executive Tr urar under Allen, are now serving in-determinate sentences in the peniten-tiary. It was on their defalcations that

The Ramstedt report showed that The Ramstedt report showed that items of $660, including a note for $500 and three receipts for money advanced to the Attorney-General, had been carried as cash by Allen to assist in covering his shortage. Mr. Peterson's defense was that the money advanced to him he had always considered belonged to Allen, the note he gave being for $500 used in his campaign when he was first a candidate for Attorney-General, and part of the balance went to meet campaign expenses when the Attorney-General aspenses when the Attorney-General assisted the Treasurer with his campaign.

The feeling between friends of the Attorney-General and the Commissioner because of the report and subsequent indictment is such that it is considered unlikely the hatchet will be buried for some time. Two Other Incidents Cause Stir.

emphatically denies any political motive on his part when he advised the State Auditor that he believed there was a conflict in the farm markets bureau act in that the title of the bill did not refer to the $10,000 appropriation carried in the hody of the act. Attorney-General Davis tion carried in the body of the act.

His enemies, however, declare that he was inspired to attack the bureau because the director was an ex-Bull Moose party leader and an appointee of a Democratic Governor.

SCHOOL SPURNS OBJECTION

District Will Erect Building on Land Held by Railroad.

EUGENE, Or., June 19 .- (Special.) EUGENE, Or., June 12—(Special.)— Ignoring the ratiroad's refusal to grant permission, the Alpha School District
No. 135 is going ahead with the erection of its buildings on railroad land.
The site had been cleared and was the only one available under existing circumstances. It has the only spring for miles and heavy timber surrounds it.

The land is that involved in the Oregon & California litigation, and the letter from the railroad denying the district permission to build gave the ltigation as the reason for the denial. M. J. Moore, County Superintendent of Schools, and J. M. Devers, District Attorney, were consulted. The latter was of the opinion that no matter whether the railway company or the Frederal Government were successful in the Higation, neither would have any objection to the erection of a school hullding. He recommended that they
