MANY SEEK CUSTOMS COLLECTOR'S JOB

Multiplicity of Candidates in Washington Proves Embarrassing to Wilson.

EAST SIDE PLEADS CAUSE

Representative Dill Urges Spokane ex-Sheriff in View of Fact That Collector of Internal Revenue Is West Side Man.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-Ington, June 26 -The Administration i endeavoring to appoint a Democratic Collector of Customs for the State of Washington by July 1, but finds itself much embarrassed by the multiplicity of candidates and conflict of indorsers, and it is not certain the contest can be settled by the close of the fiscal

Representative Dill, of Spokane, the only Democrat in the Washington delegation, left for home today after making a hard fight for George E. Stone, ex-Sheriff of Spokane County. Dill argued it was customary to give the East Side the Collector of Customs if the West Side had the Collector of Internal Revenue, and vice versa and a ternal Revenue, and vice versa, and, a West Side Democrat having been appointed Collector of Internal Revenue, he insists an East Side Democrat should get the customs job, which is the biggest plum remaining to be given out in Washington. Mr. Dill feels reasonably confident that Stone will be appointed.

Mr. Todd Pleads Own Cause. Hugh C. Todd, of Tacoma, ex-Demo-cratic state chairman, has been in Washington several days urging himself for this appointment, and personally told Secretary McAdoo he was entitled to be considered.

entitled to be considered.

John Pattison, National committeeman, has gone on record in favor of three different candidates. Two years ago he recommende the appointment of Mr. Todd, but recently he wrote to Secretary McAdoo advocating the appointment of H. C. Burson, of Seattle, if a West Side man is to be named, and indorsing Mr. Stone in case the Secretary decides to give the appointment to the East Side.

Dr. M. A. Matthews, of Seattle, also has been in Washington and has Another candidate is Martin Ma-loney, of Coffax, who has strong back-ing, including that of ex-Senator Tur-ner, but who is under fire from the "drys" because he runs a saloon in connection with his hotel. He is be-Heved to be out of the running.

Judge Black Running Again. Judge W. W. Biack, of Everett, the perpetual candidate, recently announced that he wanted to be collector of customs and filed his usual indorsements.

Hugh Wallace, of Tacoma, who heretofore has had much to say about Federal patronage in Washington, resturned this week from Europe and indicated he would keep hands off the customs collectorship fight. Mr. Warlace has been playing the game with Judge Turner and his sympathies are with Malloney.

Miss Beulah Hinckley, office manager of the Albany Commercial Club, acted as the bride and represented Albany, while E. C. Roberts, former president of the State Board of Horticulture, who resides north of Lebanon, was the bridegroom and represented the country. Rev. F. L. Though threatening skies kept many away, a large crowd attended the picnic, a feature of which was a basket dinner at noon.

Three addresses marked the day. At Superintendent Churchell Associated in the Capitol there were several tense moments. When Governor Salton proached the new Governor to deliver the state seal a few hisses were heard. The President of the State Senate warned the spectators that unless they maintained order the galleries would be cleared. Instantly there was a tumult of applause.

I gained twenty pounds."
