

SOCIETY

throughout the evening. Mrs. H. V. Hartzel was at the coffee urn and Mrs. Roy Thompson and Mrs. Glenn E. Husted served ices. The rooms were beautifully decorated in roses arranged to represent a rose arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander expressed their admiration for the beautiful flowers of Oregon and the interesting people who have made their stay pleasant.

Mrs. J. Coulson Hare, who left a fortnight ago for California, is being entertained in Los Angeles. She is at the Hotel Maryland.

Mrs. Ralph C. Walker (Frantina Recklaw) will give a musical in the Hotel Multnomah at 11 o'clock Tuesday. Her own compositions will be presented. Among the patronesses will be: Mrs. Amedee Smith, Mrs. Andrew Porter, Mrs. Roy O. Yates, Mrs. Chester Dolph, Mrs. Donald Spencer, Mrs. David Taylor Honeyman, Mrs. Charles Dierke, Mrs. Delphine Marx, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed, Mrs. Lewis Meade, Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller, Mrs. John Kollock, Mrs. Herman Heppner and several others who are socially prominent and who are lovers of music.

A charming visitor is Miss Constance Bross, who was entertained at a smart tea on Thursday, when Mrs. Fletcher Linn was hostess.

A charming young matron, who was hostess of last Monday, was Mrs. Henry Fleckenstein, who dispensed hospitality to a large number of friends at one of the prettiest card parties of the early part of the week. Mrs. Alexander Riddell and Mrs. John McCue were fortunate in winning the prizes. The rooms were decorated artistically in golden yellow and orange colored flowers and the score cards were decorated with the same bright coloring. Mrs. W. K. Scott and Mrs. Maude Hatfield sang a group of songs, adding to the pleasure of the guests. Those who attended Mrs. Fleckenstein's delightful bridge party were: Mrs. Henry Mann, Mrs. John Fort, Mrs. A. Riddell, Mrs. Burton Haines, Mrs. Leo Pearson, Miss Maude Hatfield, Miss Mattie Hatfield, Mrs. Edwin Ames, Mrs. Jack Harrison, Mrs. T. Kirk, Mrs. James McGowan, Mrs. W. K. Scott, Mrs. E. N. Howe, Mrs. R. W. Blackwood, Mrs. H. D. Hickox, Mrs. W. M. John, Mrs. A. D. Willoughby, Mrs. E. Morton, Mrs. Benjamin Fleckenstein, Mrs. John Copeland, Mrs. B. Campbell, Mrs. C. J. Hixon, Mrs. John Angor, Mrs. Kathleen Neil, Mrs. Charles Jacobs, Mrs. Emma White, Mrs. J. E. Hallett, Mrs. F. B. Brownell, Mrs. John McCue, Miss Ruby McKinnon, Mrs. A. McKinnon and Mrs. J. Baker.

Lovely in her bridal gown was Helen Alice Conlin, who on Tuesday last became Mrs. James Hope. The gifted Portland girl and the popular Astorian were married at 9 o'clock in the morning at St. Rose Catholic Church. Rev. Father Maher, priest of St. Rose parish, gave over the duties of performing the service to Rev. Father William Cunningham, a cousin of the bride. He was assisted by Rev. Leo J.

everything pertained to Iowa, in the menu and place cards. Representing Oregon were George M. Hyland and Mrs. Charles A. Gray, official hostess. Mrs. Hyland received word of her mother's death in Los Angeles Sunday and left at once to attend the funeral. Mrs. Hyland's mother has been ill for some time.

Miss Madge Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Miller, of Roseburg, has been visiting Miss Pio Herman of Irvington. Miss Miller is a sweet girl, musically gifted and a brilliant pianist.

Mrs. George J. Frankel gave pleasure to several of her friends early in the week when she invited them to her home to hear Penetta Sargent Haskell read "Quality Street."

The captivating artistry of the reader captivated all who heard her. After the programme, tea was served. A score of matrons shared the pleasure of the afternoon.

The Misses Andra and Gladra Watkins were hostesses at a prettily-appointed luncheon last week in honor of Miss Leah Cushman, of Moro, whose wedding will take place next week. Covers were laid for 18. Miss Cushman was also guest of honor at a card party given by Mrs. Harry Rufus Moore in her apartments at the Royal Arms.

To honor Miss Kathleen Lawler, who recently returned home from Paris and New York, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lee Stephens entertained at an elaborate dinner. The decorative scheme throughout the house was much admired because of its harmony of combination and color. The reception hall and drawing-room were beautiful with a profusion of Dorothy Perkins and E. J. K. Druschel roses. In the dining-room, the delicate tones of Maman Cochet roses were shown to advantage by contrast with garnet chrysanthemums and draperies. The table pink and white sweet peas were combined with festoons of white jasmintine. The library was in purple. Canterbury yellow and yellow roses were in the living-room in masses of marguerites and wild grasses. Plates were laid for 12. The following guests enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Stephens' hospitality at dinner: Misses Kathleen Lawler, Claire Oakes, Alleen Bronz, Nina Johnson, Stanford-Large, Nona Lawler, Marion Jameson, Elizabeth Carroll, Katherine Dunbar, Dagmar Inez Kelly.

During the evening about 40 additional guests assembled to meet Miss Lawler. The following programme was carried out:

1. Piano selection by Miss Claire Oakes: reading by Miss Alleen Bronz; vocal solos by Rosary (Nevin), (b) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin), (c) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin), (d) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin); readings: (a) "Lady Geraldine's Courtship" (Elizabeth Barrett Browning), (b) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin), (c) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin), (d) "The Year Is in the Spring" (Nevin); songs: "Little Blue Doll" by Mrs. Robert Clark; reading: "Scene From Merchant of Venice" by Eleanor Hallowell; "Sleeping-ear Comedy" by Mrs. J. G. Frankel.

Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Robert P. Clark, Mrs. Roy Peterson, Miss Elizabeth Waldorf and Miss June Elizabeth Carrill.

One of the surprises of the week was the wedding of Dr. Robert G. Hall and Edith MacDonough. Dr. Hall was one of the popular bachelors of Portland. They were married on Wednesday morning at Trinity apartments, Rev. J. H. Boyd officiating. Dr. Hall is a Harvard man and has a half dozen diplomas from various hospitals where he has taken special work. His bride is a graduate of Syracuse University and Medical School and is interested in hospital work and in charities. Dr. Hall is the son of Dr. John Hall, president of Clark University and a writer of international renown.

Major and Mrs. G. C. van Egloffstein, Miss Virginia McDonough and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCord will leave soon for a motor trip to San Francisco. Miss McDonough recently returned from Chevy Chase, where she graduated May 18.

Mrs. Walter Guild, of Irvington, was hostess at a recent bridge tea for Mrs. E. M. Storm, of Waterloo, Ia. Dorothy Perkins roses and bachelor buttons were used in decoration and Mrs. Lawrence Therkelsen and Mrs. M. G. McCordie won honors at cards. Those present were: Mrs. Carl Liebe, Mrs. J. O. Hoyt, Mrs. Lawrence Therkelsen, Mrs. Bert Jennings, Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Mrs. William Cole, Mrs. W. A. Leet, Mrs. Charles Runyon, Mrs. Storm, Mrs. Bert Hanson, Mrs. Charles Cook, Mrs. M. G. McCordie, Mrs. Sam Archer, Mrs. E. I. Bartholomew, Mrs. E. H. Keller, Mrs. Percy Allen, Mrs. Shirley Parker, Mrs. Dagney, Mrs. J. Lawrence, Mrs. Leon Peters, Mrs. Guy Ketcheson.

Miss Violeta Jennings, bride-elect, has been widely feted this week. Last night Mrs. C. E. Moore entertained for her, and during the previous days charming affairs in her honor were planned by Mrs. Stephen Carey, Mrs. Charles Jennings, Mrs. Charles Marlarke, Mrs. Jack Jennings, Miss Phoebe and Mrs. Mildred Smith.

Among the visitors who are sharing in the season's pleasures are Mrs. William H. Cole of Boston and Mrs. Ivo Waldo, of Chicago, guests of Mrs. Harry Wade. One of the delightful social compliments for them was a party luncheon at which Mrs. E. M. Kirch entertained on Thursday in the Hotel Benson. The Tyrolean room was the scene of the game at auction.

A large number of society folk will take riding trips this summer. In anticipation of the popularity of this type of outing W. Gifford Nash and H. H. Herdman, Jr. have made out an itinerary for the trips which they will manage this season. The route to be taken will be as follows: McKenzie bridge to Horse Pasture, elevation 6000 feet, in clear weather seven snow peaks in view; to Oaillie Mountain, to Horse Lake for fishing; to Sparks Lake, passing the Wickiup Plains and Devil's Lake, where no Indian will sleep on account of the "noises" at night caused by the spirits of those who fell in a great battle between the Warm Springs and the Klamath tribes; Sparks Lake to the Divide; to Elk Lake; to Little and Big Lava Lake; to Crane Prairie; to Big Cultus Lake; to Taylor's Burn; to Waiolo Lake, returning by different trail to Oaillie Mountain to Horse Pasture, to the Bridge. This course covers about 300 miles and taken one into the heart of the Cascade National Forest. The parties are limited to ten and Mr. Nash is already making up the lists of those who will take the outing.

To those who are enthusiastic equestrians these trips will make a strong appeal.

Many Portlanders will motor to various points of interest this summer but the trips by horseback are designed to take one where the motor cannot go and where the scenery and fishing is of the best.

One of the prettiest dinners of the week was given at the Virginia Hill Hotel when Mrs. R. M. Wilbur complimented Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Templeton and daughter and Mrs. Ernest Bross and daughter. Miss Marguerite Templeton and Miss Constance Bross are both talented and charming girls.

Governor Clarke and his staff, of Iowa, were guests of honor at a large dinner at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, given by the resident Iowa commission, on Monday evening. Ev-bridge, and the rose-room was used in receiving the guests.

Miss Mabel Korall was house guest at Hillcrest Farm, Deer Island, and was honored at several informal outings planned by her hostess, Mrs. A. E. Butterfield. At a recent house party at the farm were: Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hoyt, Miss Martha Hoyt, George W. Hoyt, Jr., Roswell Shank and Dr. A. P. Noyes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Root have returned from an extended visit in California. They were entertained in Los Angeles by Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Mather and by Mr. and Mrs. T. Fitzgerald. They visited the fairs in San Diego and San Francisco and had a delightful outing. Their son, Talcott Root, will join them here soon. He has been stationed in San Francisco for several months.

Mrs. Howard M. Colborne has just announced the marriage of her sister, Carrie H. MacMillan, to Roy N. Plack. Mrs. Plack will be at home after September 1, at 1199 East Seventeenth street North.

One of the most elaborate events of the week was a reception and banquet given Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. W. Metzger to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. The home at Northrup was decorated with yucca, maple boughs and carnations, and the room presented the appearance of a woodland bower. Punch was served throughout the evening and music was a delightful feature. Mrs. Metzger received in a handsome crepe de chine gown, in tones of brown. She was assisted by her young daughter, Sophie Metzger, who was attired in blue chiffon draped in lace and banded with tiny pink rosebuds. Telegrams of congratulation from friends and relatives in Kansas City, Chicago and other points were received. The banquet table was adorned in flowers and greenery. A large number of friends were entertained.

NEWS FROM THE ARMY POST

Despite the exceptionally warm weather of the past few days, there have been many pleasant social gatherings in the post during the past week. The officers and troops will join with the residents of Vancouver in celebrating Americanization day tomorrow, and Lieutenant-Colonel David J. Baker, Jr. will be grand marshal of the day. Major Brooke will lead the troops in parade. A dinner was given by the Fourth of July committee at Hotel St. Elmo, Friday, at which Colonel Baker, Major William Brooke, Captain George S. Tiffany and Lieutenant Gustav J. Gonsler were guests. The final arrangements for the big celebration were completed at the dinner.

Major and Mrs. Wilson Chase and family will leave next Thursday for Washington, D. C., where the Major will attend the War College for a year. Major and Mrs. Chase have been entertained extensively during the week by many in the post who regret their departure.

Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Baker entertained at dinner in honor of Major and Mrs. Chase Tuesday evening. The other guests were Major and Mrs. Adrian S. Fleming, Mrs. Herbert C. Gihner, Captain and Mrs. G. W. Wilson, Miss Rice, Lieutenant James M. Hobson, Jr., and Lieutenant F. V. Schneider. The decorations were sweet peas, carnations and chrysanthemums. A dinner party Thursday evening for Major and Mrs. Chase, covers being placed for 15. The centerpiece was a pretty bouquet of nasturtiums, while the reception-hall was decorated with sweet peas and California poppies. In the dining-room the color scheme of pink, white and green was attractive. The guests were Major and Mrs. Chase, Colonel and Mrs. Baker, Major and Mrs. William Brooke, Mrs. Rice and Lieutenant Hobson.

Mrs. George S. Young, honoring her sister, Miss Freeman Platt, who is now visiting her, entertained at two tables of bridge Tuesday afternoon. The prizes were won by Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Knox. The other guests were Mrs. Peter C. Field, Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Glass, and Mrs. William Brooke.

The most elaborate event of the week was the tea given jointly by Mrs. E. E. Glass and Mrs. John H. Page, Jr. in honor of Mrs. E. F. Wright, of Kansas City, Mrs. Page's mother. Mrs. John H. Page, Captain Page's mother, was also in the receiving line. Mrs. Adrian S. Fleming, Mrs. Wilson Chase and Mrs. Peter C. Field served and they were assisted by Mrs. Margaret DuBois Waring and Mrs. H. L. Taylor. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Page, Tuesday afternoon, from 4 until 6 o'clock. The whole house was decorated in sweet peas, nasturtiums and California poppies.

The Post Bridge Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Peter C. Field. Four tables were played and seven prizes awarded—three of these being given by those who had won three prizes before. Honoring Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Herbert C. Gihner entertained at a bridge luncheon Thursday. The room was made more attractive with pink sweet peas. The guests were Mrs. Chase, Mrs. David J. Baker, Mrs. Peter C. Field, Mrs. William Brooke, Mrs. Torrey K. Maghee, Mrs. H. S. Knox and Miss Rice. After luncheon Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Baker won prizes at bridge.

Company K, Twenty-first Infantry, left Thursday for the Presidio, where the men will be stationed from July 10 to August 15, at a camp of military instruction. Captain Carroll F. Armstrong is in command. The other officers with the company are Lieutenant Rutherford S. Hartz and Lieutenant Paul W. Newgardner.

Mrs. Hartz and children left Thursday for the home of her mother, Mrs. C. H. Granger, in San Jose, Cal. Mrs. Hartz will be gone for two or three months and will visit in San Jose and also in San Francisco. Lieutenant Hartz has a leave of absence after the military camp of Company K is over and will join his family at San Jose.

Major and Mrs. Samuel V. Ham left Tuesday for San Francisco, where they will visit several months before he reports for duty with the Twelfth Infantry. Colonel and Mrs. Baker entertained them at an enjoyable home dinner Friday, and Captain and Mrs. King entertained them at dinner Sunday.

Captain Jens Bugge, of the Thirtieth Infantry, at Manila, P. I., has been assigned to the Twenty-first Infantry at this post. It is probable he will take a leave of absence before reporting here for duty.

F. J. Baker, chief clerk in the Post Quartermaster's office, is visiting in Southern Oregon and later will go to the Panama Exposition to join his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will be absent until August 25.

Heiser. Both are connected with Columbia University. A nuptial mass, with beautiful musical setting, was solemnized. Leo J. Conlin, William Conlin and Miss Anna Matzschler contributed solos. Mrs. J. H. McNameis played a violin solo and Mrs. Florence Meak Schmitt played the organ selections.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with ruffles of chiffon. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Frank Collier, her attractive sister, who was matron of honor, wore white satin with ruffles of pink net edged in taffeta. Her hat and bouquet corresponded in color and completed a smart costume. John Hope, of Chicago, attended his brother as best man. John McMahon was usher. Mrs. Katherine Conlin, mother of the bride, was handsome in gray crepe de chine with lavender chiffon overdress. She wore a picture hat and carried orchids. Mrs. Hope, mother of
