

BENCH AND BAR TO GATHER NEXT WEEK

Address by ex-President W. H. Taft to Be Feature of Coming Convention.

MRS. AND MISS TAFT COME

Luncheon at Portland Press Club to Be Given in Judge Taft's Honor—Two States to Be Represented in Gathering.

The bench and bar of the Pacific Northwest will be gathered in Portland for three days next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A feature of the gathering of the attorneys will be the visit of ex-President William Howard Taft, who will deliver an address on "Law and Government" at the Hellig Theater Monday afternoon at 2:30.

On his visit to Portland Judge Taft will be accompanied by Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft. They will come direct from Salt Lake City, following the adjournment of the convention of the American Bar Association.

The Taft family will arrive early Sunday afternoon. They will be met at the station by a reception committee from the Oregon Bar Association. The ladies will be cared for by a special committee of wives and daughters of Portland attorneys. Judge Taft himself will be taken immediately to the Portland Press Club, where a luncheon will be served in his honor. Immediately thereafter, in company with Charles H. Carey, Circuit Judge George N. Davis and Albert B. Ridgway as his reception committee, the ex-President will start on a sight-seeing trip. They will go out the Columbia River Highway if they have time, and if not, the honored guest will be taken to view some of the closer scenic spots near the city.

At any rate, Judge Taft must be back in time for the Yale Alumni dinner at the University Club Sunday evening.

Ladies to Be Entertained.

Meanwhile Portland women will be entertaining Mrs. Taft and Miss Taft in ways which are yet to be arranged.

At noon Monday Judge Taft has a luncheon engagement at the Arlington Club. At 2:30 o'clock he will be on the stage at the Hellig Theater ready to take the lawyers of the Northwest what he thinks about "Law and Government."

The Taft family will leave for San Francisco Monday evening. All this time attorneys from Oregon and Washington will be flocking to Portland, for circulars have been sent to all of them promising an interesting time.

This will be the first time the bar associations of the two states ever have held a joint meeting. Arrangements were made at the last lawyers' convention in each state, when appropriate resolutions were adopted and Portland was agreed on as the proper meeting place. The joint meeting, says the announcement, "is highly desirable, in view of the many ties that bind the two states."

Invitation Is Widespread.

With the characteristic conciseness of an attorney, the announcement says "all lawyers and law students (and their ladies), severally and collectively, are cordially invited."

Judge A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, president of the Oregon Bar Association, probably will preside at the sessions, which begin at the Hellig Theater at 1:30 Monday afternoon with addresses of welcome by Governor Withycombe and Mayor Albee. Charles H. Carey, chairman of the general committee, and Albert B. Ridgway, secretary, stand back of the program, however, and will have charge at all the meetings.

The addresses of welcome will be answered by Frank Reeves, of Warrenton, Wash., president of the Washington Bar Association. The address of Judge Taft will follow this.

Other Speeches to Follow.

After the ex-President's talk the two bar association records will be read on subjects of their own choosing.

A reception at the University Club from 10 P. M. to 11 P. M. will be held for the judges of state and Federal courts of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Acceptances already have been received from many of the judges in the three states. This affair will be informal.

At 10 A. M. Tuesday the session will open at the hall of the Public Library. Ex-Senator George E. Chamberlain, has been assigned at this session to the subject of "The Bench, the Bar and the People." Senator George E. Chamberlain will talk about "Government Supervision of Water, Power and Other Natural Resources."

Herbert Harley, of Chicago, secretary of the American Judicature Society, will read his paper on "Present Data for Judicial Organization." This is the work of several years of investigation into methods of judicial appointment and election. Open discussion on this question, always a live topic among lawyers, will follow.

Dr. Paul Rockey, of Portland, will tell the lawyers about expert evidence in the courts from the standpoint of a physician. Miscellaneous business and resolutions will occupy the rest of the day.

The Washington Bar Association will "bait" the meeting some time on Tuesday and hold a caucus of its own to transact a little business.

Tuesday evening the lawyers will charter a steamboat and take a trip up the Willamette river to the Willamette Country Club, where a lawn fete on a huge scale has been arranged.

The Columbia River Highway trip with a procession of more than 100 automobiles loaded with attorneys and their families, will occupy all of Wednesday. The automobiles, free to visitors, will leave the Multnomah Hotel at 5 A. M.

John B. Yeon, roadmaster, has promised the lawyers' general committee that the highway, part of which now closed for repairs, will be open all the way for the procession. At Benson Park the lawyers will eat their luncheon, picnic style, to the music of the cataraacts of Gordon Falls and Multnomah Falls.

Callroads throughout Oregon, Washington and Idaho have promised reduced rates to Portland for the lawyers' convention.

The registration book will be open at Multnomah Hotel from 1 to 2 P. M. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Every lawyer in Portland, says Charles H. Carey, chairman of the general committee, is a self-constituted member of the reception committee to see that the visitors are properly cared for.

The committees in charge are as follows:

Arrangement of the drill hall of the Armory for the coming Manufacturers' and Land Products Show will provide more than 100 spaces, 7 by 12 feet. This is the report of the manufacturers' exhibit committee, of which T. S. Mann is chairman.

This year's exposition will be so arranged that wide aisles, leading to exhibits, will be provided. The balcony of the Armory drill will be used for exhibit purposes, and the scheme of decoration, as proposed, will provide an attractive birds-eye view looking over the section to be devoted to the exhibits by manufacturing plants and all concerns taking space in the main exhibit hall.

A feature of the manufacturing division this year will be prizes for best arrangement of exhibits, since it is proposed to have the most complete display of the kind ever produced in the West.

Exposition Building to Rise.

Land products from the counties of Oregon will be arranged in the temporary exposition building to be erected on Twelfth street between Davis and Couch streets.

A. J. Kingsley, president of the show, has visited both the expositions at San Francisco and San Diego, where he has studied the arrangements of displays with a view to giving Portland the most complete exhibition of the kind ever planned. President Kingsley is expected in Portland next week from California.

Headquarters for the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show will be opened in the Commercial Club building on the return of President Kingsley, and the active work for the preparation of the big show will begin.

Interest in Show is High.

T. S. Mann, chairman of the manufacturers' exhibit committee, says that there is great interest in the coming exhibition at the Armory.

"Last year's show," said Mr. Mann, "demonstrated the educational features of such an exposition, and the manufacturers and other concerns taking space were well repaid and have urged us to give a show again this year. We will have a greater number of firms represented this year," he continued, "which assures a most interesting exhibition in the manufacturing division."

As chairman of this committee, Mr. Mann will personally visit the manufacturers of the city and explain the details of this year's Manufacturers' and Land Products Show.

NEW EMANUEL HOSPITAL BUILDING CORNERSTONE WILL BE LAID TODAY

Structure at Stanton and Commercial Streets to Be of Tile and Roof Garden Will Be Included—Rev. H. E. Sandstedt, Vice-President of Columbia Conference, to Speak at Ceremonies.

EMMANUEL HOSPITAL, TO BE DEDICATED TODAY.

THE cornerstone of the Emanuel Hospital's new building will be laid with appropriate ceremony today at 3:30 o'clock. The building site consists of a tract 134 to 270 feet, situated on the high prominence at Stanton and Commercial streets. The building now under construction is 41 by 58 feet, and the walls, of hollow tile, will be plastered with flexitole on the outside.

It will be three stories high, with a flat roof. The roof will be used for a roof garden, which will be reached by means of the elevator. The first story will contain a reception-room, office, dining-room and kitchen, morgue, linen closet and drug department and several private rooms. The second story will consist of private rooms and wards. On the third floor will be two surgeries with workroom, X-ray room and laboratory, maternity ward and several private rooms.

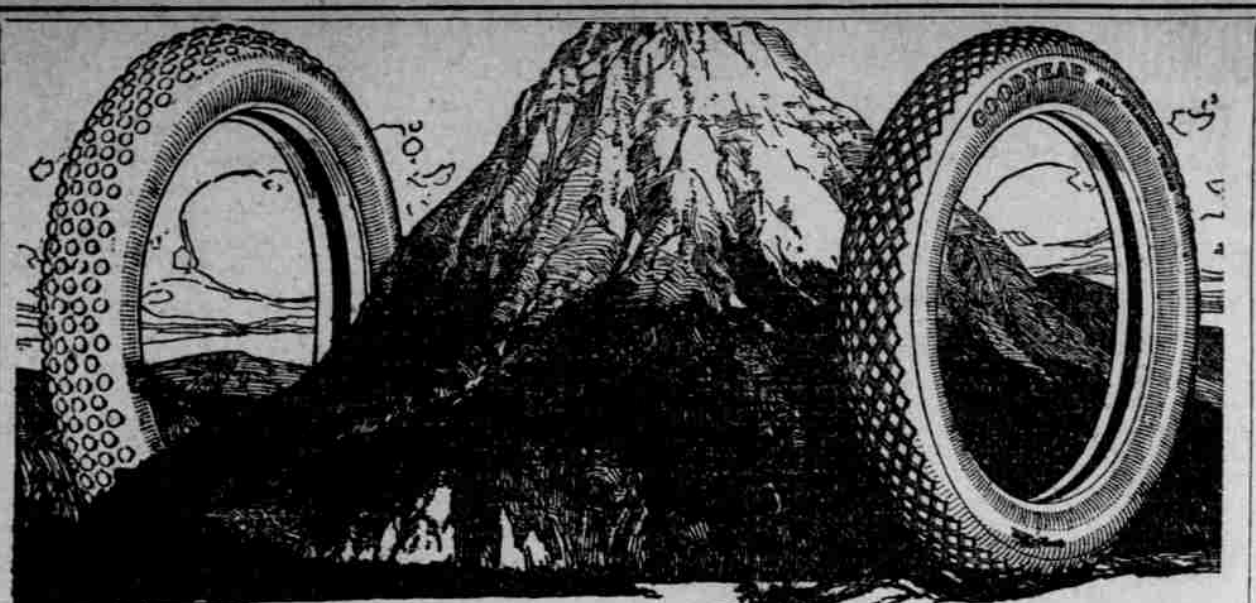

The Emanuel Hospital has been conducting its work in a private building at 303 Tenth street, but has been somewhat handicapped by the lack of desirable quarters, but the work has been satisfactorily carried on and the hospital has won a reputation for its efficient administration.

The programme at the cornerstone laying today consists of the laying of cornerstone by Rev. H. E. Sandstedt, vice-president of the Columbia conference; speeches by Rev. B. J. Thoren, of the Mission Covenant; A. Krause, of the German Lutheran Church; Rev. George Hendrickson, of the Norwegian Lutheran Church; and Rev. J. Allen Leas, of St. James English Lutheran, and P. W. Longren, David E. Loggren, secretary of the building committee and vice-president of the Emanuel Charity Board, will give a short historical sketch of the work of the institution. Vocal music will be furnished by Mrs. Olsen-Skams and Professor and Mrs. Edgren, of Seattle.

The Emanuel Charity Board is an organization existing under the Columbia conference of the Lutheran Church and the hospital work was instituted in Portland under the leadership and direction of Rev. Carl J. Renhard, who was manager and superintendent of the hospital until May 1 this year.

The building now under construction is the first unit of a series of buildings which will be constructed. The heating plant will be installed in a separate building, from which future buildings will be heated. The new building is of fireproof construction, the plans having been made by Tourtelotte & Hummel, architects, and the building is being erected by J. A. Backstrand, who formerly was a resident partner of the Pearson Construction Company.

Fairly Good Tires vs. Extra Good Tires

A Mountain Lies Between Them

These are the facts which we want to impress on you.

Any "fairly good" tire lacks at least five features found in Goodyears only. Either we control these features, or we alone are willing to pay their extra cost.

You can't see that they are lacking, but you ought to know it. For they combat, in the best ways known, these six major troubles:

- Rim-Cutting
- Loose Treads
- Punctures
- Blowouts
- Insecurity
- Skidding

Cost $1,635,000

These features, plus other extras not commonly employed, cost us this year $1,635,000.

This year's improvements alone, in added rubber and added size, will cost us $500,000.

In addition to all these, it costs us $1,000,000 on this year's output to make our All-Weather tread double-thick. That is, over the cost of a regular tread made rough, like the usual anti-skid.

We pay that price over

"fairly good" tires to make Goodyears extra good.

The Cost to You

The yearly difference in upkeep should average from $50 to $100 per car. It differs with tire sizes. And mishap and misuse will affect it. But the average saving mounts into millions of dollars to the users of Goodyear tires.

That's why we pay the price.

Yet note how Goodyear prices have come down and down. This year's reduction will save Goodyear users some $5,000,000. And our three reductions in two years total 45 per cent.

Those are the reasons why Goodyears rule Tiredom. They have outsold any other tire for years. They are gaining new users this year faster than ever before in our history.

They are going to win you. They deserve to. And they are bound to hold you as a Goodyear user so long as you run a car. Let them show you their supremacy.

World's Championships Will Be Contested for Prizes Aggregating More Than $5000.

Ten world's championships for prizes aggregating more than $5000 will be featured in the big Stampede at the Clarke County Fair, which begins on Labor day, September 6, and runs the entire week. These contests are going to be for the real thing, and those holding honors at this time already have entered their names, with many others coming in.

Among those now signed up with Manager Watts are Beho Gray, the world's champion roper; Robert Leigh, who holds the record for the men's relay race; C. B. Irwin, in the steer roping contest; Floyd Irwin, trick roping contest; Prairie Rose, women's bucking horse contest; Jim Massie, steer bulldozging contest; John Spain, bucking horse contest; Ruth Parton, ladies' relay race; Jim Parsons, daily chariot race, and Jason Stanley, in the pony express race.

Many of these championships were won at Vancouver last year, and some who won here last year have lost since at the Cheyenne Roundup. In some of them there has been fierce rivalry between a number of contestants for years, the honors going first to one and then the others.

Little Ruth Parton, of Toppenhish, Wash., was a favorite with the crowd here last year, though she did not win.
