Mrs. Ethel Yerkes, Maid of Honor at Maloney-Friedie Nuptials

TENNIS will claim society's attention this week. Beginning tomorrow, the Irvington clubhouse will be the center of attraction while the tournaments are on. Many of the society maids and matrons will be among those who will contest for honors either singly or in the doubles. A number of others equally prominent will serve as patronesses and will assist in the afternoon in a social way. The outdoor festivities and sports this season are affording excellent opportunities for the donning of dashing sport togs. The newest sweaters and summer hats are wonderfully becoming. In no season for many years has so much attention been paid by Dame Fashion to the designing of outdoor wearing apparel. Portland numbers among its smart set many lovely girls and attractive young matrons, who always dress appropriately and with distinctive style. The visitors continue to claim society's favor and are delightfully entertained. A trip out the Columbia Highway, with a dinner or a picnic supper, seems to be a favored mode of dispensing hospitality, and indeed a most charming innovation, and such a pleasure after a round of formal dances, teas or luncheon and card parties. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thornton Ladd, who entertained on one of these outings, had as guests Frank Abbott, of Brooklyn; Miss Mary Robertson, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Margaret Mearns, Miss Ruth Small, Miss Ruth Teal, Collin Livingstone, Frank Bell, Holt Cockingham, Henry Buehner and Henry Ladd. One of the interesting events of Friday was a tea given by Mrs. Paul E. Froelich for Miss Louise Caswell, a debutante of the season, and for Mrs. Francis Hoertz Wayne, of Louisville, Ky., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Jones, of Alameda Drive. Presiding at the samovars were Mrs. Ralph Matson and Mrs. Chester Griffin Murphy. Mrs. James Murphy and Mrs. Maurice Crumpacker cut tea. Assisting in the dra.-ng-room were Mrs. Henri Labbe, Mrs. Russell Hubbard, Mrs. Hazel Blumauer-Litt, Miss Rhoda Rummell, Miss Nancy Zan and Miss Evelyn Shea. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Wayne have recently returned from a visit to the fairs in California.

Mrs. S. Kampsmueller, also of Kentucky, is with them. Bright and early on Monday the society folk who had the entertaining of the visiting women who were here during the gathering of the Sons of the American Revolution, began their pleasant duties, and right royally did they dispense hospitality. A chain of luncheons given by the committee and some additional hostesses proved a marked success. The hostesses were Mrs. H. C. Cabell, Mrs. W. D. Wheelwright, Mrs. J. K. Gamble, Mrs. Winthrop Hammond, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, Mrs. H. H. Ward, Mrs. Wallace

Thompson, New Jersey; Miss Thompson, New Jersey; Mrs. Leslie J. Bennett, New York; Mrs. Judge Beardsley, Connecticut; Mrs. P. Valentine, Sherwood, N. Y.; Mrs. Wood, New York; Mrs. Nathan Warren, Massachusetts; and Miss Warren, Massachusetts.

"Rockholm," the beautiful estate of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Rockey, was the scene of a brilliant midsummer festivity on Monday night, when the reception for the Sons of the American Revolution claimed the attendance of a smart society. The night was warm and clear, an ideal occasion for a festivity in the open air. The garden at "Rockholm" was early lighted with bright Oriental lanterns that shaded electric lights. The light filtering through the many colors gave a fairyland appearance to the grounds. In bowers of greenery and flowers there were booths in which punch was served by a bevy of pretty girls and lovely young matrons. An orchestra was stationed on the veranda and many of the guests availed themselves of the opportunity and danced in the rooms and on the wide porches. The host and hostess received in the drawing-room, in company with Mr. and Mrs. A. Ballard Thurston, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs.

Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard Clark, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCann and Mrs. J. H. Montgomery. Many of the guests enjoyed an hour or more strolling about the grounds and terraces. Lovely evening gowns and filmy Summer materials cut in the mode approved by Dame Fashion were worn. Among those who assisted about the rooms and in serving loss and coffee were Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mrs. E. C. Shevlin, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, Mrs. Amadee Smith, Mrs. Arthur Emmons, Mrs. Harrison Elliott, Mrs. Frank Durham, Mrs. William Walker Kamm, Mrs. Philip Schuyler Kamm, Miss Jean Mackenzie, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Harriet Cummings, Miss Alice Gilman, Miss Katherine Holbrook, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Stanley Jewett, Miss Helen Platt and several others. The banquet at the Portland was a brilliant affair and was attended by the women as well as the men. Many most beautiful gowns graced this festivity. The appointments and decorations were all of the most charming character. The entire affair was enjoyed by the women were delightful and the tea on Tuesday afternoon at the Waverley Country Club was most happily planned. Many of the guests were eloquent in their praise of the beauty of the club and its fine location overlooking the bay.

Another rendezvous for smart society on Monday night was the Hellig Titas Balla Partridge, of Boston, who is the guest of Mrs. William Dana Wheelwright, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Alsworth Bishop, Walter Taylor Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Wheelwright, Miss Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkham Smith, Colonel and Mrs. C. E. S. Wood, Mrs. Horace M. Ramsey, Mrs. Julius Louison, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Kerr and O. M. Plummer.

The popularity of the Wednesday afternoon teas at the Waverley Country Club increases each week. Last Wednesday the clubhouse and verandas were gay with the presence of many of the smart set. Mrs. Donald Green and Mrs. Richard Wilder presided at the tables and a number of matrons entertained congenial groups of friends at the various tables, which were placed on the porches and in the garden.

Tuesday, although a decidedly warm day—with the thermometer dodging around the 100 mark—was most interesting from a social point of view in that three afternoon teas were given for the exclusive set. Mrs. Henry E. Jones entertained for Miss Sullivan, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Mrs. William Dana Wheelwright; Mrs. W. H. Nunn was hostess at bridge with Mrs. P. I. Maxwell, Blake and Miss Jean Morrison gave a smart tea for Miss Virginia Scully, the guest Mrs. Kiser, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Theodore Wilcox entertained at a dancing party.

Mrs. A. Howard Clark, personal representative of Mrs. William C. Storey, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who was a charming visitor in Portland the past week, was the recipient of a beautiful basketful of Ophelia roses sent to her apartment in the Hotel Portland Wednesday night by Matron of the Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, who with this token of love and appreciation sent their greetings to their president's official representative. A party of prominent women of the local chapters were among those who assembled at the depot to bid Mrs. Clark goodbye.

One of the most charming events of the week in smart society was the dancing party at which Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox presided for the younger set. Mrs. Charles F. Read, of Brookline, Mass., who is visiting Theodore Wilcox, Jr., was the honored guest. Dancing and a supper were enjoyed. Prior to the dance several informal dinners were given. Miss Catherine Russell was hostess for one of these gatherings, presiding at a dinner for six.

The personnel of Mrs. Wilcox's guest list included: Miss Virginia Burns, Miss Mary Robertson, Miss Amy Robinson, Miss Ruth Teal, Miss Virginia Scully of New York, Miss Margaret Mearns, Miss Nancy Zan, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Catherine Russell, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Thelma Russell, Miss Antoinette Mearns, Miss Claire Wilcox, Henry Goode, Edwin and Crooby Shavella and their house guest, Douglas Prizer, Henry Cabell, Page Shindler, Gorril Switzer, Henry Ladd, MacCormack, Holt and Prescott Cookingham, Robert Morrison, Alex Lithicum Archie Kingsley, Charles Miller, William Kiser and Theodore B. Wilcox, Jr.

Mrs. William M. Davis and Miss Beth Davis, mother and sister of Mrs. Wallace McCann, who are visiting in Portland at the Wallace McCann residence, have been delightfully entertained during the past week. One of the smart affairs in their honor was a tea at which Mrs. Ralph W. Hoyt was hostess on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Julia Partridge, of Boston, who is a guest at the Hoyt residence, and Mrs. William Easterbrook Jones, who is passing the summer with Mrs. P. I. Durham, shared in the honors accorded the other visitors, and the hours were passed quite informally but most charmingly. At the table, serving tea and loaves, were: Mrs. Wallace McCann, Mrs. James G. Gauld, Mrs. Alma D. Katz and Mrs. Donald Ranny Munro. Miss Ella Stephens and Miss Page assisted in the drawing-room.

On Friday Mrs. W. C. Mackenzie gave a small informal tea for Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Davis, whose home is in Pennsylvania, but who came here for the convention of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mrs. Jones has been honored at numerous parties during the past few weeks. She is always a social favorite.

J. D. Farrell, J. P. O'Brien, Joseph J. Berger, J. C. English, John E. Cronan, Roger Sinnott, J. F. Clarkson, John F. Daly, James Cook, John M. Gearin, John O'Shea, Joseph Cronin and a few others are busily planning the details for the entertainment of his Excellency, the Most Rev. John Bonzano, apostolic delegate, who will be here on Friday and in whose honor a large reception will be held in the Hotel Portland Friday night from 8:30 to 10 o'clock. The distinguished prelate will be the guest of Archbishop Christie at the cathedral residence. Miss Sullivan, of Washington, D. C., who has been a guest of Mrs. W. D. Wheelwright for several weeks, will leave soon for her Eastern home. As a farewell to her and a welcoming to Mrs. Henry P. Fairbanks, who will visit Miss Sally Lewis, Mrs. Robert W. Lewis will entertain on Tuesday. Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Carey entertained on Friday at luncheon in compliment to Colonel and Mrs. L. D. Tyson, of Knoxville, Tenn., and their daughter, Miss Tyson. Mrs. Julius L. Meier was hostess on Wednesday at a beautifully appointed luncheon at her country home. Among those who had tables for dinner at the Waverley Country Club last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pace, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Menefee Standifer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cookingham, Mr. and Mrs. Oskar E. Huber, Mrs. G. T. Willett, Mrs. W. B. Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Alvord, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vernicke, Major James McI. Wood and others. A prominent visitor who will be in Portland for a day or two will be Dr. Ellen Fitz, Peniston, president of Wellesley College, who was here over a year ago and in whose honor a reception was given at the University Club with the Wellesley alumnae, assisted by collegiate alumnae members as hostesses. Another distinguished woman to visit Portland will be Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr. Plans for their entertainment will be made by Portland college women. Miss Maud Mastick has set August 2 as the date for her marriage to Clarence Ash. The ceremony will be solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Mastick. Colonel and Mrs. George A. Armes were entertained as honored guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Mansell Wilder on last Saturday at the latter's home on Portland Heights. Captain and Mrs. Arnold Neate and Samuel C. Lang, and other honored guests of the Wilders. Mrs. Jacob Gray Kamm has been to Eugene, where she has been entertained by Mrs. Frank Jenkins, a former college classmate. Miss M. Irene Hunt, the charming and accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Hunt, of 360 East Thirtieth street, left last night for a short visit in San Francisco, where she will spend several days "doing" the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Following her California visit she will go to Winslow, Ariz., where she will spend the remainder of the summer as the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. N. Pingry. Miss Hunt was a graduate from the Washington High School of this city and she will be entertained elaborately during her absence in the South. On her journey she will be accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Pingry, who has been the guest of the Hunts for the past several weeks, having come here from Arizona for the Rose Festival. A number of social affairs have been given in Mrs. Pingry's honor during her visit here. Alexander Phimister Proctor, an American sculptor and artist of renown, and Mrs. Proctor have been guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Edwards. Several dinners and outings have been given for the sculptor. Victor Salvatori, another sculptor of great ability, has been visiting here and has been much entertained. His exhibition at the Portland Art Museum has been a source of pleasure to lovers of art. The sculptor's marble bust, "Grandmother," the baby study, the exquisite bronzes, all were duly admired. There is quite the Rodin touch in the young New Yorker's work. Mr. Salvatori was born in Italy, but came to this country with his parents at the age of 2. "When did you commence to study?" he was asked one day recently at the museum when a reception was being held in his honor. "So long ago I cannot remember. I think it was when I was a tiny baby and made mud pies," he answered, Mr.

PAULINE IS "TIRED OF DRESSMAKERS" She Has Adopted CHERRY'S Her new dress isn't going to be done in time for her to wear on her vacation, so Pauline discovered. The very reason she bought it was to have something new and extra pretty for that particular occasion—and you can guess how bad she feels about it. Or, at least, how bad she DID feel until she remembered CHERRY'S, the Store That Gives CREDIT. She spent so much on that dress that she never in the world could have bought another one on such short notice, except by being able to BUY IT ON CREDIT. Have you had the same experience? It's a heart-breaking one and it usually isn't the dressmaker's fault. But Pauline has discovered the "other way" and she could tell you how much better and more convenient it is. Not expensive, not complicated—just a businesslike, simple arrangement of INSTALLMENT TERMS by the week or month. Probably you want something for your vacation, and I know George will want a suit, too. You see, their men's line of suits are very fine and can be had on equally as easy terms. Their place is at 382 1/2 Washington street, in the Pittcock block.
