

REED COLLEGE WILL BE OPEN TOMORROW

Day Will Be Taken Up With Registering and Arranging Schedules.

FACULTY IS ASSEMBLED

Large Enrollment Expected—Dormitories Are Filled—Outdoor Welcome for Freshmen Is Planned.

Reed College will open its doors tomorrow for the first work of the school year. At 9 o'clock registration will commence and most of the students' time will be taken up in arranging their schedules and obtaining the faculty approval of the subjects they select. Regular classwork will not begin until Tuesday.

The enrollment Monday will be large. Many applications for entrance have been rejected because the college refuses to take in any more students than it can accommodate, or any who have not good records of scholarship. No definite figures can be obtained until the registration is complete, but it will in all probability be fully as large as last year, when the enrollment totaled 543 students.

Head College will offer several new courses this year. Professor Hudson Bridge Hastings, who has been away on a year's leave of absence to Harvard, will return and give instruction in new business courses. Commercial methods, banking and public finance will be added to the curriculum. Dr. Bertha S. Stuart, who has been obtained from the University of Oregon, will give the women of the college special courses in gymnastics and assist Mr. Botsford in the direction of the normal course in physical education.

Faculty Is Assembled.
Professor Jean Dupont, who has come to Reed from Colorado College, will, in addition to the regular courses in French, give new courses in elementary Spanish and Spanish literature. If enough students register for the subject he will also give instruction in Italian.

Dormitories Are Filled.
Saturday was a busy day about the college. Students who live in the dormitory were in the throes of moving. The dormitories will be filled, but at the beginning of the year, at least, they will not be uncomfortably crowded.

Saturday evening the old students gathered in a big reunion in the assembly hall. The affair was an informal affair with reminiscence gossip as the chief entertainment.

Work will begin in real earnest Tuesday. Immediately after President Foster delivers the first chapel address of the students will file out to the classrooms to start the first period of the first semester. Monday night an outdoor welcome for the freshmen will be held. There will be a campfire, sack races and other events.

JUDGE IS COMMENDED
Naval Lieutenant Pleased at Mr. Gantenbein's Words to Youth.
Lieutenant E. R. Smith, of the Naval Recruiting Station in Portland, has written to Circuit Judge Gantenbein commending his remarks about sending youthful offenders to the Navy. The letter says: "I note in the Oregonian this morning that in disposing of the case of Louis Edmundo, aged 17, that you informed this young man that the Navy was no dumping ground for boys of his stamp. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to note that some judges do not regard the Navy as a handy means of disposing of incorrigibles. We hope this will come when all judges will realize that the Navy Department is up in arms against the sentencing of incorrigibles to the Navy. There have been too many occasions of late when the department or its representatives acting under the department's instructions, have had to come down rather hard on several judges for this particular offense. Permit me to express my appreciation of your action in this matter."

"WATCH PARTY" ENDS TIES
Mrs. Asper Says She Found Happiness on Husband's Lap.
A New Year's watch party culminated in a divorce suit yesterday, when Mrs. Amy Pearl Asper filed suit for separation from Charles J. Asper, whom she married in Kansas in 1908.

Last New Year's, says Mrs. Asper, her husband went to the home of a friend in St. Johns to watch the old year out and the new year in. Mrs. Asper returned home late in the evening and found that her husband was not there. She went to the home of the "friend" whose name is not mentioned, and the divorce was filed.

DOG POUND TRANSFER DUE
Negotiations Opened With City by Humane Society.
Negotiations have been opened for the taking over by the Oregon Humane Society of the Portland dog pound, in accordance with a measure adopted by the voters last June. Officials of the society have written Mayor Albee asking him to have the Council consider the proposition and decide upon the terms of the transfer.

The measure adopted by the voters gives the Council the power to transfer the pound to the humane society on terms that the Council may deem proper. Mayor Albee will bring the proposition to a head within a short time.

NOTED VIOLINIST COMING HERE, ON SEPTEMBER 29

Recital Will Mark Early Opening of Steers & Coman Season in Portland This Year—Emmy Destinn Also Is to Appear.

Fritz Kreisler.

THE early opening of the Steers & Coman season this year, September 27, is the occasion of much pleasant comment among musical people. Everyone agrees that it would be the only time he could visit this permitted Kreisler, the world's greatest violinist, to pass Portland by this season, simply because September happens to be the only time he could visit this part of the world on his great tour. His coming recital is being hailed with delight for much has been said about the marvelous development of his genius during the past year as regards temperament and the emotional element.

A favorite prima donna of the Metropolitan will make her debut this season in Portland. Miss Emmy Destinn, whose delightful quality of voice has won such rapturous praise from Puccini, and brought her such acclaim in the music centers of the world, fortunately has been obtained for a song recital in the near future. It was for her that Puccini wrote his fascinating opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," and she is pronounced the only soprano who can do justice to the role of Madame Butterfly.

The memory of what was, in the opinion of many, the most enjoyable music ever heard in Portland, that of the Kreisler String quartet, will soon be transformed into a vital reality. For this most famous organization of its kind after an absence of 19 years, will revisit the Pacific Coast, Steers & Coman having a contract with them for one concert in this city.

Johanna Gadske, representing all that is heroic and uplifting in dramatic song and grand opera, will be heard in recital. The inspiration of her wonderful voice and personality is perhaps the climax of musical delight.

Rosenthal, placed above Padarewski and every other living pianist by many connoisseurs in music, who has also absent himself from our shores for eight years, will be heard here this winter, an announcement that is arousing great enthusiasm.

SCHOOL ROLLS NORMAL
REGISTRATION IS PRACTICALLY SAME AS LAST YEAR.
Rise in Number by Incorporation of St. Johns and Linnton Is Considered in Compilations.

Eliminating the thousand pupils that are enrolled in Portland schools this year as the result of the incorporation of St. Johns and Linnton within the city limits, registration in the Portland schools to date is practically what it was last year.

For the first three days of 1914 25,293 students presented themselves for enrollment in all the Portland schools, and for the first three days of 1915 26,874 applied for admission. This last figure, includes the St. Johns and the Linnton districts.

Another item that would indicate this year's registration as very little of an increase over that of last year is the fact that the smallpox scare in the Lentz schools kept most of the students away for the first week. Woodmere this time last year had but 124 pupils enrolled and Friday had 441. Arlets also suffered from the scare, as last year's enrollment to date was 542 and this year it is 605.

In the five high schools of Portland there are registered 4480 students, divided as follows: Franklin, 436; James John, 129; Jefferson, 1411; Lincoln, 1293; and Washington, 1220. This shows an increase of more than 500 over last year, exclusive of the James John High.

POLICE SEEKING PEDDLERS
Japanese With Alleged Smuggled Linen Declared Violator.
If a Japanese peddler comes to your door and asks you to buy some "genuine Irish linen," which he has smuggled into the country and therefore can sell cheap, don't take any chances—call the police. The "linen" is mercerized cambric, and the Japanese is peddling without a license.

License Collector Hutchison said yesterday that the peddlers are going the round and are taking. He has been trying to catch them, but has been unable so far. He says they carry their "linen" under their coats.

PORTLAND COUPLE ARE MAKING VAUDEVILLE DEBUT HERE.
From giving one's services gratis at entertainments and public gatherings to commercializing one's talents and getting paid for it is the big step Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scott have taken. Vaudeville has tempted them and they have listened to its call, backed by the honest admiration and interest of a legion of friends, who know of the talents of the two Scotts.

This afternoon they make their vaudeville debut in a sketch, with musical interpolations, written by Lyn U Dahl, who has a dozen popular successes in songs to his credit. The sketch is called "The Front," and Mr. and Mrs. Scott will be billed as "The Scotts."

"DOLLAR DAY" SPIRIT SPREADING RAPIDLY

September 23 Is Day Set Aside by Portland Merchants as Boon to Patrons.

SHOPPERS SHOW INTEREST

Each Store in Campaign Will Offer One or More Articles at Less Than Actual Value—Many Inquiries Are Made Daily.

The rolling dollar that financiers write about is coming home September 23 "Dollar day" in Portland retail stores. Some of the tales that could be told by the dollars that will rattle in the cash registers that day would be of mansions built in the big cities for the use of families of the mail order kings; some of them could reveal strange hiding places, and some of them could tell stories of activities that would be astonishing.

It appears to be a certain thing that the general story of dollar day is going to be a grand hallelujah among business men and shoppers.

Merchants Catch Spirit.
The merchants are getting the spirit of dollar day, and it may be predicted, according to Charles F. Berg, general chairman, that the general number of retail houses in the city will be among the participants.

Already a tremendous interest in dollar day is being manifested by the shopping people. Inquiries are coming to general headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce in unusual numbers.

Some inquirers want to know if it is really true that they can purchase goods for $1 that sell at all other times for a good deal more than that sum. One woman wanted to know if it was a lottery. Another wanted to inquire if she would be limited to one purchase amounting to $1.

Substantial Interest Indicated.
T. L. Adams, of Kennard & Adams, was asked if a customer could pick out anything in the store for $1. "It all indicates a substantial interest in dollar day," said Mr. Berg. "All of the questions might be answered with the statement that dollar day will be the biggest thing from the viewpoint of the shopper that Portland has ever seen. Every merchant who is participating will offer some special bargains, all of them worth more than $1, but sold for that day only at the unit price. It may be one article or a number of articles combined into one dollar bargain, but the value will be there."

Merchandising houses where the bargains are to be offered will be supplied with the red, white and blue Chamber of Commerce pennants that can be displayed inside or outside the store, but which they are in plain sight of the purchaser. Will understand that the store has not joined the Retail Merchants' Bureau campaign.

OREGON GETS $69,546.16
Proceeds of Timber Sales in National Forests Are Divided.
More than $500,000 is available for the use of states as a result of the sale of timber in National forests during the past fiscal year, that ended June 30. This figure represents 55 per cent of the gross receipts of the National forests.

The money is divided among the states according to the amount of receipts that they have turned into the forest service from the sale of timber, water rights and special privileges. Montana, having contributed the largest amount of receipts, gets the biggest share of the earnings. Oregon will get $69,546.16. Of this amount $49,572.82 will be turned over to the state for county school and road purposes, and the remaining $19,973.34 will be used for building roads and trails for the benefit of local communities.

BROTHERS ON SAME JURY
Two Brothers From 1913 Legislature Also on Panel at Albany.
ALBANY, Or., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—Two brothers are serving on the same jury panel in the State Circuit Court here this term and another coincidence is that two men who represented Linn County in the Oregon Legislature at the session of 1913 are also on the jury.

Frank H. Porter, of Halsey, figures in both coincidences. His brother, W. D. Porter, of Sherida, is on the jury panel with Charles Childs, of Brownsville. Two other brothers were drawn on the same jury—J. P. Swank, of Albany, and J. P. Swank, of Tallman, but the latter was out of the county temporarily and could not be summoned.

MORNING SUN SUSPENDS
Former Reporters Levy Attachment for $200 Due for Services.
THE DALLES, Or., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—The Dalles Morning Sun, a daily newspaper, founded in October, 1914, was closed by a Sheriff's attachment today, served by two former employees of the reporter's department of the paper. The employees claim that something over $200 is due them for past services.

During its brief career the Morning Sun changed hands twice. It was backed during its existence by the members of the local Committee of One Hundred. The plant was closed today while it was in operation. The reporter's force was on the streets gathering news and returning to the office to find publication suspended indefinitely.
