CHICAGO, Sept. 11 .- Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, of Philadelphia, Western golf champion, today won the championship of America at Onwentsia by defeating Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of England, 3 and 2. The contest for the title today was not as strenuous as the semi-final ound Mrs. Vanderbeck won yesterday from Miss Alexa Stirling, Southern champion, but the Eastern champion played good golf, approximating a 92 against a probable 94 for the Briton. The international nature of the against a probable 94 for the Briton. The international nature of the struggle drew a large gallery. Mrs. Vanderbeck, who had twice broken the course record since the tournament began on Monday, did not give her supporters any cause for nervousness, except on the 14th hole, where she foozled a mashle stroke and barely escaped a pit. Mrs. Vanderbeck has been a favorite with many since she been a favorite with many since she led the qualifiers for the 6435-yard course.

Victor Is Favorite.

Victor Is Favorite. The champion became prime favorite yesterday after she won a 23-hole victory over Miss Stirling, of Atlanta, despite the fact that the Southern champion overhauled her at the 18th hole and had better chances on each of the four extra ones. The victor's golf was not so near par today, al-though she equaled perfect figures for women on 10 of the 16 holes played. Mrs. Gavib, the runner up, has not women on 10 of the 16 holes played. Mrs. Gavin, the runner up, has not at any lime during the meet played as good golf as her American opponent, hut she has been consistent. She quali-fied with 56, 11 strokes higher than Mrs. Vanderbeck. The big surprise fur-nished by the Briton was her defeat in the third round of Eleanor Allen, of Boston, who had eliminated Mrs. J. V. Hurd (Dorothy Campbell), of Pitta-burg, 4 and 2. She also furnished an upset in prognostications yesterday in defeating Ernestine Pearce.

Briton Is Outdriven

Briton is Outdriven, The play today was beneath cloudy skies and on rather slow greens. Drives were not very long, but Mrs. Vander-beck had the advantage of the long game almost every hole. The np-proaching was a triffe in favor of the Philadelphian giso, but the putting was about even, no spectacular holing shots rewarding the efforts of either slayer. The cards:

The announce-ment said that Howitt warmed up his horse, Oakland Maid, this morning and reported that it was in good condition to enter the 2:13 trot this afternoon, but before the race he left the grounds with the horse without notifying the judges and did not return. General Brightheart, owned by O. C. Koontz, of Baker, and also entered in the trot, became partially paralyzed 記智

The second of the interclub matchess between the Waverley Country Club and the Portland Golf Club will be played today over the new links of the latter organization, eight miles south of Portland. Last Sunday an eight-man team from Waverley finished 38 holes at Waverley with a margin of 108 strokes. It is hardly probable that the Waverley team will do as well over the Portland Club course, but Waverley should win by 40 or 50 points today, as the East Siders have twice as large a membership to choose from. For a young club the Portland Club has done wonders in its 18 months of existence.

"Crack putters miss most of their shots by the proverbial half-inch," ex-plains the ex-Seattle man. "Make the cup a little larger and golfers like Hil-ton would never miss a long putt." "Chick" Evans has been trying to win a National amateur since 1909 and he doesn't intend to stop until he wins one. At least that's what the Chicago boy told a newepaper man after Ned Sawyer eliminated him in the National tourney at Detroit. Three times aince 1909 Evans has been low medal man; four times he has been a semi-finalist, and once, back in 1912, he was runner-up to Jerry Travers.
