

HERO MEDAL GIVEN TO BRAVE FIREMAN

T. Gavin Honored at Campbell Memorial Service for Deed of Valor.

AWARD IS FIRST OF KIND

All Bureau Officials, Mayor and Other Notables Attend Gathering to Pay Tribute to Memory of Late Chief.

Mr. Long told how Mr. Gavin climbed into the upper story of a building at First and Harrison streets on January 29, 1914, and, fighting his way through smoke and fire, picked up the pros- trate form of O. Lockland and carried him to safety. Mr. Gavin was nearly overcome by the smoke and heat.

Our beloved Chief David Campbell risked and lost his life in the performance of his duty, said Mr. Long in his presentation speech. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should reward those who emulate him by presenting them with a medal.

The medal, which is to be made, will be of gold and of an attractive design. The design and wording have not been fully decided upon, but will be soon. The project of a design is in the hands of the trustees of the fund, A. G. Long, C. A. Bigelow, W. T. Fangle, John P. Carroll and Assistant Fire Chief Landenkier.

Unanimous Action Required. To secure a hero medal requires unanimous recommendation of the Fire Chief, his assistant and all members of the Board of Battalion Chiefs and unanimous vote of the trustees of the memorial fund.

Mr. Gavin accepted the certificate with thanks and then made a short talk in which he said he considered it the greatest honor he has ever had, to be presented with hero medals of this kind and especially the first medal to be given by this fund.

At the conclusion of the presentation all the officials went by automobile to Riverview Cemetery, where memorial services were held and the grave of the departed chief was covered with flowers.

Every branch of the fire service was represented. There were in attendance also Mrs. Campbell, widow of the chief; Mayor Albee, James Campbell, a stepbrother of the chief, and a number of friends of the chief.

Grave Covered With Flowers. A. G. Long made a short talk, after which the grave was buried in flowers, which were sent in a fire truck from all the fire stations. A beautiful head piece was set and then the grave was covered with roses and other flowers. There were so many flowers that they sprang several feet on all sides of the grave.

Representing the Fire Bureau, in addition to Chief Dowell and Assistant Chief Landenkier, were in attendance from all the fire districts. These were Captains Kerrigan, Haynes, Smith, Nelson and Roberts and Engineer Tom Smith.

In attendance at the medal presentation and at the memorial services at the grave was Joseph Buchtel, who was chief of the volunteer fire department of Portland in 1865 and chief of the paid department in 1893. He is 85 years old and blind. He was cared for during the trip by Fire Chief Dowell.

NEWS OF FIGHTERS HEARD

Winged M Gets Word of Men Well Known on Football Field.

News of the English army has come to the winged "M" of the Multnomah Club concerning a number of men who have played soccer either for or against the winged "M" on the Multnomah field and are now in the English army or navy. Most of them are at present at Ypres.

Lieutenant W. DeL. Giffard, Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, who kept goal for Multnomah last season, was a former Portland newspaper man, and a member of the Multnomah Club and cricketers. Lieutenant Sidney Hooke, Eleventh City of London Fusiliers, was for two and a half seasons prominent with the cricketers.

Private T. Duncan, Highland Light Infantry, and Private R. Gray, Canadian contingent, were forwards for the Nationals and players of high standard. Frank Banham, a former full-back for the cricketers, is now a lieutenant in the English navy, and it is understood that Raymond Banham has a commission in the British Territorials.

MOUNT HOOD INVITING

CLOSEST PEAK EASILY REACHED AND ATTRACTS THOUSANDS.

Several Famous Resorts Are Near at Hand for Summer Outing Parties Who Plan Ascent.

Nearest Portland of all the great snow peaks of Oregon, Mount Hood is the most famous and the most frequented, both because of the greater ease of access and the greater accommodations for travelers and tourists that have been developed.

Mount Hood is also one of the easiest snow peaks to be ascended and the trip to its summit is made annually by thousands of mountain climbers. On July 4 the Masanmas, Oregon's great mountain-climbing society, will endeavor to take a party of between 300 and 400 to the summit. Through the season daily ascents are made under competent guides.

RIVERSIDE LOT SOLD FOR $1000.

Andrews L. Roal purchased lot 24, in block 4, Riverside Addition, from Joseph J. Greene, the consideration being $1000. David A. Whit purchased lot 27, in Hollywood, from Harry L. Kingsbury for $200. William Heidt purchased lots 11 and 12, in block 1, Lincoln Park, from Bertha B. McCarthy, the price named in the deed being $3150. The sale included a home.

50 Families depend on my tailor shop for a livelihood

The five million dollars that this city sends East yearly for Men's Clothes would mean something for YOUR business—YOUR job—if spent for Portland-made clothes.

Why not patronize home industry and give the tailors in your city—your home town—an opportunity to earn a living for themselves and their families? I want the money that is sent East for clothes to remain here in Portland, and am willing to do all I can to keep it here.

Give ME a Chance and I will make you a suit of better material (your own selection), better fit (made to fit you perfectly), and for less money than you pay for Eastern suits of the same material, and will keep Portland tailors at work.

SUITS $25 to ORDER

MY STOCK OF WOOLENS is the largest carried by any tailor in the city. Every pattern that the ordinary man can think of—they're easily worth $35 to $40. Every suit made in my own workshop on the premises by skilled tailors. My profit on each suit is small, my output large. We both benefit. Come in tomorrow.

Frazer Home to Be Emergency Detention Abode.

OLD PRACTICE MUST STOP

Parents Who Are Merely Unwilling to Pay for Support Shall Keep Offspring, or at Least Home Will Not Take Them.

T. J. Cleeton, County Judge, yesterday instituted steps to make the Fraser Home in Portland a temporary, or emergency, detention home for children, rather than an institution for the care of delinquents or homeless children, as many people have come to believe.

In this matter Judge Cleeton is carrying out the intent of the act passed by the last Legislature in regard to the Fraser Home. It will be maintained as a place where children who have parents able to support them, but who are unable to do so, will be placed in the home by parents who were merely unwilling to pay for their support, and that many such children were received. This practice will be stopped immediately.

Pay for Support Necessary.

Beginning July 1 the court will establish the policy of requiring all parents who have children in the Fraser Home to pay for their support, either wholly or in part, if able to do so.

To this end the court will have the status of each child's parents investigated and parents who are able, but unwilling, to pay for their children's support, will have to deal with the District Attorney.

On May 23, when control of this home passed into the hands of the County Court, there were 72 children in the institution. Yesterday there were only 23. Between the dates given 49 children have been placed in good homes throughout the state. This policy will be pursued, and as far as practicable every child in the home will be turned over to suitable foster parents if they can be found.

It is not the intention of the court to let its responsibility end with the finding of private homes for the little wanderers. It will have representatives personally visit the children in their new homes and report on their care and environments. In case any are reported unsatisfactory, the children will be removed and placed elsewhere.

Judge Would Save Funds.

Judge Cleeton feels that the great saving of public funds brought about by keeping the Fraser Home down to a mere receiving station, will pay all the expenses of the traveling inspectors in looking after the welfare of the children until they pass from the control of the court.

In a letter to Superintendent White of the Fraser Home, yesterday Judge Cleeton said that an investigation of the financial status and earning power of parents and guardians of children in the home will be made, and thereafter they will be kept in close touch with the court.

Those able to pay and who do not do so will be prosecuted under the criminal statute of Oregon, which makes it a felony for parents wilfully to neglect or refuse to support their children. This work, said Judge Cleeton, will begin the first of the coming month, and will be followed closely and systematically.

POLICE, FIRE JOBS WAVER

Civil Service Provides for New Officials in Annexed Towns.

Unless some means of evading the civil service provisions of the city charter can be devised, St. Johns and Linnnton will have new firemen and policemen after July 3, when these two towns become a part of Portland. An effort is being made to have Portland retain the men now in the service, but this is a question as to whether or not this can be done.

The charter of Portland, which after July 3, will be the charter of Linnnton and St. Johns as well, provides that all positions shall be filled from the civil service eligible lists. There are eligible lists now for both policemen and firemen and there is a serious question whether the city can do anything but appoint men from these lists to the positions.
